What's What

By HELEN DECIE. What are rules of order but rules of civility? The woman who acts contrary to parliamentary law is also violating the code of established courtesy. She has usurped privilege; she has risen to interrupt a speaker who has the floor; she is contradicting the chairman or another member of the organization; she is doing any one of 50 things which are neither recognized parliamentary usage nor recognized social usage.

Women accustomed to the order of club meetings are quite at home in their newer political gatherings. Their experiences with "rules of order" makes social life easier for them. That is one reason (only one) why the American women of the middle west are giving so good an account of themselves in the new administration social circles at Washington. Middle western women have large and intelligent club memberships in their home towns, and, consequently, have had plenty of practice in self-suppression and self-control—the valuable disciplines, which leading to self-possession, money spent in manners as well as good order.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup. Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results. Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold, relieves better for immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, mix it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute relief, or money promptly refunded. My Marriage Problems

Adelle Garrison's New Phase of "REVELATIONS OF A WIFE" (Copyright, 1923, by Newmarket Feature Service, Inc.)

The Wailing Sound That Sang Through the Night. Pa Cosgrove's question gave voice to the thought which had lurked underneath all the terror of my experience, all my anxiety for the wounded state trooper, still and silent on the reservoir shore. Where, indeed, was Dicky, that I had been left alone to face this midnight horror?

True, I had laughingly detailed him to escort Bess Dean upon this fishing expedition, but that was no reason why he and she should have strayed so far from the rest of the party that even the sound of the revolver shot had failed to reach them?

But not to Pa Cosgrove nor the wide-eyed Fred could I voice my resentment. I answered his query quickly, with a forced casualness. "No, I haven't seen Dicky, Miss Dean or Ted since before I went to sleep. They're probably too far to hear the boat."

"They must be pretty nearly to Kingston, then," Mr. Cosgrove grumbled. "That was some shot, I'll say, and the night's just right to echo it. But where in tunket is Ted? I thought he was to take care of you."

"But I went to sleep," I answered, trying to extenuate the lad's action, "and the fish weren't biting, and—"

Pa Cosgrove Commands. Then he had not found Dicky and Bess, after all! The conclusion sprang at me as something felicitous had done, and sank the claws of its possibilities deep into my heart. Where on earth could they be? "No one knows where Miss Dean and Mr. Graham are," his father growled. "They're safe enough, no doubt. But where were you? Mrs. Graham might have been killed because you weren't here. Be don't stop to tell me now. Get the hatchet and chop some branches, quick, you and Fred. We've got to make something to carry this fellow on up to the car."

But aren't you going to hunt for Miss Dean? Ted stammered. To the devil with Miss Dean! his father thundered. "By the—"

So swiftly did they work that I had no opportunity to observe the method they used. I only knew that in an incredibly short time they had fashioned out of branches, coats, blanket and fishing line a serviceable stretcher upon which, with infinite pains and tenderness, they rolled the unconscious boy. Then, with Fred, armed with the revolver, stalking in front, the still sulky Ted and his father took up the burden and carried it steadily up the winding path, while I walked close to Pa Cosgrove's side, carrying the pail of water he had instructed me to bring.

"Don't worry about your folks," Pa Cosgrove said to me, as we started. "They've probably lost their way, turned into the wrong path—there's a dozen ways out of here. But they'll find the state road eventually, and when we get this chap safe out of our hands we can cruise around and find them. But, of course, we've got to see to him first. For they're in no danger, and he is."

"Of course," I assented, but even through my natural womanly anxiety for the youth I had rescued, there ran a distinct troubled resentment that Fate with my aid should have thrown Dicky into so interesting a predicament.

Problems That Perplex

Marrying a Cousin. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am in love with my cousin and he loves me, but we hesitate because we fear that our children will not be normal. There are only a few years' difference in our ages and we are both healthy and come from healthy families.

Doesn't Seem Affectionate. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl of 19 and am keeping steady company with a young man of 20. He has as much as proposed to me two or three times. That is, he has not said so directly, but has asked me what kind of diamond ring I like and other little things like that; also in talking of his future he includes me in it.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture. Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at a very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look 20 years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

For skin blemishes use RESINOL. Soothing and Healing. It reduces irritation and usually restores the skin to its normal healthy condition.
