

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE

Scenes At Camp Gifford

Photos by Ernest Bihler

Omaha Boy Scouts in front of their camp, on the Missouri, seven miles south of Omaha. The mess hall and hospital, library and sleeping tents are shown in the background.

Class in Roping. Attorney John L. Barton, Omaha, is the instructor.

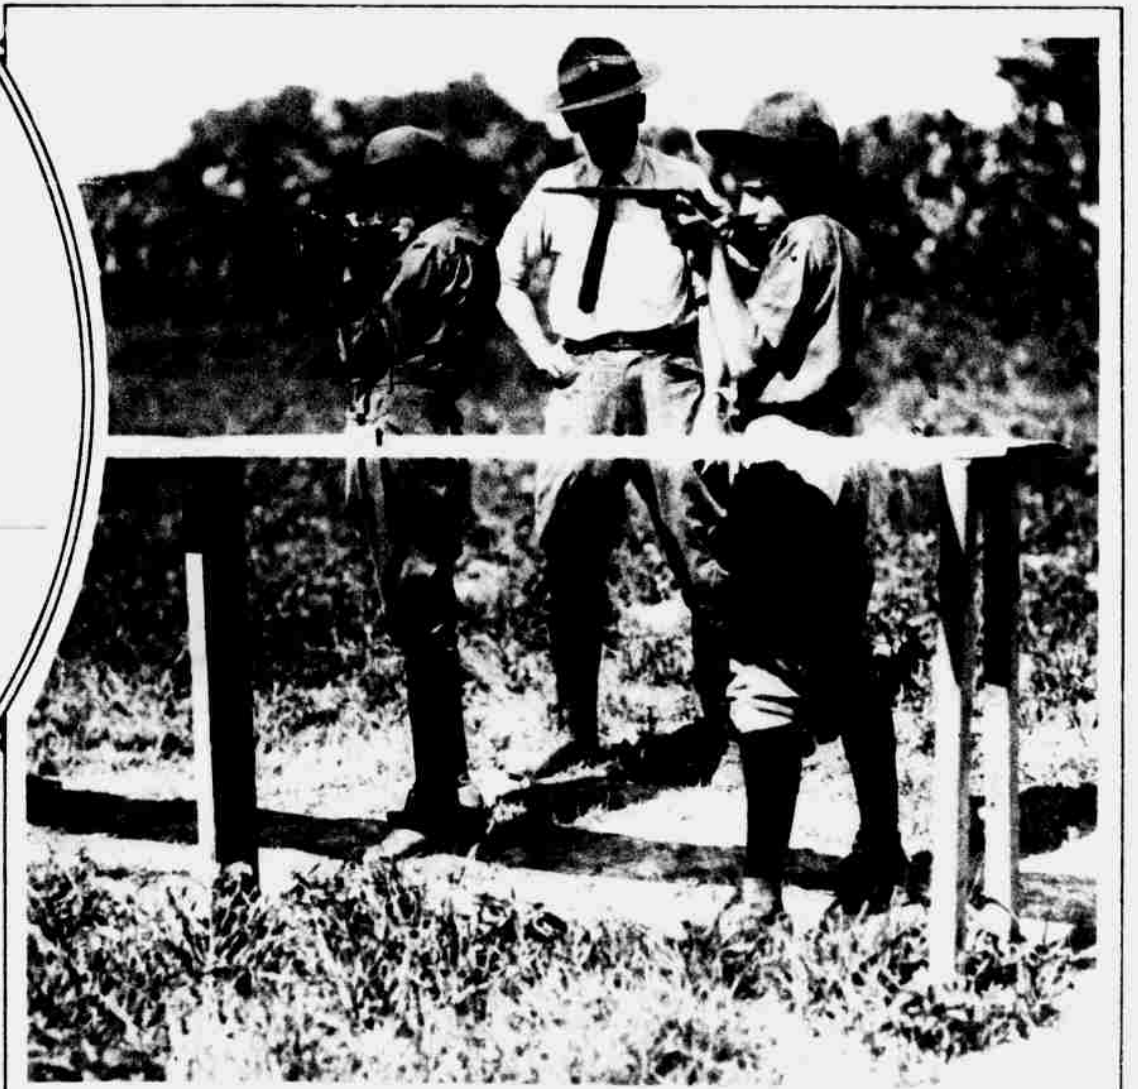

Edward Rosenthal mounting butterflies

Henry Storer, of troop 5 who has 48 honor emblems out of 61 available.

James Murphy of troop 31 is looking 'em over

Left to right Scout Eugene Trober, Scoutmaster H. M. Levings, and Scout Clifford Kinsley at target practice.

Pioneering Squad building a bridge without nails or ropes. The boys use only the material found in the woods

They're hungry. Kenyon Hughes and Benjamin Cowdery interviewing cook Jimmy Muldoon concerning food.

Lieut Mayer, Ft Crook, gives scouts instruction in horsemanship three times a week. The camp boasts four horses. The photo shows Jack Leermakers (left) and Frank Dale (right) aboard their mounts