

Gipsy Groups Christians in Three Classes

They Are Called "Those That Think So, Those That Hope So and Those That Know"

By Evangelist.

Personal tastes, actions, companions, even the way one walks determine to whom he belongs, God or the devil, Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, told 6,000 persons who attended the Monday night revival service at the Auditorium.

"The sinners belong to the devil," he said, "and those who hate sin and love the things that God loves belong to God. Those born of God have the love of God in their hearts and although sin may be near them, and the devil may tempt them, they have no desire to sin because of their love for God.

Two-Minute Sermons

Written Especially for The Bee by Gipsy Smith

There are some in this world who are debtors to the people, and the time comes when each of them must render an accounting.

Let it still be remembered that the Scriptures declare: To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

So, some people are bigger sinners than they appear. The amount of my light determines the amount of my responsibility and the amount of my sin. If the light be not lived up to, if people sin in the face of light which shows them the right way, then their condemnation is all the greater.

The debtors of the people are its leaders. I wonder what would happen if the strongest and best women in the city would set the example of Christian living. I mean those strongest in an educational, financial and social way; those who are looked upon as the prominent ones in the city. If these will only conduct their lives so with a clear conscience they can take their stand and lead also in the spiritual world, what would happen?

No one can estimate the good that would be done if these pivotal people consecrated themselves to the service of Jesus Christ. After all, culture, money and breeding do count—people look up to those for-

Attorneys Petition Court to Postpone Trial of Promoters

A motion for continuance was filed yesterday by the attorneys for Masse and Wohlberg and McWhorter, charged with using the mails to defraud. They petitioned for postponement of the case until the next term of federal court.

The motion is backed by affidavits that the public mind in Nebraska at present is so inflamed against stock promoters that it would be impossible to secure a fair trial for them.

According to statements of both McWhorter and Masse, the local newspapers have been bitter in their denunciation of all stock promoters and salesmen.

The attorneys also claim in their petition that a delay is necessary in order to obtain the presence of witnesses to testify in the defense.

Pardoned Veteran Returns to Family

Youngblood Says He Was Not Near Scene of Crime for Which He Was Sentenced.

No hands or committees of welcome greeted Roy O. Youngblood, 27, son of Frank M. Youngblood of Omaha, pardoned Friday from Leavenworth prison, but a happy family greeted their son and brother at the station yesterday.

Smiles, tears and embraces made up the welcome home program of a family that has been stricken with sorrow for many months.

Youngblood with four other soldiers who also were pardoned at the same time, was convicted by court-martial of the murder of an English army officer at Ranz, Germany, in 1920.

It was charged that Youngblood and the four other soldiers were members of a party in a roadhouse

At Ranx, about 12 miles from Coblenz, when the English officer was struck on the head by a flying bottle and killed.

"None of us was near the place at the time," Youngblood said yesterday.

People Desert God for Folly, Asserts Pastor

Americans Grieved by Pagan Philosophy of "Eat, Drink and Be Merry," Revival Hearers Told.

The pagan philosophy of life of "eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die," has taken a fast hold on the American people and will be difficult to shake off, Rev. A. DeLarme, pastor of the First Baptist church, declared in his 10-minute sermon before several hundred business men and women at the Brandeis theater Tuesday.

"The people are off on a mad stampede after pleasure, excitement and folly that takes them far away from the possibilities of spiritual life. They lack the strong faith in the life promised after this and are living to the utmost here."

Pagan Philosophy Fails.

"This pagan philosophy has been tested through the years and has always broken down at the crucial time. Long indulgence to self has made people insusceptible to things that belong to God."

Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, who followed Rev. DeLarme, said: "The last thing to die in us is self. He who loves self cannot please God. Your greatest enemy is yourself and is the real cause of your being without the fellowship of God.

"The secret of the true Christian life is self-abnegation. It means living for Christ and the other fellow. You should take no pleasures that bring injuries to others. The only way to get rid of self is to kill it in the service of humanity."

One of the largest crowds that has attended the noonday meetings was present yesterday.

British Negotiators Hold Meet on Ulster

London, Nov. 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—An important meeting for consideration of phases of the Irish question was held in Downing street today, the participants being the majority of the government's negotiators, including Prime Minister Lloyd George. It is believed the meeting mainly concerned itself with legal steps necessary to fulfill the government's pledge to Ulster that the Ulster Parliament will be enabled to function properly and be provided with funds.

Action along these lines, it is pointed out, does not seriously affect the general negotiations for an Irish settlement, for under the government's plan Ulster would be left a local Parliament with more power than the present Parliament has.
