

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adelle Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

The Suggestion Bess Dean Made for a Fishing Trip

With warnings from both Dicky and Lillian filed away in my mental reference library, I could not help watching Bess Dean furtively when two days after her unfortunate trip down Rip Van Winkle's mountain, she was in evidence again in our mountain family circle.

But if she cherished any resentment against me, as Dicky and Lillian had predicted, and was planning any "comeback" for the humiliation I unwittingly had been the means of giving her, she showed no sign of it when she joined us at breakfast after her two days' absence.

"That settles it!" The bullheads are biting, Pa. Fred put his head in at the dining-room door. He had breakfasted before the rest of us and gone up the road.

"Lower dam." "That settles it—I'm going tonight! How about it, mother?" He looked over at his wife with half-ludicrous, half-shamefaced pleading.

"When my wood-boxes are filled, and my chickens caught, killed and cleaned for tomorrow's dinner, I have no objection to your making 17 kinds of an all-fired idiot of yourself."

"Now, mother," he said, "be good. I haven't been fishing in a coon's age. And I'll see to everything before I go, and bring you back a fine mess of bullheads for tomorrow morning's breakfast."

"If you had, you'd never have forgotten it," Mr. Cosgrove declared didactically. "They're the sweetest eating of any pan-fish in the world. Of course your real fancy anglers look down on fishing for 'em—they want the trout or even the pickerel. But it's past the season for trout, and the pickerel don't bite at night, the bass hasn't been picked up, and there aren't any more of them."

"You'll have to stay all night," Pa Cosgrove warned. "That is, of course, unless somebody can come down in a car after you. I'll tell you, warning to his subject. 'If somebody'll take me down in the car, I can go to the lower dam, about nine miles down. I have to walk. I only can get to the upper dam.'

Bess Dean clasped her hands together theatrically and flashed an imploring glance at Dicky. "Can you resist such a chance to be a wholesale benefactor, kind gentleman?" she implored. "Oh, do say you'll take us down to the lower dam tonight!"

"That's as the boss decides," Dicky waved a careless hand in my direction. "I'm only the man-of-all-work. Whatever she says goes."

More Truth Than Poetry

A LONG-NEEDED REPORM

No longer the fat and beribboned co-ed Or the lovely young visiting dame, By the freshe or junior or soph can be led To her seat at the critical game.

The cheer-leaders moan that a stand full of Janes So affects the young fellows around, That in spite of the rushes and twenty-yard gains They seldom will utter a sound.

And so in the future if ladies appear On occasions when games may be tight, They shall not be permitted to put on the cheer As a heavy and dangerous blight.

How can Oregon expect us to recognize Mexico? It doesn't look like the same old place since he's been president of it.

Apparently Mr. Hays expects postmasters to deliver Sunday newspapers before they had time to read the comic supplements.

Apparently Mr. Hays expects postmasters to deliver Sunday newspapers before they had time to read the comic supplements.

Romance in Origin Of Superstitions

If in talking you accidentally make a rhyme, wish before you say another word and you will get your wish.

Madge Agrees. "Now, mother," he said, "be good. I haven't been fishing in a coon's age. And I'll see to everything before I go, and bring you back a fine mess of bullheads for tomorrow morning's breakfast."

"That's as the boss decides," Dicky waved a careless hand in my direction. "I'm only the man-of-all-work. Whatever she says goes."

"Oh, I'd love to go," I said quickly, and knew by the glint in Bess Dean's eyes that Dicky's speech was another point in her score against me.

Where It Started Roman Type. The now familiar Roman type was introduced into printing in 1467, at Rome. The printers who made the innovation were Sweeneyheim and Panartz. It came as a great step forward in the printing art, as up to then the old black-letter had been used, which was much more difficult to read.
