

Relief Program For Jobless Is Near Completion

Work for Shaping Program For Emergency Assistance Progresses More Rapidly Than Anticipated.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Progress of the national conference on unemployment indicated today prospects for completion of an emergency relief program earlier than had been anticipated. The conference adjourned on Monday until October 5, when it is to receive reports from its sub-committees, but conferees said today that the work of shaping the reports was being accomplished so rapidly that it was believed most of them would be ready by the end of this week and the conference would consider a general emergency program.

The question of public employment agencies was taken up today at the conference public hearings. Russell Phelps, director of labor statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, said the cost of placing a worker through the Massachusetts agency was $1.35 against an average charge of $14 by a private employment agency. He said it was desirable at this time that employment service should be furnished without charge and suggested the best system would be for local authorities to handle the direct contract with the workers, supervised by state and federal employment authorities.

John Hilder, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, declared that the majority of the chamber's members, in a recent referendum vote, went on record in favor of a federal employment system to work in co-operation with state and local agencies.

Early Vote Indicates Approval of Power Dam

Scottsbluff, Neb., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Although the vote is being cast slowly, water users of the North Platte valley apparently are going to approve the building of a dam and power plant at Guernsey, Wyo., to store water for the irrigated lands of the northwest, and to develop cheap electricity for power, light and fuel.

The first votes counted at the reclamation headquarters at Mitchell showed 37 for and 37 against the proposal. More than 1,300 are eligible to vote, and more than 667 will be required to pass the project, which involves the expenditure of more than $2,000,000.

The Lions club of Scottsbluff appointed a committee to assist in getting out the vote and in getting before the farmers the facts relating to the project. Lions clubs of Bayard and Torrington will be invited to help. The work would be paid for by taxes upon the land of the water users, but the taxes would not commence until present charges against the land are paid at the end of about 14 years.

Hancock Cattle Feeder Says Farmers Pessimistic

H. E. Davis, farmer and live stock breeder of Hancock, Ia., was a visitor at the stock yards bringing in a load of mixed Angus yearlings, mostly steers, that averaged 873 pounds. He received the top price of the day of an even $10. Mr. Davis expressed the opinion that cattle feeding in his section will not be on as extensive a scale as heretofore. He said some of the farmers were afraid to try raising cattle again on account of the uncertainty of the market, while a lot of others were unable to get money.

Endurance Plane Race Scheduled For Legion Meet

Delegates Who Fly to Convention From More Than 600 Miles Will Be Eligible for Prize.

Kansas City, Sept. 28.—A long distance endurance airplane race as a feature to the aerial program of the third annual national convention of the American Legion to be held here October 31, November 1 and 2, was announced today by the Flying club of Kansas City. It is expected that the event will be participated in by flyers from all parts of the country who will fly to the convention. The winner will be selected on mileage per hour in flying to Kansas City. Six hundred miles will be the minimum distance considered.

A cash prize of $1,000 and a trophy will be awarded to first place and $500 to second. Flights in the contest may be made before October 31. Time and date of start must be verified by the mayor, postmaster and newspaper editor of the aviator's home town.

Fat Cattle From Emerson Give Packers Real Treat

One of the finest lots of fat cattle brought to the Omaha market for some time was seen when J. A. Ackerman, veteran feeder of Emerson, arrived with a 10-car string of prime long-ferd Hereford steers. There were 147 head in the shipment and required no sorting, being placed in five big pens just as they were unloaded from the cars. According to Mr. Ackerman, the cattle were bought as feeders about a year ago at $10 a hundred and sold for $8.50 a hundred.

Wyoming Ranchers Disposing of Herds

O. W. Hall of Gillette, Wyo., was on the Omaha stock market with two loads of steers. Mr. Hall said the most of the larger cattle outfits, in the part of the country where he is located, have either closed out voluntarily or been put out of business by their creditors. He said where years ago there were herds of cattle in Wyoming that were counted by the thousands of head, now only occasional small herds can be seen. He said there was plenty of hay and grass in his section, but that it did not pay to feed cattle at present prices. Mr. Hall said he thought it would take at least three years for stockmen of the western country to get on their feet financially and that the statement would only apply to men who were only half in debt.

Head of Mill Company Finds Business Conditions Better

Beatrice, Neb., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—C. B. Dempster, president of the Dempster Mill Manufacturing company, returned home from points in the south and a visit to his ranch in Texas, and reports business conditions on the upward trend. Crops are generally good, he states, in the sections visited by him.

Observe Golden Wedding

McCook, Neb., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hesterwerth was celebrated at their farm home. Of the seven children, 31 grand-children and three great-grand-children, all were present but three.

Overflow of Exhibits Are Shown at Fair in Session at Tecumseh

Tecumseh, Neb., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—The biggest county fair ever held in Johnson county opened here. Every building on the ground, and three new ones have been erected this year, is filled to overflowing with the county's resources, and a large tent had to be secured for a part of the cattle exhibit and another for a part of the manufacturers exhibit. Wednesday was judging day, and the stock was exhibited with a big parade.

An educational feature was put on by the government wherein a government veterinarian slaughtered a tubercular beef on the grounds, exhibited the affected parts of the animal and gave a talk on tuberculosis and its prevention in animals. This is a part of the preventive work the government is carrying on in Nebraska.

The races and free circus and athletic acts will begin Thursday, also the base ball tournament. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the fair will be held all day and each evening.

Chamber of Commerce at Fairbury Resumes Luncheons

Fairbury, Neb., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—The Fairbury Chamber of Commerce resumed regular weekly luncheons Tuesday. They were discontinued during the summer season. Twenty-four members of the Conservation Fire Association of Nebraska, who were inspecting the schools, churches and other buildings of the city, were guests. Four of the members favored the club with speeches giving advice on ways and means of preventing fires. Each school in Fairbury was visited by one or more of the members instructing the children along similar lines.
