

Frank Harrison Recommended for $7,500 a Year Job

Lincoln Man Urged as One of Three American Commissioners to Exposition in Brazil.

By E. C. SNYDER.
Washington Correspondent Omaha Bee.
Washington, Nov. 1.—Frank A. Harrison of Lincoln, who has figured in the political life of Nebraska for the past 20 years, was endorsed on Monday to President Harding as one of the three United States commissioners to the Brazilian exposition by a delegation including Senators Hiram Johnson of California, Norris of Nebraska, Representative Fess of Ohio, Lionberger of California, Reavis of Nebraska and Comptroller General McCord.

While the president would not commit himself, it is believed Harrison stands a good chance for appointment. Colonel Collier of California, who was the head of the San Diego exposition which was conceived and carried out under the greatest difficulties, it is thought, will be appointed by the president as director general of the United States commission. In view of the fact that the exposition is to be held next year it is necessary that the appointment of the commissioner be made right away as an official of the Brazilian government is in Washington with a view of visiting boards of trade, chambers of commerce, state legislatures wherever in session to create interest in the forthcoming exposition.

Harrison Well Qualified.
Mr. Harrison is especially equipped for this position having been in Spanish American countries more than 10 times and has lectured upon hundreds of occasions to commercial and educational bodies on the growing importance of trade between Spanish-American countries and the United States.

Supplementing the presentation of Mr. Harrison's name yesterday Mr. Reavis today started a petition among the members of the Nebraska delegation. It is understood that Senators Keyton of Iowa, Capper of Kansas and Representative Keadle of Montana and Kahn of California are also pulling for Harrison's appointment.

Employment Bureau Head Says Jobs Many

Lincoln, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—There were more jobs than men who would work in Nebraska in October, according to a report issued yesterday by Clarence C. Becker, executive in charge of the federal and state employment bureau. His figures show that 713 jobs went begging for men to accept them during the month.

Many men made our office a loafing place and refused jobs that they could have had at wages from 35 cents to 50 cents an hour, the objection being that the work was too dirty, too hard or did not last long enough.

Becker told of Gage county farmers who advertised for two or three weeks for men to shuck corn and declared that Nebraska farmers could use 2,000 corn shuckers at the present time.

Kendall Defends Action In Raising Railway Tax

Council Bluffs, Nov. 2.—Governor Kendall, in a speech here last night before a joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions' clubs, defended the state executive council's action in increasing the valuation of railroads in comparison with farm assessments and attacked the recent decision of the federal court enjoining the council and county officials from carrying out the increased assessments.

He held that the state executive council has not discriminated against railroads in comparison with farm assessments and declared that railroads of Iowa are not taxed sufficiently.

Twenty Caskets Due to Reach Omaha From France Friday—One for Council Bluffs.

Bodies of two brothers, Oscar S. and Carl W. Potter, will be among the 20 caskets returned from France, which arrive Friday morning at the Union station.

One died of wounds received in action, the other of pneumonia. They were sons of Oscar L. Potter, Chamberlain, S. D.

An Indian youth, David Turning Bear, formerly of Company E, 35th Infantry, is one of the three Nebraskans "coming home." He was the son of Mrs. Rosie Little Horse, Kelso, Neb.

The other two Nebraskans are Elwin H. Pike, son of Mrs. Laura D. Pike, Bloomington, and Henry G. Horst, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Horst of Deshler, Neb. Both were in the 313th Ammunition train and died of pneumonia.

One casket is consigned to Council Bluffs. It is William Muehlanweg, son of August Muehlanweg, 3412 Avenue C, killed in action October 11, 1918.

Eight more are for Iowa, two for Kansas and six to South Dakota. The total number of caskets which have passed through Omaha is 1,312, according to D. E. Buck, father of the gold star idea, who has pinned his little tributes to 947 of the caskets.

War mothers, girls who served in France and the Chamber of Commerce also pin red, white and blue tributes to each casket.

Omaha Laundry Men Protest Tax Exemption

Lincoln, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Sixteen Omaha laundrymen today appeared before W. H. Osborne, state tax commissioner, and protested the taxation exemption of the laundry conducted by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

Through W. A. Schall, who represented them, they declared that this enterprise has $20,000 worth of buildings and laundry equipment, doing an enormous business and paying no taxes whatsoever. The Good Shepherd laundry does 98 per cent of the hotel work of the city because it is able to underbid the privately-owned laundries.

Osborne said that in his opinion the Good Shepherd laundry will have to pay taxes. The laundrymen will appear tomorrow before the board of equalization and Attorney General Davis.

The Presbyterian hospital was also cited by Schall as an institution exempt from tax, competing with the laundries.

Corn in Crib Is Without Demand, But Corn on Hip—

There's Where the Money Is, Says State Sheriff, Who Predicts Moonshining Boom This Winter.

Lincoln, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Burning corn in place of coal may be a very good plan.

But a lot of the boys out through the state know a much better way to meet the economic problem of 17 to 20-cent corn, says State Sheriff Gus Hyers.

It's very simple. There stands the corn in the field. You shuck it and crib it and shell it and haul it to the elevator in town and get only 17 to 20 cents a bushel for it. There's no demand.

But—change the corn into something for which there is a demand—corn whisky, for instance. Ah! You grasp the idea which is permeating the craniums of some of the worried boys who have worked hard to raise the corn, and now see it almost worthless while the winter looms and the mortgage shark knocks at the door.

Plenty of demand for corn whisky at $2 to $10 a quart! Even if a bushel of corn only makes a quart of corn whisky, that's all right.

"Most of our noble-minded farmers will spurn this thought," says Gus. "They'll starve before they would do so dishonorable a thing. But, then again, there are many others, I fear, who will yield to the temptation. I fear we are going to have an unprecedented amount of moonshining this winter."
