Huskers Rarin' to Go Against Haskell Redskins --- Play at Lincoln Coach Dawson Has Squad in

Nebraska's Well - Balanced Team Expects Tough Battle With Indians Sat-Saturday.

Good Condition

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special.)

—A week of secret practice has developed the Husker mechanism to the point where Couch Dawson feels assured that his foot ball team will be a winning aggregation this season. The machine has been received. ing the polish necessary to wear off the edges of the rough aggregation which the coach threw together at the opening of the season.

A heavy line with a speedy backfield, heady work at the engineering post and speed and sureness at the wings with an impenetrable wall is what has been secured by the Husker coach in his three weeks of work with the Nebraska material. Out of 40 or more heavy and fast candidates the Nebraska team shows over a score of fast, experienced men in the lineup. The number of letter men who are out this season coupled with the weight of the forward wall assures that experienced men will be in every loophole and that it will take a good team to whip the husk-

Peterson Going Good.

While the best prospect for center is Peterson, still his light weight is working on the minds of the Husker fans. "Pete" tips the beam in the vicinity of 165 and is able to hold his own against the average in the pivot stronghold.

Aided by two husky guards, the Nebraska center is by far no weak spot to hit. Weller, Wenke, Bas-sett, Odum and Berqu'st, all beefy boys, are out for the center-bracing job this season. Weller, especially, is making the game an interesting one for all Husker opponents. The 225-pounder is fast as any of the lighter linemen and goes through Aghter linemen and goes through a sieve.

Pucelik and Lyman In.

But the guard jobs are not alone of value to the Cornbuskers this year. The heavy tackles, who are veteran players, are in the scrimmage line with speed and pep that John Pucelik, named last year as a possibility for all-American tackle, with his partner, Lyman, are hold-

Monte Munn, 220 pound guard, is out of the game temporarily on or-der of the squad physician. Monte has an infected finger. Thomsen, speedy halfback of last year's Cornhuskers, has been forced to leave the gridiron sport for the season because of ineligibility. Bad luck never comes but that it comes in bunches. Munn and Thom-sen are out of the lineup and now Scherer, veteran end, is laid up with twisted ankle. Two Out for Quarter.

Preston and Lewellen appear to be the real material for the engineering job of the Husker team. Coach Dawson has been playing Preston on the regulars and calling Lewellen in for a number of plays. "Lew" is an able player and will make the westerner battle to hold his job at the quarterback position. Preston the affast, agile line smasher and is Preston and Lewellen appear to a fast, agile line smasher and is is a fast, agile line smasher and is quick and shifty in his footwork. The Denver boy's ability to run with the ball is especially enchanced when he hits the line by his low style of travel. This enables him to plug the wall for good gains.

While Lewellen can make good gains through the average line, his main strength lies in his speed in going around end. "Lew's" running is not his only asset, however. Sidney, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The Chappell squad here by the score of 14 to 0. fought one this fall.

The Backs. Wright, Hartley, Hartman, De-Witz, Noble and Hoy are showing up well in the backfield. Hartley is in the best of condition and has a world of enthusiasm which, combined with his speed, makes him one of Dawson's surest men this fall.

Coach Dawson refused to compare other team with the Huskers, but with his partner, Lyman, are holding down the tackle jobs with a whip that makes things buzz. "Pooch" and Lyman both go in at 210 pounds; the speedy Kansas boy, with three years of foot ball and the Spencer lad with two, promise to make the Huskerdom awake when the whistle blows for the opening of the next game.

Munn Out of Game.

Coach Dawson refused to compare other team with the Huskers, but stated that in weight the Iowa and Notre Dame teams would come almost up to that of the Nebraska team.

"Both are fast, heady and hard fighters." said the coach. "They have a husky line," said the assistant coach, "in fact their line is just about as heavy as that of the Cornhuskers. They also have some heavy backlield men who are speedy and shifty." Frank said he has not seen the last two games between Nebraska and Notre Dame and so could not give a comparison of the teams of the last two years with that of Notre Dame team in action before, the present year.

scored all the way from first when Emil Meusel played the ball poorly off the fence and Frisch, relaying, dropped the throw in. Ruth fainted in the dugout after he tallied, the leg be injured in the last Yankee-Cleveland series having pained him sever-ely as he hobbled around the bases. A physician called from the stands revived him and he continued in the game after briefly delaying the start of the Giants' half of the inning.

Yankees Now Lead

Scores on Long Fly.

Our recital of the innings' play left Meusel on second and noe out. Pipp, after faking a bunt attempt, pulled a hopper to Rawlings and was thrown out at first, Meusel taking third, whence he counted with the final run of the game on Ward's long fly to Burns.

The Yankee defense was shaky at the outset, but only then, and the Giants' play afield lacked the sharpness characteristic of much of their fielding in the earlier battles of the series. Again, as on Sunday, the Giant infield put into operation the unprecedented and distinctive Ruth shift. Each and every time the Yanks super-swatsmith strode to bat, Frisch moved over toward, shortfield, Bancroit swung 10 feet to the right of second base and Rawlings played short right field. The idea, of course, is to plug the gap between the pitcher's box and the second baseman's normal fielding positions, through which Ruth has drilled three of his telling singles of Shift Unavailing.

The shift was unavailing, however, or Ruth, three times struck out on Nehi's sweeping left-hand curves, breaking low always, and on his other time at bat laid down the safe bunt which proved the seed of the winning run.

A new world series record was es-tablished by the Yank defense to-day and one that may stand for all time. Not until two were out in the fifth inning did Wallie Pipp, Yank first sacker, have a put to his credit and then it came on Young's driblet which required no assist. The fact that the first 14 outs made by the Yankees were other than at first, attests to the numerous scoring op-portunities the Giants wasted and to the wabbly start Hoyt made.

Long George Kelly, hitless in the series until the ninth inning of the fourth game, hit in the giants' run and was credited with three safeties for his day's work. But two of his blows were handle hits that fell in short center field and his third was on a pitch with which he connected tardily, the ball zipping past first base, fair by inches only. His failure to advance a waiting base runner in the third cost his team a run, for Emil Meusel doubled after

Coach Sisty's Warriors Will Have Several Vets Out of Lineup When They Meet Maroons.

Fremont, Neb., Oct. 10 .- (Special Telegram.)-With the clash between the Midland college warriors and the Omaha university Maroons but a few days away, Coach Bob Sisty of the Fremont aggregation is putting his men through a strenuous workout.

The Warr'ors will present a crip-pled lineup in the game at Omaha Friday, due in part to injuries received in the battle with Wayne Nor-mal last week. Adams and Ansin, backfield men, may be out of the game and an infected foot probably will keep Lockstrum, tackle, on the side lines.

Midland will be outweighed by the Omahans, the Fremont backs averaging but 160 pounds. Light men who showed up well in he Wayne game are Adams and Horn, backfield; Lockstrum and Captain Hawk, tackles, and Elliott, center. Harmon, former Onaha university foot ball man, has swung into form in remarkable style and is punting 50 yards. Followers of the Warriors are disappointed at the showing made by the team last week, but are hop-ing for a reversal of form in this week's game.

Probable lineup for Midland in the Omaha game will be: Ends, Dana and Teigeler; tackles, Schundv and Hawk; guards, Harmon and Dumler; center, Elliott; halfbacks, Nixon and Endloff; fullback, Adams or Ansin; quarter, Horn.
