

Blair Physician Dies of Injuries Received in Fall

Investigation Reveals Doctor Was Mistaken in House Where He Wished to Call When Injured.

Dr. J. G. Smith of Blair died at a local hospital shortly before 3 Thursday afternoon of a fractured skull, sustained when he was pushed from the porch of the home of Charles McDermott, city fireman, 1811 North Twentieth street, about 10:30 Wednesday night.

McDermott told police he was awakened by the noise of kicking at his front door. He opened the door and told the man to go away. The kicking started again and he then pushed the man away and he fell from the porch and did not rise. McDermott called police.

Mistaken in Houses. Investigation by Detectives Haze and Donoghue Thursday indicated that Dr. Smith thought he was at the home of a friend, Harvey Hughes, 1809 North Twentieth street.

Hughes is a bartender in the soft drink saloon of S. R. Deaver, Twentieth and Clark streets. Deaver and Hughes are friends of Dr. Smith. Deaver formerly lived in Blair. Dr. Smith always called on them when he came to Omaha.

Was Making Call. It is believed that Dr. Smith came to the place late Wednesday night and, when he found it closed, decided to call on Hughes but went to the wrong house. Neither Deaver nor Hughes saw Dr. Smith Wednesday.

With Dr. Smith when he died were his wife, his mother, Mrs. J. C. Smith; his son, Wayne; a brother, E. G. Smith, and four daughters, Edna and Evaline Smith and Mrs. Peterson of Blair and Mrs. Rutledge of Herman, Neb.

Father, Mother and Eight Children Are Deficient. Broken Bow, Neb., Nov. 10.—A father and mother and eight children appeared before County Judge Holcomb for examination and all were found mentally deficient. The entire family, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shinn, were found living in a two-room shack six miles north of Sargent. They range in age from 14 months to 29 years. One member of the family is already in the asylum. Judge Holcomb ordered them taken to the home for feeble minded at Beatrice.

Perfect Packages Slogan of Superior Commercial Club. Superior, Neb., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—The Commercial organization of Superior is co-operating with the railroads and express company in their "Perfect Package" month. This is a move on the part of the carriers to have the shipper realize the importance of careful packing of all commodities for shipment. If a package is improperly packed it will be checked and report made back to the secretary of the commercial club, who will keep this data and make a report at the end of the month.

Officials Deny Girl's Charges

Lancaster County Officers Say They Made no Attempt To Influence Testimony.

Geneva, Neb., Nov. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Testimony given by Anna Stejbal in the Staritz hearing, which contradicted her story incriminating the defendant in the present case against him now being tried in district court, was denied by persons she mentioned as having induced her to testify against him. Sheriff Miller of Lancaster county, Mrs. Frank E. Hawley, chief juvenile probation officer, and Miss Clare Toland, assistant, all of Lincoln, took the stand for the state and denied her statement.

Anna Stejbal sat in the court and heard all her statements regarding her conversation with them brand false. Attorneys of both sides and the defendant agreed to a stipulation introduced in the case that the testimony of W. L. Killy of the Noyes-Killy Motor company, Omaha, if it should be given, would be a denial of all statements made by the dependant regarding conversation with him on October 17, 1920, in Omaha. This was the date on which the home of Christian Claussen was entered, money demanded and a shot fired, hitting the 80-year-old recluse in the foot. Staritz testified on the stand to having been in Omaha and four disinterested witnesses testified that he was at Ottowa, near which village Claussen lives, on that Sunday.

Attorneys began arguing the case just before the noon recess. The defendant's wife and four children are with him in the court room.

Character Reader Speaker at C. of C.

Mabel Warner Rugg Entertains Younger Members By Readings.

"Young bloods" of the Chamber of Commerce learned interesting points about their characters yesterday, when Mabel Warner Rugg, character analyst, addressed them at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce club rooms. Mount Burns presided. Miss Rugg's talk started with a statement that Mr. Burns was "cut out" for a golf professional, while Harry Burkley, jr., covets the tact of a true salesman, she said. Of young Mark Havens, Miss Rugg stated that he "would gain his objective in life by tact or otherwise." The junior division of the Chamber of Commerce acted favorably on 15 new applications for membership.

ONE-MINUTE STORE TALK

"I'll never forget the opening of this store 36 years ago and the shock that it gave to the old-time clothiers when you announced for the first time in the western country: 'One price to all and that the lowest.' You laid the foundation of your success right there. The others are gone and forgotten, but your value-giving goes marching on," remarked a well known Omahan yesterday.
