

Great Variety of Douglas County Products Shown

Agricultural Exhibit Which Won First Honors at State Fair Now on Display at Waterloo.

The third annual county fair under the auspices of the Douglas County Agricultural society, being held at Waterloo, is an interesting and educational exposition of the natural resources of this county.

The fair was opened last Tuesday and will continue through Friday. The attendance has been generous and the exhibits surpass those of last year.

One of the most interesting features of the fair is the Douglas county agricultural exhibit which won first honors among the county exhibits at the recent state fair. This exhibit, which was in charge of William Loneragan at the state fair and the same expert at the county fair, scored 1,492 points out of a possible 1,600 at Lincoln, the highest score ever given to any county exhibit in the history of the state fair.

Wins Favorable Comment.
This comprehensive exhibit is winning favorable comment at Waterloo. It is a revelation in that it shows the scope of the agricultural products of this county. The exhibit at Waterloo has 60 varieties of corn grown in this county; also 160 varieties of wild grasses and 60 varieties of tame grasses. Mr. Loneragan is there to explain to visitors just what this exhibit means to Douglas county.

Mr. Loneragan explained yesterday afternoon that the exhibit contains specimens of new varieties of corn, wheat, oats and barley; 20 varieties of soy beans, 20 varieties of cow beans and 40 varieties of sorghum, all being grown in Douglas county. The soy and cow beans are being used extensively for forage, he said.

18 Varieties of Onions.
Otto Pfeiffer of Chicago precinct has an exhibit which he gathered from his own farm and the farms of a group of neighbors. He shows 18 varieties of onions and specimens of tobacco and cotton.

The fair management has issued 3,000 school children's tickets for Friday when the Scottish Highlanders will present their dances. Officers of the Douglas County Agricultural society are anxious that the school children shall learn of the agricultural resources of their own county and they believe there could be no better object lesson than is now offered at the county fair.

Boys and girls of the pig, calf and sewing clubs being promoted by E. G. Maxwell, county agricultural agent, have exhibits at the fair. Each member of the Poland China Pig club has a sow and litter on exhibition. A year ago Otto Pfeiffer gave each member of this club a sow, in return for which two pigs will be given to him this season. Vernon Pflug of Valley, who won first prize last year in the Poland China pig club contest, is exhibiting the same sow this year with eight pigs. Members of the Chester White Pig club also are exhibiting. Raymond Voss of Florence was prize winner in this class last year.

There are 700 entries in the poultry show and 200 in the swine department. The textile exhibit, in charge of Mrs. George Todd, is worth more than a cursory visit. Mrs. L. S. Gould of Waterloo entered a piece of drawn work made from

Wife Rejoins Husband After Long Separation

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Schnitzer.
Nine years ago George J. Schnitzer left his wife in Lithuania to come to Omaha to establish a home. Before he could send for her the war came on. Later he heard that German bombs, dropped on their home village, had killed his wife. In May George learned his wife was still alive. He sent for her and the couple were reunited last week. Schnitzer is employed at the Union Pacific shops.

homespun linen 100 years old. The girls' sewing club of Valley, under supervision of Mrs. F. E. Cockerill, won many favorable comments yesterday.

Mrs. L. M. Haines of Washington has charge of the canned goods exhibit, which includes canned pork, beef and corned beef. Home-made soaps have been entered. The exhibit of diseased meat from tuberculosis animals demonstrates the progress that has been made in the science of detecting disease among foot and dairy animals. This exhibit is in charge of H. T. D. Lackie of the United States bureau of animal industry.

There are extensive exhibits of the work of the pupils in the county schools. Dan Desdunes' instrumentalists and singers are on the program for two concerts each day. The officers of the Douglas County Agricultural society are: E. P. Noyes, president; Otto Pfeiffer, vice president; J. C. Robinson, treasurer; Frank H. Cox, secretary.

Wife's Attorney Blocks Withdrawal of Her Suit
Mrs. Lynn Young, who recently sued her husband for divorce, got permission from District Judge Sears Saturday to withdraw her suit, as she and her husband have become reconciled. Ross Shotwell, attorney for Mrs. Young, returned from a vacation yesterday and objected to the withdrawal of the suit because of a pending motion calling for $2,500 attorney's fees. The suit was reinstated.

"Ten Per Cent Plus" Charge Puzzles Park Commissioner
City Commissioner Joe Hummel received a bill of $41.10 for work done in Elmwood park from the Metropolitan Utilities department. The bill read, "plus 10 per cent." The commissioner couldn't understand that plus stuff until it was explained that the 10 per cent went to cover "overhead" expenses of the utilities department.

Conditions Bad in Turkey, Relief Director Reports
J. J. Handsaker, Oregon, director of the near east relief, who has just returned from Constantinople, arrived in Omaha Tuesday. Conditions are far worse in Turkey than have been reported, says Mr. Handsaker, who declares he saw numerous instances of suffering. Diseases are rampant, he says.

Must Return From Montreal to Stand Trial for Forgery

Extradition of Ross P. Johnson, Accused of Obtaining Bonds by Fraud, Granted By Canadian Court.

Ross P. Johnson, alias Farnam, alias Charles Harmou, who is wanted here to answer the charge of fleeing the United States Trust company out of $5,000 worth of Liberty bonds last June and who has been fighting extradition at Montreal, Can., must return to Omaha, according to a telegram received from Montreal.

At Johnson's hearing in court there, he was charged with forgery in connection with the Liberty bond deal, and he must face trial in the states, according to the telegram. Extradition first was refused on the ground that Johnson was not the right man and Chief of Detectives Van Deusen came home without him after spending nearly a week in Montreal.

The forgery scheme of the suave, well-dressed Johnson was one of the cleverest ever worked in Omaha, according to detectives. The stranger "hired" Frank McCumber, 2552 Cuming street, to be his traveling accountant, claiming he was an engineering contractor. He sent McCumber to the trust company with a certified check for $5,000, which McCumber had no difficulty cashing for Liberty bonds, McCumber then delivered the bonds to Johnson, and that was the last he saw of his "employer."

Omaha police were notified of Johnson's arrest in Montreal on July 14. Divorce Asks High Court For Ex-Husband's Estate
Sarah William Martin, divorced wife of Robert C. Martin, wealthy broker who was killed in an automobile accident last June, has taken on her claims against the $47,000 estate to the supreme court. When Martin was killed she sued for his estate and both county and district courts decided against her. Mrs. Martin was divorced from her husband in 1914 and was given $2,500 alimony.

Man Attacked by I. W. W. In Box Car Dies of Injuries
An unidentified man, supposed to be Harry Smith of St. Joseph, who was taken to St. Catherine's hospital several days ago suffering from a fractured skull received when attacked by I. W. W., died Tuesday without revealing his identity. According to Ada Jones, traveling with Smith, they were attacked by I. W. W. while riding in a boxcar, robbed and beaten. The woman returned to St. Joseph last Saturday.
