

Prisoner Quits Jail to Get Pipe Full; Is Still Gone

Grand Island Man Wins Heart of Janitor and Gets Permission to Get Smokin's.

Leo Zawski likes his pipe of tobacco as well as the next man. And thereby hangs a tale. Leo came to South Omaha from Grand Island a few days ago to get unceremoniously and hilariously drunk. He did. When he was taken to police station he insisted on "lickin'" every policeman in sight, with the result that he received a black eye. Thursday morning the judge gave him five days "to let his eye get well" on a fine.

Missing Brother Is Sought by Chicagoan

Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Clint Lynn, Florence died May 16. Your wife is losing her mind. You have made a mistake; Clint, save her. This is the appeal which has been sent by Joseph Lynn of Chicago in an effort to find his missing brother, Clint Lynn, who disappeared last April, deserting his wife and children in Chicago, where they had just moved. The missing man is believed to be in South Dakota.

Lad Who Stole Grand Island Auto Returned for Trial

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Kenneth Coburn of Burlington, Ind., who, while in the city court time ago, stole a touring car standing in front of the Catholic church, has been returned to face trial in the district court. After stealing the car the lad drove to his home in Indiana. Coburn had also passed several worthless checks here and these the father at once made good when his son confessed. The young man agreed to come back to Nebraska from Indiana without requisition and has waived preliminary hearing, during which he admitted his guilt to the judge.

Woodmen Circle Members Visit Blair Chautauqua

Members of the Woodmen circle, W. A. Fraser Grove No. 1 chartered a bus to Blair Thursday to attend the Standard Chautauqua, playing a social engagement at that place. A picnic lunch was served for the members of the chautauqua company and their guests, the members of the circle. The members of the Woodmen circle were particularly interested in the work of Miss Charlotte Huntley, member of the chautauqua company, who is an Omaha girl, graduate of the Central High school and a former student in music at Lincoln.

Being Held Up Doesn't Excite This Little Lass

Rose Sutej.

The command to "Stick 'em up!" made by two bandits Thursday afternoon, struck no terror into the heart of 14-year-old Rose Sutej.

"Next time they come, I'll have a gun, too," she asserts. Rose was keeping shop for her brother-in-law, Nicholas Herbolich, 1906 South Eleventh street, when the holdup took place.

The bandits, who drove up in a Ford car, found only $6.25 in the cash drawer.

Socialist Woman Not Disturbed in Speech

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare has come to this city, made her address and gone. Only a small audience, of about 300, attended in an auditorium that would seat four times as many. No heckling took place. Those who are familiar with a conference held four or five days before her appearance here are congratulating the American Legion and the city over the better counsel that prevailed, namely, that Mrs. O'Hare was permitted to have her say unmolested. The speaker dwelt almost entirely on the subject of prison and prison reforms.

Norfolk News Makes Bid on Sioux Falls Daily Press

Sioux Falls, S. D., Aug. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Only two bids were received for the purchase of the plant of the Sioux Falls Daily Press at the sale held today under authority of the federal court. The Sioux City Tribune bid $20,000 and the Norfolk (Neb.) News, $18,000. It is stated, attorneys will recommend that neither of these bids be approved and that another sale be held and new bids invited.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE TREASURE VOYAGE

An expedition is being fitted up to explore Stevenson's Treasure Island.

No waves about me roar and rage, My cat purrs on the rug beside me, I calmly turn the printed page, Quite sure no shipwreck will betide me, And yet I sail through tropic seas, Where Treasure Island's hills are looming: I see the tempest toss the trees, I hear the giant breakers booming.

A safe and pleasant voyage is mine, Although with evil men I mingle, Though crime and peril oft combine, To set my landsman's blood a tingle, And yet upon those bloody sands, John Silver's threats shall not alarm me, I'll snap my thumbs at Israel Hands, The blackguard has not power to harm me.

The woods I'll thread from shore to shore, By Gunn's unearthly shrieks undaunted, The hidden valleys I'll explore, Which Flint's unsleeping soul has haunted, Secure shall every journey be, And midnight, when it strikes, shall find me, Again upon the rocking sea, With crimes and perils all behind me.

It may be with an empty hand— That still a penniless sea rover— I shall regain my native land, When my adventuring is over; But all the gold beneath the sun, The best of wealth can never measure, And when at last the tale is done, I know I shall have found the treasure!

THE LINE OF LEAST RESISTANCE. Prices have started up hill again, which is the direction in which they travel fastest.

MAKE A SURE JOB OF IT. Why not ask the delegates to the coming conference to attest their sincerity by bringing all their arms over here and junking them outside the three-mile limit?
