Our Great Progress Sale

We Celebrate a Big Commercial Achievement

Why We Celebrate

"Progress" has ever been the watchword of J. L. Brandeis & Sons. But the Brandeis interpretation of the word is not measured by big bricks, broad floors, large buildings, nor even by volume of business. It means progress and ever broadening opportunities for our customers as well as for The Brandeis Store.

From a little one-story frame building more than forty years ago, The Brandeis Store has grown to be one of the great mercantile institutions of the country. With all of our business at last assembled under one roof, with nine floors besides a 45,000-foot basement already filled with desirable merchandise and an additional floor in process of completion we choose to celebrate. The celebration will be in the form of a great Progress Sale to begin Monday at 9 a. m. and to continue from day to day until further notice.

The First Brandeis Store, 1881.

It is well known that a depression has existed in commercial circles throughout the east for some time. Every manufacturer and jobber in America and Europe knows that The Brandeis Store is a great and ever-ready outlet for merchandise. Consequently we were given extraordinary offers and advantages in the way of bargains. Our ability to pay cash where cash payment is an important item won even larger advantages. The result is one of the greatest selling events in history. As a result of all this, nearly three-quarters of a million dollars worth of merchandise has been received in The Brandeis Store during the past six weeks. This merchandise is now spread upon our counters and piled in our stock rooms in order to meet the demands of this great sale. In quality, in price, in service The Brandeis Store always leads. The regular prices in this store are from 33 1/2 to 50 per cent lower than they were a year ago. But in the great Progress Sale to open Monday we will offer prices so low that every one of our miles of counters will be thronged with eager shoppers.

Read the offerings on these pages. The quality of the goods described will please you and the prices will startle you accustomed as you are to low prices at our counters.

The Brandeis Store Today

We invite you, then, to prepare for the greatest and most profitable shopping expedition in your history. And on this—as on other occasions—all paths lead to The Brandeis Store.
