

LARGEST AND SMALLEST PLANE IN THE COUNTRY—the Remington-Buranelli, with a wing span of 77 feet and accommodations for thirty-four passengers, and the Mumert Cootie single seater, with a wing span of but 15 feet. Both went up together during the Aero Club's flying meet at Mineola. Bert Acosta, who piloted the Cootie, did so in his stocking feet, explaining that he did not wish to overweight it. Wide World

SHORT SKIRTS AND CIGARETTES, despite fashion edicts from the other side decreeing covered shins and perfectos for milady, continue to be the vogue, judging by this snap of Miss Vedia Shiel and Miss Audrey Hoffman at the Meadowbrook Hunter Show at Old Westbury, L. I. Underwood

Right—N. Y. U'S GOAT that valiantly tried but without avail to get Columbia's on the gridiron. The Blue and White gridiron warriors trimming their local rivals to the tune of 19 to 0. The Maroon's mascot, however, afforded the South Field spectators many a laugh during the progress of the game. International

SAMBO'S TOOTHACHE. While it's difficult for even a Capuchin monkey to make light of a real toothache pain, there are, nevertheless, certain decorative advantages in this frame-like bandage and the distinction of being photographed. Underwood
