Faints From Hunger Mailing Card to Mother

Ralph Ragan.

With hunger gnawing at his stomach, and a postcard to his mother in his hand, Ralph Ragan, Joplin, Mo., youth, fainted on the postoffice steps yesterday morning and was taken to Central police station.

He told police he had had nothing to eat for three days. He said he came here from Salt Lake City. The postal card, which was in his hand, read: "Dear Mother: I will drop you a card to let you know where I am. Well, mamma, I am in Omaha. I left Salt Lake City about a week ago. I ain't had anything to eat since I left Laramie. I sure am hungry. Well, mamma, I am going to try to be home by Wednesday, but if I can get a job here, I will stay here."
