

Boys' Camp One Of Show Places At State Fair

Two Youths From Each County Attend; Farm Subjects Explained; Boys Usher At Grandstand.

Lincoln, Sept. 8.—(Special).—The boys' camp at the state fair is one of the interesting places connected with the Progressive fair. Two boys represent each county. Only 63 counties sent boys to the 1921 camp.

V. E. Shirley of Nelson is superintendent of the camp and is assisted by Harvey Smith, camp director; E. L. Mast, educational director, and C. B. Anderson, physical director. The camp is divided into 12 groups, with a boy in charge of each group. Those selected this year are Paul Crocker, Filley; Clyde Sherman, Bethany; Henry Harman, Bethany; Fred Weigman, Hastings; Alvin Mayford, Fairbury; James Adams, Marquette; Richard Epp, Fairbury; Mark Lincoln, Filley; Paul Cook, Waverly; M. C. Bloss, Falls City; Tudor Gardner, Waco; Roy Smith, Blue Springs.

Fed on Grounds.

The boys are fed on the grounds. A regular kitchen and cooking house is furnished for the use of the boys. Dr. Ralph Shorey of Omaha is the cook.

In the forenoon the time is given over to study. The subjects being of a farm nature, live stock, animal husbandry, crops and the like. Lecturers from the state agricultural farm talk to the boys as a general thing and some of the best known farm experts direct the boys.

Of the 123 boys in attendance this year, the ages run as follows: One of 13 years; 2 of 14, 35 of 15, 40 of 16, 27 of 17, 10 of 18, 3 of 19 and 4 of 20 years. The expense of the boys coming to camp is borne by the state fair, but the boys pay an entrance fee of $7.50. Forty-nine of the boys come from the towns and 74 from the country. The boys are stationed at the amphitheater as ushers.

Boys at Camp.

Following the boys in attendance this year:

Adams, William Swale, Hastings; Leo Pigeon, Hastings.
Arthur, Lynn Connis, Lowell; Vernon Rock, Valmeyer.
Barnes, Paul Shatto, Harrisburg; Clark Miller, Power.
Boone, Lee Haven, Loreto; Chalmers Smith, Albion.
Box, Herbert, Durbin, Alliance.
Boyd, Wayne, Davis, Butler; Ogden Stier, Butler.
Buffalo, Carl, Omaha, Ravenna; Lyman Case, Ravenna.
Butler, Gerald, Valder, Tekamah; Fayle Valder, Tekamah; Ward Nelson, Oakland.
Butler, Lynn, Lincoln; David City; Merle Hayhurst, Rising Sun.
Chase, Thornton, Miller, Lamar; Fred Dick, Jr., Waverly.
Cherry, V. J., Newport, Valentine; Edward Ballard, Wood Lake.
Clement, Kretz, Sidney.
Clay, Earl, Hastings; Fairfield, Wayne McGuff, Harvard.
Coffey, Ernest, DeBorja, Schuyler; Alfred Kramer, Schuyler.
Cunning, Ralph, Hall, Pender.
Custer, Nathan, Schuyler; Gale, Lloyd, Footman, Callaway.
Dawson, Richard, Schmechel, John, Hawk, Dawson.
Dawson, Herman, Bartels, Lehigh.
Dixon, Vincent, Johnson, Wakefield; Edmund McCluskey, Newcastle.
Dodds, Clarence, Eggers, Hooper; William Lamb, Fremont.
Dundy, Edw. Woods, Benkelman; William Manning, Fremont.
Fillmore, Leslie, Stewart, Geneva; Mylo Stych, Milligan.
Franklin, Willie, Sothenmann, Franklin; Louis Douglas, Bloomington.
Frontier, Earl, Elmore, Moorfield.
John, Kenneth, Stockville.
Furness, Clark, Fairbury; Beaver City.
Frank, Herkahan, Handley.
Gage, Earl, Putnam, Beatrice; Clarence W. Anderson, Lincoln.
Grealey, George, Milne, Greeley; Harry Fisher, Grealey.
Hall, Lyle, Rainforth, Doniphan; Stacy Alford, Cairo.
Hamilton, Leslie, Lindahl, Hordeville; Raymond Otto, Aurora; Leonard Johnson, Harbison.
Few Counties Missing:
Hartan, William, Weber, Alma; Clyde Luth, Alma.
Holt, Harold, Briggs, Ewing; Elton Trawbridge, Page.
Jefferson, Wallace, Palmer, Steele City.
Arnold, Selk, Plymouth.
Johnson, James, Roosevelt, Tecumseh.
Kearney, Leroy, Christensen, Minden.
Furriel, Nelson, Hildreth.
Keith, John, Gris, Keystone; Walter Richards, Keystone.
Kovs, Fahn, Clarence, Booth, Quinston, Leavitt, Springview.
Kimball, Jesse, Stuart, Kimball; Wendell Kuntz, Kimball.
Knop, Vincent, Green, Ordway; Wilbur Stinson, Ordway.
Lincoln, Donald, Spencer, Wallace; John Kuntz, Wallace.
Loran, Walter, Omaha, Gandy; Harold Carr, Stapleton.
Loop, Lee, Corp, Taylor; Everett Bleach, Sargent.
Merrick, Carl, Jones, Central City; Glen Wyckoff, Central City.
Morrill, Clyde, Davis, Bridgeport; Robert McWilliams, Bridgeport.
Nemaha, George, Wright, Auburn; John Cox, Jr., Howe.
Nuckolls, Gordon, Mercer, Oak; Walter Lobb, Lawrence.
Pawnee, Ellis, Park, Pawnee City; Carson Purcell, Pawnee City.
Perkin, Glen, Griffith, Grant; Roy Berres, Grant.
Phelps, Robert, Scott, Bartrand; Glen Hannah, Holdrege.
Pierce, Edwin, Barrett, Platteville; Bruce Hill, Pierce.
Pitts, Robert, Lightner, Monroe.
Hegarty, R. Buss, Jr., Columbus.
Pohl, George, Inoué, Asclea; Raymond Pittman, Omaha.
Richardson, Ralph, Higgins, Stella; Alfie Ritchie, Stella.
Rock, Wesley, Jones, Newport; Roland Mooney, Newport.
Sarge, Joseph, Beat, Bellevue.
Saunders, Max, Wynmore, Swedenburg; Lee Brewer, Ithaca.
Scott, Bluffs, Lee, Scott, Bluffs; James Wickman, Merrill.
Seward, Marvin, Sully, Ute; Ernest Ahlswede, Milford.
Sheridan, George, Koehnke, Hay Springs; Walter Tait, Hay Springs.
Sherman, Roy, T. Harvel, Loop City; George E. Reed, Lincoln.
Sioux, John, Marshall, Harrison.
Stanton, Claude, Welch, Stanton; William Schubert, Stanton.
Thayer, Lowell, Schleferdecker, Belvidere; Frank Babba, Belvidere.
Thurston, Perry, Lepp, Winnebago; Lucius Dye, Rosalia.
Valley, Henry, Celik, Arcadia; Eugene Brown, North Loup.
Washington, Glen, Christensen, Washington; Eugene Jackson, Blair.
Warne, Chasney, Blair, Wakefield.
Webster, Ralph, White, Guide Rock; Lee Hunt, Red Cloud.
Wheeler, Earl, Rose, Spaulding; Harold Hueston, Erickson.
York, Clayton, Stager, McCool Junction; Lee Roth, McCool Junction.

Neal Mentioned as Manager

Of Fremont Grain Company

Fremont, Neb., Sept. 8.—(Special).—

Julius Barnes, prospective manager of the Nye-Schneider-Fowler Co., made a brief inspection of the local headquarters of the grain concern to become acquainted with the heads of the various departments. He was accompanied by Charles T. Neal, who was rumored here that Neal may be appointed acting head of the firm here under Mr. Barnes. President

E. H. Mitchell announced that nothing new had resulted from Mr. Barnes' trip to Fremont relative to the proposed change.

Bryan as He Looked In Omaha Wednesday

William Jennings Bryan as he looked when he stopped in Omaha Wednesday afternoon on his way to Lincoln. He is on a speaking tour through Nebraska and Kansas. The Commoner appeared to be in better health than on his last visit, nearly a year ago.

Corn Forecast For September Is Very Bullish

August Estimate Which Showed 91,000,000 Bushel Loss Revised Today Shows 154 Million Gain.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The corn crop, which suffered a loss of about 91,000,000 bushels in prospective production in July, made a gain of 154,000,000 bushels during August over the forecast last month, the indicated production from the September 1 condition of the crop being 3,186,000,000 bushels.

Production of the country's principal farm crops was given today by the Department of Agriculture in forecasts made up from a country-wide canvass on September 1, with preliminary estimates were made for some crops at time of harvest. These estimates compared with those made last month show the progress the crop made during August, or whether they deteriorated during the month, as they mostly did during July. The estimates of production (in millions of bushels except where noted) follow:

Near Last Year's Crop.

The 1921 corn crop for forecast is only 48,000,000 bushels less than the crop of last year, which broke all records and is 388,000,000 bushels above the five-year average. The improvement made during August was ascribed by the department to favorable temperatures and rains, which had been lacking through a good portion of the season.

The spring wheat prospects declined 3,000,000 bushels since the August forecast, due largely to heat and drought.

The oats crop on the basis of the figures announced today was a short one, 436,000,000 bushels less than last year, and 434,000,000 bushels below the five-year average.

Forecast of Month.

September, 1920

CROP. Forecast. Production.

Winter wheat (a).....1,186 578

Spring wheat.....2,119 218

All wheat.....3,305 797

Corn.....1,080 1,026

Oats.....107 282

Rye.....64 69

Barley.....12 15

Stockfeed.....112 112

Flax.....8 11

Tobacco.....1,000 1,000

Rice.....32 35

Wheat.....14 17

Hay, wild, tons (a).....14 17

Sugar beets, tons.....8 24

Apples.....707 244

Peaches.....33 42

Peas.....12 14

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Beans (a).....8 9

Charge Doctor Fond of Drink

Ogallala Physician Must Defend License Against Protest of Citizens.

Lincoln, Sept. 8.—(Special).—For the first time in history a physician and surgeon must appear at the state house and defend his license to practice medicine against affidavits by members of his home community, who charge him with excessive use of "ardent liquors."

He is Dr. Edgar P. Murdock, formerly of Ogallala. A hearing on the charges will be held before H. H. Antles, secretary of the department of public welfare, on September 15. Antles stated today that he is in receipt of a number of affidavits from Ogallala citizens to the effect that intoxication is a constant state with the physician.

"I consulted with the state board of examining physicians and upon their advice summoned him to appear in my office September 15," Antles said.

A state law makes possible revocation of a physician's license if such a charge is proved to be true. Antles stated.

Teachers May Read Bible

To Pupils, But Not Comment

Lincoln, Sept. 8.—(Special).—

School teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Teachers may read from the Bible to pupils if they don't comment upon what they read, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Attorney General Charles S. Reed.

Reed wrote the opinion in answer to a query from Rev. Henning Gustafson, secretary of the Swedish Evangelical association for Nebraska, Waverly, who stated that a majority of the school patrons and school board at Waverly favored Bible reading as the opening morning exercise.

Czecho-Slovaks to Try Out Thermos House

The Thermos house, invention of D. C. Patterson, Omaha real estate man, may help to solve the housing problem of Czecho-Slovakia.

Senator Valclav Klosek of the Czecho-Slovak republic, who is in Omaha, studying American conditions, Wednesday inspected a model South Side police court yesterday morning to answer a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Miss Eugenie Patterson, daughter of the inventor, is engaged in Red Cross work at Prague, Czecho-Slovakia.

The principal of the house is two cement walls separated by a dead air space. Its cost is only $1,400.

3 Omaha Sleuths Are Made

State Deputy Sheriffs

Lincoln, Sept. 8.—(Special).—Detective Sergeants B. F. Danbaum

Frank Murphy and Fred Palmtag of Omaha appeared in the office of State Sheriff Gus Hyers this morning, and were sworn in as deputy state sheriffs.

The detectives were accompanied by Chief of Police Mike Dunne of Omaha. The object of making them deputy state sheriffs, is to give the Omaha police power to make arrests and prosecute offenders under state statutes rather than under city ordinances, and to eliminate any