

South Dakotan Is Speaker at Post Meet at Duluth

Dean Stockton Declares Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Development Would Mean Much to Farmers.

Vermillion, S. D., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Representing South Dakota, Dean Frank T. Stockton of the state university, is attending the port development conference at Duluth, Minn., this week. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association, which has for its object the removal of the shoals in the St. Lawrence and the bringing of the Great Lakes cities into direct shipping contact with Europe, without transfer of cargo.

In his address before the conference, Dean Stockton emphasized the importance of this undertaking to the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska and North and South Dakota, holding that the money saved in freight would go directly to the producer. Especially would this be the case with wheat, he believed, since its price is lowered by the Liverpool market, and the 6 cents a bushel saved by the all-water route would go back to the farmer.

Much of the dissatisfaction in these states, he said, was due to the marketing problems, there being always uncertainty about getting crops to market on time at a reasonable cost. The waterway project would do away with the congestion of trunk lines in the east and would make the northwest independent of railroad troubles and charges. In conclusion he urged the northwestern states to prepare for the all-water route by perfecting local marketing machinery and expanding railroad construction and facilities, which otherwise would soon prove totally inadequate to care for the production of this section.

Two Sought in Denver For Murder of Priest

According to statements from officials following investigations which lasted until midnight.
"We are satisfied we know who the man is and he will be taken into custody within a reasonable time," declared James Fowler, county attorney following examination of 15 witnesses last night.

Rolando Disappears

Disappearance of Rolando from his room in the boarding house of Mrs. Rose Bartolino and discovery of a pistol and hammer in his room resulted in the examination by officials last night of Mrs. Bartolino and several of her boarders. The hammer was said to resemble one taken from the automobile owned by Father Balknap with which some one had tampered prior to the time the priest was summoned from his home in the early morning hours to administer, ostensibly, to a dying woman. Rolando, it is said, has not been at his work in the mines since Tuesday.

Bloodhounds, brought here from Mitchell, S. D., supplied a spectacular scene last night as they led a posse through a snowstorm from the scene of the murder in Poorman's Gulch road to the home of Tony Bartolino, the man who discovered the body of the priest Wednesday. Officials placed credence in the Italian's story that he was aroused by the shots which killed the priest and rushed outdoors to see if any one had killed a horse running loose in the yard.

Inquest Today.
Interest centered today in the action to be taken at the coroner's inquest to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Most of the witnesses examined last night were expected to be summoned today.

Examination of the priest's automobile today by a finger print expert offers another possibility in the solution of the crime mystery. Police inspection of the machine yesterday resulted in a statement from the officers that the machinery had been disabled apparently by a skilled mechanic some time Tuesday night so that the priest would be compelled to make on foot his journey which resulted in his death.

Elevator Manager Drops From Sight

Auditors Examine Account of Co-Operative Firm at Marne, Ia.

Marne, Ia., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Clarence Squires, manager of the Farmers' Co-Operative company here, has disappeared, leaving his family in complete mystery as to his whereabouts or the reason for his going.

Monday last, Squires took his wife and two children to Atlantic and left them at the home of her parents, Olaf Remien and wife. He told Mrs. Squires he was going to his farm, south of Atlantic. That was the last seen of him.
Squires was 40 and had been manager of the elevator here for the last two years.
Auditors are going over his books.

Jefferis Asks Funds to Combat Stock Diseases

Congressional Appropriation Made Years Ago to Combat Tuberculosis Among Hogs and Cattle Exhausted.

Washington, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Immediate appropriation of funds to enable the government and the various states to carry forward the work of prevention of tuberculosis in cattle and hogs was recommended yesterday by Congressman Jefferis in a communication to Congressman Haugen, chairman of the house committee on agriculture. This action followed receipt of a wire from Will H. Wood, president of the Omaha Live Stock exchange, in which it was stated that 15 per cent of the hogs received at the packing houses of South Omaha were affected with tuberculosis.

92 Per Cent of Federal Taxes Used for War

So Dr. Charles Medbury Tells Iowa Arms Conference Which Opens in Des Moines.

Des Moines, Oct. 28.—Delegates from all parts of the state are attending the state limitation armament conference here today. Representatives of more than a score of organizations are attending the conference, which will hold three sessions today.
The conference was called by the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce. "Let the people once thoroughly understand how much of the money they pay to the federal government goes for war purposes and war's popularity will slump far below its present low level, Dr. Charles Medbury told the conference in the opening address of the afternoon session.

92 Per Cent for War.
"It has been computed," he said, "that the average tax paid to the government in 1920 by each person was $43.64. How was this money spent? Here is the answer: For wars of the past we spent 63.2 per cent of the whole; in preparation for future wars we spent 29.4 per cent of the whole."
"Out of every dollar paid to his government by the American citizen in 1920 over 92 cents went to purposes of war. For civil departments of our government we spent 4.8 per cent. When we pass from war we pass from billions."
"For public works we spent 1.4 per cent while—listen everyone who believes in God and in his fellow men—for research and public health and education and such lines of development of the people we spent out of each dollar 1.3 cents."

Cost in Lives.
"While war is expensive in money the supreme cost is not in money, it is in lives, shattered ideals of men and nations. For the sake of the soul of all our people there must be in a new and living way an emphasis upon the life cost of the war."
"Both god and man are saying to the commissioners of the nations who will soon be face to face in Washington that steps must be taken to begin at least such a line of world life as will forbid a repetition of the horrors of a recent past."

Witness Testifies He Helped Fire Garage

Shenandoah, Ia., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Clifton Solon, chief witness for the state in the arson charge against Fred Lybarger of Shenandoah, widely acquainted second-hand car man, testified in the district court at Clarinda that he accompanied Lybarger to Norwich the night of May 20, 1920, and assisted him pour gasoline on the contents of the garage.
An oil-soaked comfort was put under the door and set on fire Solon testified. It was a rainy night and lightning is supposed to have been the cause of the fire.
Lybarger is said to have received $4,000 insurance on the contents of the garage.

Escaped Prisoner Found.
Lincoln, Oct. 28.—Steve Duester, prisoner of the state reformatory, who escaped Wednesday night and eluded a posse of 50 men all day Thursday, was found on a downtown street here late Thursday night.
An Iowa town has built its main street to carry flood waters after heavy rains into a river without damaging property.
