

New Working Rules For Shop Crafts Effective Dec. 1

Railway Labor Board Announces Good Progress Made on Drafting New Regulations.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The United States railroad labor board announced tonight that new working rules for the shop crafts probably will be completed and issued in time to become effective December 1.

Issuance of the rules, under a recent decision of the board, paves the way for consideration of requests which may be filed by the roads for revision of the shop craft wage schedule.

The new shop craft rules will affect approximately 800,000 men on all class I railroads in the country. Only 94 railroads are directly concerned in the present case, the others having their submissions in proper shape when the case was taken up, but board members anticipate that all the class I railroads probably will carry out the decision without further hearings.

The board's statement issued tonight said:

"Such satisfactory progress during the past week has been made in the consideration of rules and working conditions for the six shop crafts that it is altogether probable that these rules will be completed and will become effective December 1."

The board members pointed out tonight that the new rules virtually have been completed in less than five months, while the national agreement, which they superseded, required the attention of railway, government and labor representatives and experts seven months.

The board, it was indicated tonight, will next take up the rules and working conditions for the maintenance of way employes.

There is a large number of disputed questions regarding these rules already before the board, and statisticians have prepared most of the cases for presentation. It is probable that formulation of rules on the disputed points affecting this class of employes will be more expeditious than was possible in the shop crafts because, according to board members, the questions are less complex and do not involve so many classes of labor.

Germany May Join Peace Meet, Is Rumor

Washington, Nov. 18.—A semi-official statement from the British delegation that Premier Lloyd-George is hastening his plans to get to Washington overshadowed any new developments of the big conference yesterday.

There was a rumor that Germany may be invited to the conference and given an opportunity to disclose its exact military and financial condition. Such a move, it was admitted, would, at least, help to solve the critical exchange problems abroad. The report concerning the invitation has not the status of official confirmation, as yet.

Steel Industry Solidly Behind Arms Conference

Schwab Says Manufacturers Of United States Are Aligned With Aims of Disarmament Meeting.

New York, Nov. 18.—Emphatic assurance that the iron and steel manufacturers of the United States are solidly aligned with delegates to the arms conference in their efforts to end wars, was given by Charles M. Schwab in an address at a dinner of the American Iron and Steel Institute in honor of Marshal Foch. After paying high tribute to the marshal and telling him that in the language of the greatest of poets, he had been "grappled to our souls with hoops of steel," Mr. Schwab, who is head of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, said:

"I would like to take advantage of this occasion to say something which has long been upon my heart and which at this significant moment, it is clearly my duty to say.

"Expresses General Sentiment.

"It was stated at some sessions of the recent league of nations meeting in Geneva, and it has often been carelessly suggested in the press, that the flame of war is, in great measure, kept alive by those interested in the private building of naval ships and the manufacture of munitions of war. I can, of course, speak only for myself, but I believe I know and express the sentiments of others placed in similar positions to mine when I say this:

"I am at the head of the largest war materials manufacturing works in the world. The ship yards of my company build more naval ships than are built in any other yards under one management in the United States. But I have been thrilled beyond expression, as has every good American, by that brilliant and statesmanlike scheme laid before the conference at Washington by Secretary Hughes. The carrying out of that plan may involve great monetary loss in some quarters, but such a thing as financial loss can be of no consideration when compared to the inestimable boon to mankind which would be involved in the realization of that magnificent plan."

Behind Conference.

Mr. Schwab declared that should the statesmen now assembled in Washington find it possible to bring about disarmament and permanent peace, gladly would he see "the war-making machinery of the Bethlehem Steel corporation sunk to the bottom of the ocean."

"Nothing could contribute more to the ultimate and permanent prosperity and happiness of the world," he added, "than the conclusion of an agreement between the great nations of the world which would eliminate war and the causes of war, and so let us say to the men gathered at Washington, let it go out from this gathering of men of the steel and iron industry, that we are solidly behind every effort they can make which will hasten the coming of the time when war shall be no more."
