Secretary of Labor Davis Plans Correction of Industrial Ills Through Conciliators in Big Plants.

Seeks Personal Contact

By HARRY WARD.

Washington, Dec. 10 .- Prevention of strikes and the correction of industrial ills through highly trained men acting as conciliators in the key industries of the country is being sought by Secretary of Labor James

"It is impossible to deal with these industrial ills and not be impressed by the fact that many of us must be mishandling certain fundamental economic principles to be producing these costly and wasteful disturban-ces," said Secretary Davis, "The disturbances are comparatively few, I know, in relation to the whole industry," he pointed out, "yet no mat-ter what small percentage of industry continues in a state of turmoil we are promoting a waste of time and production and a measure of social irritation that should not be."

According to the labor secretary, a few of the big industries of the coun-try are especially liable to labor disturbances. In these industries controversy has become more or less chronic.

Solution Difficult.

"A fair and lasting settlement of disputes in these industries is hard to arrive at because of the highly technical and complicated nature of these industries, and because of our lack of the technical knowledge necessary to a just settlement," he said.

"Naturally the public is also without that exact knowledge," he continued. "It lacks a clear idea of the merits of these disputes, and the public is, after all, the final court to decide these matters. The processes in a number of basic industries are complicated to the last degree, and we cannot hope to pass a fair judgment in any of the disputes in these public opinion to enforce any such air judgment until we know more exactly what precise services are to be expected from each employee or group of employes in these industries, and what wages and conditions."

It is all because congress forgot to the veterans' bureau, telegraphed the following message to Con McCarger, local manager of the veterans' bureau, telegraphed the following message to Con McCarger, local manager of the public opinion to enforce any such air judgment until we know more exactly what precise services are to be expected from each employe or group of employes in these industries, and what wages and conditions.

On McCarger, local manager of the public is also with the winch solders which solders of fighting the Nevada courts.

This money has been or will be advanced by Mr. Schenck, close friend, employer and financial advanced by Arbuckle. He expects to be repaid by Arbuckle as soon as the latter starts work and gets on his feet, financially. Right now Arbuckle is "broke." He has no ready not his sole assets are report to be in Los Angeles.

From a man very close to Arbuckle came the following account, today, of the film star's financial industries of industr tries, and what wages and conditions the employes may reasonably expect for their services. Plan Originated.

"Now we have originated in the department of labor a plan which I am confident will bring us this much needed exact knowledge. This by congress. ligence and broad character, to serve as a conciliator in each of these basic industries. Each man among the $90,000 to $100,000. number must know his special industry inside out, from top to bottom, sity of Nebraska medical school, He must know every technical Creighton, University of Omaha, process involved in that industry. He Boyles Business college, the railway must know what is to be expected of educational bureau and other educational bureau and other educational institutions. Many of the men process, from water boy to skilled machinist. He must recognize the must be a man to command the respect and trust of both management and employes.

Secretary Davis said he believed

There was no intimation as to how many would be summoned. Assurance, however, was given Senator Watson that every person would be called if he believed they were prepared to give testimony di-rectly bearing on the charges. Senator Watson read extracts from many letters in which soldiers declared they knew of numbers of illegal executions. One soldier wrote

Washington, Dec. 10.—(By A. P.)

—The Anglo-Japanese alliance, long regarded with apprehension by the American people, passed into history today when spokesmen of both nations at the arms conference accepted in its slead a new four-power agreement for preservation of peace the Pacific, to which the United States and France became parties.

This action, with fulfillment of details to follow, paves the way to acceptance of the American proposals for reduction of naval armaments and in a large measure is expected to contribute to settlement of the Chinese questions. It is a 10-year agreement in which the four nations bind themselves to respect their existing rights in insular possessions and dominions in the Pacific and in the case of dis-putes which cannot be settled by diplomacy agreed to a joint conference among themselves.
