Head of New York Reserve Bank Concludes Defense of System Before Congressional Commission.

Washington, Aug. 12.—American producers may be forced to urge cancellation of interest charges on the allied government's debts to the United States, Governor Strong of the New York federal reserve bank told a joint congressional commission yesterday, in concluding a prolonged defense he has made before it of the reserve system's operations.

He expressed no direct opinion of the proposed cancellation, but declared that the economic structure of the country depended upon foreign marketing of surplus raw material, that extension of further credits to foreign buyers would not help and that foreign exchange quotations, which necessarily were influenced by German reparations payments, had further complicated the difficulties of American exporters.

"The international payment of a given sum in dollars to the United States cannot be used both to reduce debts and interest," he said, "and at the same time buy goods. Isn't it of the greater advantage to the United States that the purchasing power Europe is able to develop be used to consume surplus American goods, rather than to pay interest on debts? This is a question of policy for congress with which I have no connections or concern, but I am going to ask you to consider it in connection with the fact that our export market for the farming products is of the greatest importance."

Because of the cost of keeping a maid in Germany, more than half of the women of the upper class, who used to keep maids, now do their own work.

Footprints Only Clues Found In Murder Mystery

Page County Stirred Over Discovery of Body of Unidentified Man Near Clarinda; Foul Play Evident.

Shenandoah, Ia., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Footprints of a woman and a man are the only definite clues in a murder mystery that is stirring Page county following the finding of the unidentified body of a man yesterday afternoon in a corn field on the farm of Frank McKee, 10 miles south of Clarinda.

The coroner, county attorney and an undertaker took the body to Clarinda, where it was buried immediately, as it was in such a decomposed condition that it could not be held.

Evidently the man had met with foul play. A bullet hole was found in the upper part of the forehead. An automatic cartridge shell was found near the body.

Search at Fremont Fails to Apprehend Fort Crook Deserters

Fremont, Neb., Aug. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Two deserters from Fort Crook, reported to be surrounded by a posse of soldiers in a corn field near Fremont, are still at large. According to word from Omaha last night, the officials informed the local police that a guard escorting a prisoner to the guard house handed his rifle to a sentry and disappeared through the gate with his protegee.

It was believed that the fleeing deserters were headed toward Fremont and Sheriff W. C. Condit and a group of deputies went out in search of the soldiers. They were reported to have been seen in a local pool hall. One of the men was carrying a gun in his hip pocket.

The sheriff ran across two soldiers on the streets late yesterday evening with the hope of a capture, but it developed that the two men in khaki were lieutenants, also in search of the soldiers. Freight trains going west were thoroughly inspected by the night officers. Sheriff Condit announced today that he believed the deserters obtained passage going west with tourists.

A great deal of the new wheat is being marketed as rapidly as it can be hauled in.
