

Strike Recall Is Telegraphed Over Country

Big Five Chiefs Call Off Walk-out After Long Conference—Federal Opposition Held Cause.

findings as a result of the public hearing Wednesday at which union leaders and railroad executives testified. This declaration, it was expected would analyze the situation and its outcome.
The vote ending the strike came late last night after all-day sessions of the union leaders. Early in the day general chairmen of each of the five organizations conferred separately. In the afternoon a joint session was held, which was addressed by Ben W. Hooper of the labor board. Mr. Hooper's appearance before the board is said by union leaders to have marked the turning point which led to the final decision.

Year Before Pay Cuts.

Mr. Hooper is said to have stressed the board's announcement that no further wage cuts for any class of employees would be considered until working conditions for that class of employees had been settled. He is also said to have emphasized the announcement of the rail executives made at Wednesday's hearing that no changes in either wages or working conditions would be sought except through the labor board as provided by law. Union men said they construed Mr. Hooper's remarks as indicating that nearly a year must elapse before further wage cuts could be made effective, even if the roads should apply for them at once, and the board should eventually approve them.

Brotherhood Chiefs See Victory for Men

Railroad brotherhood chiefs said that their resolution adopted last night calling off the strike and the Railroad Labor Board on a victory for the men.
These points were, first, that capitalized two points as evidence of further wage cuts that the railroads may ask will receive consideration after pending questions before the board are cleared, thereby delaying immediate action on further reductions and possibly postponing the question of a new wage revision for nearly a year. The second point was that action on the rules which the men's organization wish to maintain will likewise take its place on the regular calendar of the board, so that it will not likely become an immediate issue.

Smiles Wreath Faces Of Rail Board Members

Smiles of relief wreathed the faces of members of the United States railroad labor board when they met today to clean up the many details of the cancelled railroad strike. Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams began to pour into the board's offices.
B. A. Worthington, president of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western railroad, wrote a letter to Ben W. Hooper, member of the public group of the board, advising that the road would pay time and a half for overtime dating back to August 1, at which time it was eliminated, until the question is definitely decided by the board.

President Worthington's letter follows:
"At the conference with the United States railroad labor board held in Chicago yesterday and at the suggestion of Governor Hooper, for the purpose of aiding and producing harmony in the present controversy, it affords me pleasure to announce to you that the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western railroad will pay time and a half for its overtime from August 1, the time it was eliminated until the question is definitely passed upon by the board, this question being pending before the board at the present time."

No Danger of Outlaw Strikes, Says Big 5 Chief

"I Am Glad the Women and Children Have Been Spared Suffering," Declares W. G. Lee.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The men of the unions will willingly accept the decision of their officers in recalling the strike order, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said in a statement today. "I expect the unions to follow the counsel of the committees so that there will be no sporadic outbursts in any quarters," said Mr. Lee. "Last year there were such sporadic outbursts, but as a result the charters of 93 locals were withdrawn and more than 25,000 men suspended. The men know that the committees here would accept nothing that was not for the best interest of the organization."

"I am very happy that this has been settled. But so far as I am concerned all credit for settlement is due to Governor Hooper and the manner in which he conferred with us."

"When I think of the hundreds of letters on my desk from old members of the brotherhood, from their wives and children asking me to do everything in my power to avert a strike, I am glad that they have been spared the suffering that would have resulted. There is no doubt that if the settlement had not been made the men would have left their jobs and some would never have returned."

Ben W. Hooper, public member of the board said:

"There are some people who hold to the idea that the brotherhoods had no real intention of striking. This is a mistake. If conciliatory methods had not been used, there would undoubtedly have been a most disastrous strike. Not that the men really wanted to strike. It was rather like this. I have seen two boys begin bantering each other with but little intention of fighting, but after one had knocked off the other's hat and the other had reciprocated by spitting on his foot, the fight was on.
"It required only a small degree of ordinary common sense to avert the strike. Now that it is out of the way there are many lessons the public should learn from this situation providing the plan is adopted at the convention, was a distinct victory for Edgar Howard of Columbus and a defeat for Judge Arthur G. Wray of York, heretofore unquestioned boss of those discontented with present political factions.

New Political Party Organized at Lincoln

Judge Wray favored a third party, but he wanted it to be born after the primaries. His plan was to use the old nonpartisan league method of sending candidates into the field in republican garments and then adopt them as children of the new party after the primaries.

Edgar Howard said no, that such tactics would be cowardly and would not be harmonious with the honesty, integrity and straight from the shoulder tactics that was to mark the new party. A majority of those present agreed with Howard. Wray finally held a consultation with Howard and introduced a resolution for a preliminary party convention.

Elsherry Aids Fight.

Howard, in carrying his point, rode over the objections of J. D. Ream of Broken Bow, chairman of the executive committee of the nonpartisan league, and George Porter of Morrill, formerly secretary of the socialist party, who declared that many republicans and democrats would vote for their candidates if they wore garments of the old parties, but would not cut loose to vote for a new party.

T. J. Elsherry, labor mayor of Grand Island, aided Howard in the third party fight, declaring the peo-
