U. S. Plans Too Drastic For Britain

England Seeks Elastic Replacement Program Rather Than 10-Year Holiday-Would Abolish Subs.

Accepts "In Principle"

By The Associated Press Washington, Nov. 14.—Great Britain's acceptance "in principle" of the American proposals for limita-tion of naval armaments contemplates an alteration of the plan in several important details. The British acceptance will be presented at tomorrow's preliminary session of the conference by A. , Balfour, head of the mission, Japan's acceptance "in principle," although forecast by the statements of Baron Kato, may be delayed as the Japanese nission must confer with Tokio.

Mr. Baliour may not outfine de-tails of Great Britain's reservations, but they are substantially described this way: Want Elastic Program.

Instead of a flat 10-year hollay,

Great Britain wants the replacement program to be an elastic one-spread over a period of years, Great Britain would like to see the ubmarine outlawed from naval warfare; failing this, she wants to see their tonnage and equipment dis-tinctly limited. She feels that the submarine fleets allowed by the American program are too great; she has never had so large a submarine fleet as the proposals would allow

The United States, Great Britain feels, would have her at a disadvantage in airplane carrying ships, under the American proposals, because while Great Britain has an equipment of these craft, the United States would have to build new the number allotted. They would be of later design and of superior improvement while British ships would be obsolete. Want Limited Disarmament. Great Britain wants the replacement program spread over a period of years, because, British naval ex-perts argue, the program could be carried on with a small equipment of building plant at a small scale, probably a ship at a time. If a flat 10-year holiday were to be declared, they say, facilities for making a wholesale replacement after 10 years would have to be kept in organiza-tion and although great fleets of warships might be consigned to the junk pile, facilities for reproducing them still would exist. Such a program, the British naval experts say, does not go to the root
