

Bryan Succumbs To Arguments of Stock Salesman

Former Nebraskan Owner of 20 Shares in Defunct Co-operative Concern Of Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—How William Jennings Bryan, silver-tongued orator formerly of the Cornhusker state, succumbed to the talk of a salesman for the Co-operative Society of America was told yesterday at the receiver's hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings.

Bryan, according to Edwin M. Miller, one time sales manager for the co-operative company, purchased 20 shares of stock at $25 a share.

Miller said he sold so much stock that in 1920 Mr. Parker persuaded him to abrogate his contract, paying him $10,000 in Liberty bonds.

Miller admitted payment in the neighborhood of $900,000 in commissions to his salesmen.

Real Beer Delivered For Kickless Liquor. Man Sues for $25,000. Detroit, Oct. 21.—The world's most unappreciative man has been located in Detroit. His name is Joseph Carmisena. He says his character was damaged because, he alleged, a brewery sold him real beer instead of real-beer.

Paradox. Business wouldn't be asleep if more purchasers would go buy. WE DIDN'T HEAR IT VERY PLAINLY. We hope it was "Au Revoir" and not "Good-Bye" that prosperity said. LOW BROW. More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE OPERATION

When Uncle Ebenezer Grew wobbly in his gait, The doctors said, "He'll soon be dead Unless we operate. Your relative's condition Is one that we deplore, But still the knife will save his life And make him young once more."

And so they plied their cleavers With scientific art, They cleft his hide and peeked inside And took him all apart. And Uncle Ebenezer, Quite quit of his disease, Jumped out of bed and scratched his head And took to climbing trees.

We find the dear old fellow Has changed his habits now. He loves to sway and swing all day Upon a maple bough. And when a barrel organ Came up the street one day, To our surprise, with chattering cries, He followed it away.

The doctors told us The nature of their cure, They kept it dark with the remark That it was safe and sure. But from the way our uncle Goes hopping to and fro And tries to eat with both his feet We sort of think we know.

Commander of Italian Army Visits Grave of Theodore Roosevelt

New York, Oct. 21.—An automobile trip of 125 miles through Long Island, with a visit to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, occupied Gen. Armando Diaz yesterday.

Tonight the general, his aides and the party of American Legion officials who accompanied him returned to New York for a dinner tendered the Italian warrior by city officials.

General Diaz placed a wreath tied with ribbons in the green, white and red of Italy upon the grave of Theodore Roosevelt, where a messenger presented him with a bouquet from the widow of the former president.

Railroads Charge State Rail Rates Are Being Evaded

Lincoln, Oct. 21.—(Special.)—For years the proximity of Superior, Neb., to the Kansas line, and the third which assailed Kansans, made saloonkeepers in the Nuckolls county metropolis small-sized Rockefeller.

New that prohibition has covered the land, the Superiores are capitalizing their proximity to the Kansas line in another way, according to charges filed by the railroads of the state with the State Railway commission.
