

Orpheum to Open Its Season With a Big Bill of Stars

SUNDAY, August 21, the Orpheum will open the season for Omaha. The policy of two shows daily will be continued and strict adherence to the Orpheum slogan, "The best in vaudeville," will obtain. From the following list of headliners registered for early appearance in Omaha, the vaudeville fan can get a pretty good idea of the treats he may anticipate this season: Thomas A. Wise and company; Kitty Doner and company; Gus Edwards; Revue; Ona Munson and company; Jean Adair and company; Tarzan; Lyons and Yocco; The Sharrocks; Felix Adler and Francis Ross; Carlyle Blackwell and company; Helen Keller; Pearl Regay and her band; Mary Haines; Santos and Hayes Revue; Fred Lindsay; Aileen Stanley; Nat Nazarro with Buck and Bubbles; Clark and Bergman; Julian Eltinge; Francis X. Bushman and Beverly; Bayne; "High Low Brow"; Wood and Wyde; Tom Patricia and Irene Delroy; Harry Conley and company; McKay and Ardine; Bronson and Baldwin; The Caninos; Grace Nelson; Sallie Fisher; Mehlinger and Meyers and other notables.

The initial show, with Blossom Seeley as the star, is a bill promising entertainment. Miss Seeley brings with her a trio of clever singers, and will appear with them in the amusing skit, "Miss Syncopation." Capable players appearing with her are Sam Miller and Harry Stover. Joe Browning, D. H.—Doctor of Hilarity—is to deliver what he calls a timely sermon. The other featured act is by Billy Arlington, appearing in an absurdity called "Mistakes Will Happen." He impersonates a grotesque hobo. He is to be effectively assisted by Elinore Arlington, C. I. Taylor and E. F. Hennessy. Betty Byron and William Haig offer a novel conception called "The Book of Vaudeville." On the stage is a large book, and contents of the book are illustrated cleverly with songs and dances and story telling. Having established herself as a comedienne in farce comedy, Mae Melville has returned to the vaudeville stage. With George Rule she is appearing in a potpourri of song, comedy and dancing. Kara, the European eccentric juggler, succeeds in getting a laugh out of each one of the difficult feats he performs. The opening bill is to be rounded out by the entertaining performance of Kitty Thomas, one of the most pleasing personalities ever to appear over the Orpheum circuit. For a screen feature the Pathe Weekly is to picture current events.

The stellar act of the new vaudeville show which opens at the Empress today, is to be presented by the Kerville Family, trick billiards, who perform all their stunts, using skates, bicycles, billiard balls and cues, in a sensational manner. A comedy creation entitled "Their First Rehearsal," is to be presented by Herman and Briscoe. Another comedy act is to be presented by Bruce and Andrus, under the caption of "Mary and Jerry." It is replete with funny situations, bright, witty lines, splendid song numbers and a general all-around atmosphere of mirth. A team of entertainers who are to offer a new and original act, are Dale and Boyle. A piano and original song numbers play an important part in their offering.

Lakeview Will Stage Mask Dance Party Thursday Night
The attraction for the current week at Lakeview park is scheduled for Thursday night, when the fun will revolve around a grand masque ball. While the evening will be devoted chiefly to those who appear in costume, it is not the intention of the management to bar others. Masks only will be sold at the park. Prizes will be distributed for the best comic, Indian, cowboy, cowgirl, tramp, Beau Brummel, Charley Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Clyde Cook and a score or more others.

War on Radicalism
From Lexington, Ky., comes the news that "war on communism, bolshevism, socialism and all forms of government that do not recognize the rights of property and the right of genius to its just rewards" has been declared by Dr. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, as part of the policy of the bureau of which he is the newly appointed head. A campaign for the furtherance of "visual education" through motion pictures also will be undertaken at once.

How Come Charlie Likes L'il Sweet Dimpled Girlies?

There is no doubt of it, Charles Ray prefers the petite type of actress in his pictures. "Sunshine Mary" Anderson, who has just finished her part in Ray's "Two Minutes to Go," is 4 feet, 11 inches, and weighs 103 pounds. Vera Stedman, who had the principal feminine role in Charlie's "Scrap Iron," is 5 feet, 2 inches, and weighs 118 pounds. Dorothy deVore, who played the role of Mary in the Ray photoplay version of "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," is just 5 feet, 2 inches and weighs 115 pounds. Anna May, who was seen with Mr. Ray in "Peaceful Valley," is 5 feet, 2-1/2 inches and weighs 103 pounds. Marjorie Provost and Laura La Plante, who had the chief feminine roles in "The Old Swimmin' Hole" with Charlie, also are of the "cozy armpit" type. Little Clara Horton, who only yesterday was a child actress with Eclair, is only 17 and won't be a great big girl for many years to come. Charlotte Pierce, who is now working with Mr. Ray in his latest picture, "Gas, Oil and Water," also is a "diminutive darling." Miss Pierce, wisecracks say, is headed for stardom. She will soon be seen in "The Barnstormer," a Ray production recently finished for First National release.

New Decorations For Muse Theater; Reopens Today

After having been closed for a period of four weeks, the Muse theater reopens today practically a new theater. Ever since the closing date a crew of men have been busily engaged in remodeling and redecorating. The interior of the theater is decorated in old rose, blue and gold, and set in the panels of the side walls are eight hand-painted stage scenes. Very elaborate silk stage drapes are an addition of note. The interior lobby, which was formerly covered with carpet, is now laid in a beautiful design of tile. The exterior lobby has been redecorated and arranged so as to set in two full length mirrors. One of the greatest improvements is the latest improved picture screen and also the last word in modern picture machines. Both of these combinations will give the Muse theater picture projection unequalled in any theater in the country.

Manager Prosser of the Muse theater held an informal opening yesterday. Heretofore the Muse theater gave matinees daily, but the policy, beginning with the reopening today, will be matinees on Saturday and Sunday only, with performances every evening. The opening attractions will be Norma Talmadge in "The Moth," today only; Monday and Tuesday, "What's Worth While"; Wednesday and Thursday, Wallace Reid in "The Love Special"; Friday and Saturday, Douglas McLean in "Home Stretch."

Well Equipped.
At a lad, Richard Dix, actor, says he aspired to be a mechanic, a soldier, an architect and an electrical engineer, and that he's glad he dabbled in all of these studies, because now he knows almost as much as a motion picture director.

"Raise Large Family," Says Frederick Warde, Actor

Frederick Warde, the famous actor, has just celebrated his golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Warde, after nearly half a century of "trouping" from town to town, had from state to state with leading theatrical productions, settled down to make their home in Los Angeles. He will divide his time between The Mission Play and Pictures. He is now playing Omar in Ferdinand Earle's screen production of "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," soon to be shown in Omaha. Four children and seven grandchildren are monuments to their extended term of domestic felicity, and scores of telegrams and letters of congratulation poured in from all parts of the world.

Tells How.
Mr. Ward tells here how to be happy and married, whether on stage screen or in the ordinary walks of life.

Put away your lovelomaking to other women when you take off your makeup at night. Remember your wife is your most ardent admirer. Don't be misled by violet scented love notes from "flappers." Raise a large family, for children form the tie that really binds. Forget there is such a thing as "temperament." Remember your wife's nerves may be just an unstrung from a day of cooking, sewing or dressmaking as are yours from a day of strenuous rehearsing. Don't let success swell your head, and make you think your wife is a back number. Variety may be the spice of life, but remember that many an excellent dish has been spoiled by being too spicy. Don't be an ardent swain on the stage and a caring husband at home. Keep your wife ever your sweetheart, and you will always be a lover in her eyes. Share your joys and sorrows alike with your wife. Make her feel she is really your life partner. Stage Romance. The Warde romance began in 1871 in Manchester, Eng., when Frederick Warde, as Romeo in Charles Calvert's production of the famous happiness and content as long as the wife and I have are Mr. and Mrs. William Crane. Billy and Mrs. Crane celebrated their golden wedding quietly at the Hollywood hotel in November. Mr. Warde made the day memorable by starting work as Omar Khayyam in "The Rubaiyat," which Ferdinand Earle is producing. As a compliment to Mrs. Warde, Camera-man George Benoit allowed her to turn the crank for the first foot of film.
