

No Trace Is Found Of Robbers of Overland Limited

Holdups Believed to Be Ex-Railroad Men Due to Familiarity With Trains and Their Operation.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 1.—Various theories developed by a score of policemen and sheriffs' deputies, including railroad special agents, had failed to give even one definite clue to the two armed and masked bandits, who Wednesday afternoon, held up the passengers of three coaches on the Los Angeles Limited of the Union Pacific between Ogden and this city.

The 11th theory, and one which the police hope will assist them, is that the two men after jumping from the train as it entered the yards here, boarded a northbound Banninger train and returned to Ogden.

Familiar With Road. They showed an unusual familiarity with railroad work in this section and it is the theory of some officers that they knew to the minute the arrival of the train they robbed and the departure of the northbound electric train.

One of the passengers aboard the train was an official of the railroad conductors' union. After taking his money, about $350, they returned him $4, figuring that was about what they had taken from him. Many of the passengers saved their money by hiding it between the seat and cushion, while others lost everything they had. No money was taken from women and no jewelry was disturbed, principally, it appears, because none of value was displayed.

Woman Saved Jewels. One woman placed her diamond rings in the mail box of the observation car when she heard that the train was being robbed, obtaining them when the train pulled into the depot.

During the time the men were holding up the passengers they conversed freely, sometimes using oaths and at other times joking about their exploit. They said to a railroad man, using the argot that only trainmen and switchmen know and understand, and this has led to the theory that the men at some time worked with the railroads.

Deaths by Automobiles Increase in New York

Chicago Tribune—Omaha Bee Special Wire. New York, Sept. 1.—According to the report of the National Highway protective society, 1,072 persons were killed by automobiles in the state of New York since January 1. This is an increase of nearly 33-1/3 per cent over 1920, when 808 persons were killed.

Col. Edward S. Cornell, secretary, said that motor trucks are becoming more and more a menace and collisions due to them are continually on the increase.

During the past month, 217 persons were killed by automobiles in the state, 79 of them in greater New York. Wagons caused the death of two persons and surface cars a similar number.

Eleven occupants of automobiles were killed at railroad crossings during August.

President's Aunt Amazes Friends; Votes Democratic

Galion, O., Sept. 1.—Local election officials and voters in a booth here were amazed when Mrs. Ellen Harding Dickerson, aunt of President Harding, voted a democratic ticket at the recent primary election.

Mrs. Dickerson grew up with the president in the same neighborhood. The astonishment was all the more marked because Mrs. Dickerson was a member of the Harding-Coolidge club last fall and has always been a pronounced republican.

She gave no reason for her political change.

Mrs. Dickerson went to Washington to witness her nephew's inauguration, accompanied by two of his aged uncles.

Don't Plan Marriage

New York, Sept. 1.—Elsie Janis, the actress, came back to America today from France, bringing with her her mother and no husband.

"My plans do not include matrimony," she said as she stepped down the Olympic gangplank. "As for Frank J. Gould and I getting married, I've never even thought of it." Miss Janis, besides announcing that she was going to re-join her gang for a new show in this country, wanted to know:

"Why do my friends want to keep marrying me off? Don't they know I'm getting too o-o-?" She said England was so dry that the fish around her houseboat came out and drank out of her hand.

moment's notice. Thirteen airplanes were en route from Langley field, Va., to make a survey of the whole region. A proclamation declaring martial law in the counties of Fayette, Kanawha, Logan, Boone and Mingo was drawn up and signed ready for promulgation.

"I will wait for the report from General Bandholtz before making a move," Secretary Weeks announced at noon.

As the expiration of time limit fixed by the president approached, communications from West Virginia officials and citizens poured into the War department and White House, all of the messages asserting that the armed bands were disposed to disregard the call to disperse and calling in urgent language for the employment of federal troops.

Ignore Proclamation. Representative Echols wired from Charleston that the president's proclamation was being "contemptuously ignored."

A third regiment of infantry was today ordered by Secretary Weeks to be gotten in readiness at Camp Dix, N. J., for possible service in West Virginia. This will be the second regiment to leave camp from Camp Dix in case the troops are put in motion and a third will go from Camp Sherman, O.

Rioting Renewed Today in Belfast; Soldiers Active

Troops Rushed to Grove Street Section, But Rioters Disappear—16 Killed as Result of Disorders.

Belfast, Sept. 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—Soldiers were rushed to the Grove street section of Belfast this morning when several shots were fired in that district. When the troops arrived, however, the gunmen had vanished. This was the first recurrence of the street fighting since yesterday, when six persons were killed and 30 were injured, many seriously.

To date the death toll totals 16. Troops are patrolling Springfield road, in the area which causes the authorities some concern, as it is part of the Falls division, where the fiercest riots of the past year occurred.

The origin of the trouble here was an attack on Mackie's foundry workers, the police driving off their assailants with rifle fire.

The carters and motormen issued an ultimatum to the authorities today declaring they would withdraw entirely from the streets unless afforded protection. The tram car drivers also are affected by the decision.

Two members of the drivers' union were killed in the rioting of the last few days and several were wounded.

Two More Lincoln Fugitives Captured

coln police force of seven men as could be spared were scouring the country near Waverly.

Prisoners Brought Here. Handcuffed together, in the custody of B. G. Hancock, special agent of the Department of Justice, McLaughlin and Cusick arrived in Omaha at 7:45 last night. The men were put into a waiting taxicab and whisked to the county jail, where they will be held pending their trial on federal charges in the United States district court.

Hancock went to Lincoln from Omaha yesterday afternoon before the men were captured to make an investigation in connection with their escape from the county jail. Shortly after their arrival there the men were apprehended and turned over to him. He boarded the first train for Omaha with his prisoners. After their capture a warrant was sworn out by Cliff Matts, county attorney for Lancaster county, charging the men with jail-breaking.

Mr. Hancock said, conviction on the charge means a prison sentence of from one to 10 years.

Must Face Federal Court. McLaughlin and Cusick must first face trial in federal court on a charge of stealing autos and transferring them from one state to another in violation of federal law.

They will receive their sentence under the Nebraska law after release from the federal prison at Leavenworth if they are convicted on the government charge.

Omaha Sleuths Foiled. These two men, with seven other prisoners in the Lancaster county jail, escaped at 6 Wednesday night by cutting bars of the cell house and prying blocks out of the delapidated county jail. Three were caught shortly after the escape. With the capture today, there are four still at large.

Hot Under Collar. A department of justice agents were "a little hot under the collar," over the score of Harold McLaughlin's escape from the Lincoln jail, last night.

"Half a dozen prosecutions hinge on McLaughlin, chief among them that of Foot and a Half Butler," said one of the men.

"We worked for a solid month and traveled hundreds of miles by auto to get that bird," spoke up another.

The federal men believed McLaughlin was well out of the state until they heard of his capture.

United States Won't Scrap Army and Navy

(Turn to Page Two, Column Two.)

I believe with all my heart we are coming to a time when we are going to diminish the burdens of armament. I think there will be less of armies and less of navies. I wish it with all my heart, but there never can come a time when there is not a requisite agency for the maintenance of law and order and for national defense.

"It is perfectly futile to think there may never be conflict when you stop to consider that in 2,000 years of Christian civilization and 4,000 years of pagan civilization, concerning which we are informed, we have only lately come to a real civilized state of armed warfare and that does not apply to quite all nations of the world. It has been a slow proceeding and I believe we of America, without unseemly boasting, can say we have come the nearest the unselfish, conscientious warfare of any people in the world, and I pledge you now, you will never be called to service during the present administration for any war that you could not enter with all your hearts and souls as American citizens."

Two Big Essentials. "Now that may seem to be a strange statement to make, but I want you officers of the army to precede your activities in the defense of our national life with that insistent understanding among people that we must put forth as wide as possible a range for conflict."

"I am a firm believer that there are two essentials to the civilization to which we all subscribe. One is the understanding among men at home, without unseemly boasting, as in West Virginia at this hour. That is lack of understanding. There should never be a conflict between civilized nations and there never will be if there are men in power who will insist on a full understanding first."

"I do not know how you will approve, but I want you, for the time being, to be the advisers of an administration that seeks for American fullness of understanding with the people of the world, and if we have that, there will never come a time when we will be drawn into conflict that all America can not answer with the fullness of the heart and the depth of the soul."

"Gentlemen, I wish you well in the year of study before you, and I know I can say with all my heart that with the aid of knowledge of the larger aspirations which will come to this association and study, you will contribute in proportion to the intelligence, the power and the glory of the army, which is one branch of American reliance for national defense."

Public Memorial Service Held in Hull for RZ-2 Men

American and British Representatives Participate in Demonstration to Honor Wreck Victims

Hull, Eng., Sept. 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—The people of Hull, where the tragedy of the dirigible RZ-2, which was wrecked here last week, participated today in a mammoth memorial service to the victims of the stricken airship.

Proceeding the service at the Holy Trinity church there was a procession from Guild Hall, in which marched the lord mayor, the sheriff and other city officials, United States Consul Gray was the chief mourner for the American dead.

In the procession were representatives of all local civic bodies, local units of the British army and navy, Commander Byrd with officers and men of the United States navy at Hull, two officers and six men of the American air service detachment at the Howard airmen, Vice Air Marshal Vyvyan of the royal air force and representatives of the Y. M. C. A., headed by George D. Whitehead, senior secretary of the American Y. M. C. A. in England.

Notwithstanding a drizzling rain, thousands of spectators lined the route of the procession. The municipal officials wore the full insignia of office over the quaint costumes prescribed by ancient customs, the aldermen in scarlet and the councillors in blue. The mace bearer and town clerk preceded the lord mayor, who, in resplendent regalia and gold chain, led the procession.

Tears Off Badge. Mr. Engle insisted that his position was right and that the fair association would stand back of its demand that they remove themselves and the Red Cross property from the grounds.

At this point, her eyes flaming, Mrs. Bousfield, who has served for years as superintendent of the do-estic service division of the county fair, tore her badge from her dress, and threw it at Mr. Engle's feet. She had served the fair faithfully for years, and without pay, she told them, her voice choking, but never again would she do anything for the Nemaha County Fair association.

Second Resignation. Mrs. J. C. Bolin, another assistant superintendent at the fair, and member of the local Red Cross chapter, also resigned when she learned of the treatment accorded the two nurses.

Mr. Engle remained obdurate. He insisted on placing his order to the nurses in the form of a motion, which was submitted to the board, and carried by a vote of 3 to 2. Secretary Ernst and Ed Ely voting in the negative.

Mr. Ely protested that Mr. Engle's position was all wrong. Secretary Ernst stated that the fair association, through its officers, should make an apology to the nurses.

To Demand Apology. Miss Coulton and Miss Mitchell both have notified the Chicago headquarters. Both women immediately left the fair grounds. They say they will demand a personal apology from Mr. Engle and Mr. Reed and also the resignation of both men from the fair board.

Within an hour, automobiles and trucks had removed all Red Cross property from the grounds. Women stood about on the verge of tears as Red Cross flags were hauled down.

Engle later denied he had ordered the entire Red Cross organization to leave, but meant only the nurses.

Equipment Removed. All equipment was removed from the booth of the county Red Cross home nursing service, recently established, as well as from the central booths.

American Legion officials and citizens of the town assailed the two nurses and the Red Cross organization that they had no part in sympathy or in action in the course taken by the three fair board officials.

While the women were attending to Durand's injuries, a 10-reel film depicting the work of the Red Cross overseas was being thrown on a screen in front of the grandstand.

Ninety thousand, or approximately 5 per cent of the 2,000,000 employees of the railroads in the United States, are women.

and the surgeon present had not insisted on his removal.

Miss Mitchell stated in her defense that she, too, had rendered such aid as humanity dictated and had worked hard with the patient for more than two hours, rendering every assistance within her power. She had worked hard all day in the better baby judging contest and was worn out. She did not feel equal to the task of remaining up with the patient all night, she said.

Pastor-Promoter Again Held on Fraud Charges

Former Omaha Minister Will Be Taken From New York to Milwaukee to Stand Trial.

Robert L. Jenkinson, preacher-promoter who had several disastrous flyers in promotion in and about Omaha in co-operative rooming houses and oil shale stock, will be taken from New York to Milwaukee next week to face charges which allege he swindled several persons out of $9,800, according to information given out by the Pipkin Detective agency.

Officials of the agency say Jenkinson has been in jail in New York since May 15, awaiting action of Milwaukee police. An attorney, who represented the young pastor a year ago, when he was arrested in Denver, passed through Omaha recently on his way to Milwaukee to learn something of the youthful promoter's affairs.

Mrs. Jenkinson, formerly Miss Martha Peterson, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Peterson, 4712 North Fortieth street. Jenkinson was formerly pastor of a church in Minne Lusa addition.
