

Council Bluffs Society

Tea.
Miss Mary Ellen McLaughlin, who arrived Thursday from Sioux City, Ia., for a visit with Miss Elizabeth Douglas, was honored on Friday by her hostess with a beautiful tea at the Douglas home on South Eighth street.

A variety of late summer flowers made very attractive the rooms in which the 70 guests were received, and the dining room was especially artistic with a color scheme of green and white.

Assisting Miss Douglas were the Misses Jane Schoentgen, June Davis, Nancy Stillman, Helen Wilson, Dorothy Wilson, Winifred Cole, Pauline Duquette, Dorothea Leane, Margaret Augustine, Katherine Ellis, Mary Louise Tinley, Katherine McMillen and Betty Bonson of Du-Luque, Ia.

Bridge-Luncheons.
Mrs. W. E. Flynn entertained at two luncheons last week, both of which were given at the Country club cafe and followed by bridge. Covers were placed for 12 on Tuesday, and 22 guests were present on Wednesday.

Miss Matthews Here.
After a three weeks' trip to California, following a brief stay in Council Bluffs, Miss Laura Matthews has again returned to the city where she will visit friends until the latter part of the week.

In her honor a great deal of entertaining was done last week, and several other informal affairs have been planned for the next few days.

Today she and Miss Catherine Gavin, who is home on furlough from Red Cross work in Europe, will be guests of the Overseas Girls' club at their luncheon in Omaha which is to be preceded by swimming at Carter lake.

Miss Matthews plans to visit in Des Moines en route to New York from where she sails September 6th to resume her social service duties in Toulon, France.

Luncheon.
Miss Margaret Augustine invited 19 guests to the Country club for luncheon Saturday in honor of her house guest, Miss Bessie Stafford of Missouri Valley, Ia.

Golf.
So many of the women golfers were busy with their duties in connection with the Powwow held last week in Bayliss park that only a few of the players appeared on the links Wednesday morning.

Mrs. E. E. Evans was fortunate again this week in winning a prize and her mother, Mrs. Crawford, was the successful putter of the day.

Invitations Issued.
The Misses Nancy Stillman and Esther Pusey have issued invitations for a luncheon to be given Tuesday at the Stillman home on Willow avenue.

The affair was planned complimentary to Miss Betty Bonson, who is here from Dubuque, Ia., visiting her uncle, George S. Wright.

Bridge.
Mrs. Theodore Peterson and Mrs. F. L. Roehrer were hostesses at a bridge party given Thursday afternoon at the home of the former. Seven tables were set for the game and prizes were awarded Mrs. George Camp and Mrs. Covey of Los Angeles, Cal.

Luncheon.
A very cleverly planned luncheon was given Thursday by Miss Katharine Canell at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Meyers, on Park avenue.

The 30 guests were seated at small tables which had for their decorations baskets of marigolds combined with green and red candles, and were cunning little yellow baskets filled with nuts. As favors, little parrots made from peanuts were used.

For Miss McLaughlin.
Miss Jane Schoentgen has planned an Orpheum party Monday, complimentary to Miss Mary Ellen McLaughlin, house guest of Miss Elizabeth Douglas.

Entrant at DePauw

DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind., will have this year, two and possibly three Council Bluffs girls, all of whom were classmates in the grades, and finished the local high school in June.

Miss Katharine McMillen will leave for DePauw with Miss Helena Mitchell on September 11. Miss Elizabeth Brington, who has been planning to attend, is visiting relatives in Portland, Ore., and may be persuaded by them to enter a western college.

Capitalizing Assets

By LORETTO C. LYNCH.
"You have had those curtains 20 years?"
"Yes," smiled the proud housewife, "and they look like new because I let only one woman launder them. I'm taking them to her tomorrow for the annual tubbing before I store them for the summer."
The laundress' cottage contained four rooms. The water had to be carried. There was no electricity and no gas. Wood was burned in the old-fashioned range.

An accident had deprived Mrs. Kemp of one eye and one hand. Did she sit down and weep? Not a bit of it. She capitalized the physical assets that remained as well as her talent for washing and ironing. She figured that the average family washing took all day and netted about $3. And so she specialized on laundry work which was difficult to do, but yielded big returns.

Curtains, fine linens, shirtwaists of real lace, collar and cuff sets, bridal trousseaus, babies' layettes—these were the things Mrs. Kemp had in at that time.

For mending she charged extra. Many customers sent their work to her by parcel post. One woman, she told us, sent her dainty things on a five-day journey to her.

She told me that when she realized her handicap she decided to try to do one ordinary thing better than anybody else. Doesn't seem to be a bad idea for anyone to have in mind. So many, with every modern convenience to bless them, slide over laundry work.

Yet with the many helps in the way of soap and dirt chasers, with every labor-saving device within reach of the average housewife, whatever laundry work we do, we ought to try to do well.

Man Is Dictator to Fashion

At last Dame Fashion has met her Waterloo. And the conqueror is mere man. For in spite of the dame's predictions that black was to reign supreme this summer in lady's costume, the stronger sex—for such it has proven itself in this instance—has ordained otherwise.

And it all came about because too many men were seeing their wives gowned as they will be at the time when they—the men—are no longer. As one man remarked, "It's had enough to see your wife going around in mourning—but when she acts so jolly about it—why, it makes one feel that he is no longer needed in this world."

Which brings up the old question, "Does woman dress to please men or other women?"

We believe we have it answered, for manufacturers have announced that blue is to take the place of black. Canton crepe is still popular, they say, but it has a close following in georgette crepe. Very narrow ribbons of the same coloring will be used as trimming for the blue frocks, the ribbon being applied in artistic scrolls or applied like braid.

Raisins are excellent to sweeten rice pudding.

men in the party, with exception of Mr. Waller preceded their families home.

Mrs. George Williamson and daughter, Eleanor, who have been in California since June, plan to leave there on Tuesday, and will be home the latter part of the week. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Pettibone, mother of Mrs. Williamson, who spent the past year on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. deGoicoeurea left Saturday for Santa Barbara, Cal., after a stay of a couple of months in Council Bluffs. Mrs. deGoicoeurea had been ill and during a recent visit of her sisters, Dr. Mary and Miss Aurelia Tinley to California, was persuaded to come here with her husband to recuperate.

Mrs. Garland Rounds and her daughter, Peggy, are in Des Moines, Ia., where they will remain until after the marriage of Miss Virginia Stubbs, a sister of Mrs. Rounds, who on Saturday, September 3, is to wed James Wallace, son of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The wedding will be solemnized in the afternoon and Mrs. Rounds will be matron of honor. Little Peggy is to be the flower girl.

W. A. Maurer who has a summer home at Lake Okoboji is expected home next Thursday. During his stay there he entertained a great many Council Bluffs people, some of whom went up for week-ends and others who remained for several weeks.

Mrs. M. A. Tinley, daughter, Winifred, and son, Robert, returned Tuesday from Des Moines, Ia. Her husband did not arrive until Wednesday which was the closing day for the encampment of the Iowa National guard of which he is brigadier general.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank T. Seybert and their daughters, Rose and Claire, arrived home Tuesday from a four weeks' motor trip in northern Minnesota. Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Annis, who were also in the party, came home several days earlier.

I Extract Teeth Without Pain

Money back if I hurt you

Don't let those old roots and decayed teeth remain in your mouth another day to ruin your health and personal appearance. Dentistry is not the painful ordeal that it was years ago.

You'll go out of my office with a smile

I specialize on nervous patients and those having very sensitive teeth. I have every appliance and convenience for doing painless work, and when I say painless, I mean exactly what I say. I do not belong to any so-called Dental company and I do not employ assistants. All my work is done by me personally and I do not allow work to leave my office that is not entirely satisfactory to the patient.

Poor Dental Work is expensive at any price. Poor dentistry causes more trouble than no dentistry at all. Do you know that 95 per cent of all dental work done is imperfect?

Why
First and most common reason is: Incompetent dentists.
Second: Poor materials.
Third: Prices so cheap that work has to be rushed and cannot be done satisfactorily.

Trust yourself to an operator who is responsible. It is not the flashy case that makes a good watch, but the works inside: so it is with dentistry, and it is always best to investigate thoroughly before having work done, then patronize a dentist who will give you what you expect—the best at a reasonable price.

I am a specialist on crown and bridge work, having spent years in the study of this most technical branch of dental surgery. No matter how bad your teeth are, I can treat you painlessly and can assure you of a complete plate or bridge that will feel and look like your own teeth. I do not boast of quantity, but I do take pride in the quality of my work.

Poor dentistry means aching and sensitive teeth, sore gums and unsanitary mouths, then after work is completed, the patient finds he is money out, teeth ruined and the work has to be done over at a double price.

A few points to remember:
Honest treatment, clean office, personal attention, good materials, honest prices, satisfaction and painless. Write about your tooth troubles.

Dinner-Dance.
Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Woodbury entertained at a dinner of 18 covers Tuesday at the Country club and the guests later attended the semi-weekly dance.

That same evening Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macrae III had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Harry Menold and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Maurer.

Other reservations were made by E. W. Hart, W. E. McConnell and W. E. Tyson.

Owing to the festivities in connection with the carnival in Bayliss park the latter part of the week, only a few people dined at the club Friday, which is usually the more popular of the two evenings.

Bridge.
A bridge party will be given Tuesday by Mrs. John Mulqueen at her home on Bluff street.

Overseas Bridge Party.
Mrs. Romie Risser of Council Bluffs was third high at the overseas bridge party at the home of Mrs. A. L. Reed in Omaha Friday afternoon. She won the taxicab coupon book as her prize.

Attending the party from Council Bluffs were Mesdames Risser, Thomas Green, Byrd Craig, Misses Laura Matthews, Agnes and Ruth Wickham.
