Allies Expected to Concede American Claims in Dispute Over Territories Ceded By Germany.

Note Outlines Demands

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING, Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leasing Writer. Washington, Sept. 6.—There is now every reason for confidence that Secretary of State Hughes is destined to win all that he has contended for in the dispute with the allies over the disposition of the territories ceded by Germany and the allies to the principal victors of the World war.

The justice of Mr. Hughes' contention for the America, by virtue of its contribution to the victory, possesses an undeniable fifth interest in the former German colonies...

When Mr. Hughes took the matter in hand, however, the allies changed their attitude. He demonstrated that the allies, in ignoring the United States, were violating a provision of the Versailles treaty...

Thereupon the allies asked the United States to state what changes it desired in the drafts of the A-mandates for Mesopotamia and other former Turkish territories...

The note dispatched by Mr. Hughes to the allies last week sets forth in detail the changes the United States desires made in the provisions of the A and B mandates...

Irish Situation Is Discussed With British Cabinet

London, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Lloyd George today held conversations with members of his cabinet and civil and military authorities in Ireland relative to the situation which has arisen as a result of the latest note to the British government from De Valera, the Irish republican leader. The prime minister met his colleagues in Inverness, near Garloch, Scotland, where Mr. Lloyd George has been spending a brief vacation. The cabinet convenes tomorrow at Inverness. Although London newspapers continued today to counsel patience and forbearance in dealing with the Irish question, there were certain indications that the Irish controversy had virtually reached a crisis and that tomorrow's meeting of the British ministry might prove historic. There were many who believed that Mr. De Valera and his colleagues at Dublin would be given a certain limited time in which they could either accept or reject the British government's offer of dominion status for Ireland as a basis for a settlement of the ancient controversy. A party of American tourists has sent, anonymously, to the premier and the cabinet a box of cigars. Accompanying the cigars was a note of personal esteem and of appreciation of Prime Minister Lloyd George's efforts to "settle the age-long Irish problem." Hope was expressed that "Ireland and Great Britain might soon smoke together the pipe of peace."
