Big Ten Teams Ready for Start Of Title Chase

Three Western Conference Quintets Will Start 1921 Cage Season on January 7.

Following the successful gridiron season, coaches of western conference basketball teams already have put their squads through practice games preliminary to the Big Ten opening clashes, which will be played on January 7. As basketball squads are not required by rule to abstain from practice until a specified date, as is the case with the football teams, the coaches of the mentees have been drilling their men since the opening of the universities early in the fall.

Dr. L. J. Cooke of Minnesota, secretary of the conference basketball association, has made some changes in the original schedule upon requests of coaches. Officials for all games have been selected, and a competent list of arbiters. Following is the complete schedule, together with officials for each game:

- Wisconsin at Iowa (referee, Birch; umpire, Reynolds); Northwestern at Minnesota (referee, Schommer; umpire, Tapp); Ohio State at Chicago (referee, Young; umpire, Molony).
- January 9. Ohio State at Michigan (referee, Kearns; umpire, Young).
- January 10. Chicago at Michigan (referee, Kearns; umpire, Young).
- January 11. Iowa at Minnesota (referee, Kearns; umpire, Tapp); Northwestern at Indiana (referee, Schommer; umpire, Ray); Ohio State at Ohio State (referee, Schneider; umpire, Prugh); Michigan at Wisconsin (referee, Young; umpire, Molony).
- January 12. Michigan at Illinois (referee, Young; umpire, Molony); Northwestern at Purdue (referee, Kearns; umpire, Ray).
- January 13. Indiana at Ohio State (referee, Schommer; umpire, Young); Northwestern at Chicago (referee, Kearns; umpire, Ray).
- January 14. Minnesota at Wisconsin (referee, Schommer; umpire, Ray); Iowa at Iowa (referee, Kearns; umpire, Reynolds).
- January 15. Minnesota at Indiana (referee, Young; umpire, Molony); Purdue at Northwestern (referee, Schommer; umpire, Ray).
- January 16. Chicago at Minnesota (referee, Tapp; umpire, Lohman); Iowa at Purdue (referee, Kearns; umpire, McCord).
- January 17. Iowa at Indiana (referee, Kearns; umpire, Molony).
- February 4. Indiana at Minnesota (referee, Schommer; umpire, Tapp); Illinois at Chicago (referee, Kearns; umpire, Elliott).
- February 5. Northwestern at Wisconsin (referee, Schommer; umpire, Ray).

Athletes Today No Better Than Those of '90s

Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, Princeton's director of physical education, has come to the defense of the athletes of the past, in an article in the Daily Princetonian. Asked to compare the present day athletes with those of the "golden '90s," the Princeton director had this to say: "I do not think that in any sport, such as football, the average man of the present needs or possesses any greater intellect than the players of 20 years ago. "I played foot ball myself 30 years ago, and coached for several years after my undergraduate days were over, and I can assure you that I pondered as long and as diligently over plays and formations as any captain or coach of the team in 1921. The athlete then had just as quick wits as any man today." However, Dr. Raycroft declares emphatically that many more young men in the 20th century engage actively in sports than was the case in other years; hence he believes that the modern boy is stronger and healthier.

Following Man O'War's Hoof Prints

MORVICH (Jockey Sande Up). (Unbeaten champion 2 year old of American race tracks.)

MORVICH, the great brown colt bred by A. B. Spreckels, and raced by Benjamin Block, will start the 1922 turf season with the greatest record as a 2-year-old in American racing history. This stocky built son of Rummage, unlike Man o' War, finished his 2-year-old season without a blemish, winning all eleven of his starts. Man o' War lost one of his ten races in his first year of competition. If Man o' War is "the horse of the century," the colt certainly deserves the name of the greatest colt performers. The great juvenile is now in winter quarters at Jamaica, building up the 3-year-old strength that will be required of him when he matches his invincible record against such stout racers of his own age as Lucky Hour, Kai Sang, Runar, Missionary, Colum, Miss Joy, Bunting, and against such older horses as Grey Lag, Yellow Hand, Exterminator, Thunderclap, Mad Hatter, Auracious, John P. Grier, Jennings Park, Naturalist, Tryster, Blazes and Behave Yourself.

Jury Disagrees In Damage Suit Paid for Race Horse to Be Retried.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. New York, Dec. 18.—That the jury, charged with determining whether Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire, should recover the $100,000 he paid for Playfellow, brother of the renowned Man o' War, and which was last night reported locked up until Monday, failed to agree and was dismissed at 11 o'clock last night, it was learned today. It was reported about the Brooklyn supreme court building that the jury stood six to six on the final ballot. Sinclair will bring suit again against the Quinys estates. Frederick S. Like, of the counsel for Sinclair, said: "We will endeavor to have the suit placed on the court calendar for January 3. The case most certainly will be brought to trial again. We believe the colt is a wind sucker and that James F. Johnson put something over on us when he sold him for $100,000."

Willie Jackson Says Not the Head, But The Hat, Wins Bouts

When Willie Jackson climbs into the ring he always wears a little trick cap tilted over one side of his head. They also have piped the fact that his manager and friend, "Doc" Bagley, also carries a chapeau of the same design perched jauntily on his dome. The Bronx wallpaper and his boss have had those two skull pieces since Willie's first started in the game of hit and get away. "Wouldn't part with these two top pieces for the town," said Bagley, when he hopped out of the ring in New York the other night after "Willie had tanned Pete Hartley. "Those two little front pieces are the real maccos. They have served us well, and you can get a dollar to a plugged nickel that we wouldn't let go of them for something pretty."

The "Doc" and Bill may look like a brace of safecrackers adorned in those caps, but they are happy and confident every moment they have them on.

Peterman Elected Cross-Country Leader

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 18.—Lester V. Peterman of this city, has been elected captain of the cross-country team for the next year at the University of Iowa. Peterman has been a member of the cross-country and track teams for two years. He still has one year of competition.

Five Olympic Athletes Face Central A. A. U. Committee on Charges of Professionalism

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Five of the country's greatest amateur athletes—Joie Ray, Frank and Joe Loomis, Loren Murchison and Jackson Scholz—today defended themselves against charges of professionalism before the registration committee of the Central A. A. U. The athletes, all of Olympic fame, were charged with filing exorbitant expense accounts for trips to compete in eastern meets last year. Deny Expense Charges High. Ray, Joe Loomis and Murchison appeared before the committee, while the others were represented by attorneys. They denied their expense accounts were exorbitant. The committee announced it would make its report to the National A. A. U. registration committee for final action. The athletes, if found guilty, may be suspended or declared professionals. Joie Ray, holder of seven world records in the runs, may become a professional boxer if his amateur standing is annulled. Ray has engaged in amateur boxing contests, winning the Central A. A. U. title in the featherweight class. He weighs about 125 pounds. Ray to Run If Cleared. Ray plans to compete in several big eastern meets if he is cleared. Frank Loomis, a noted hurdler and sprinter, already has become a professional, and medals won in amateur competition may be taken away from him if the charges of professionalism are sustained. He is a coach at a college at Hastings, Neb. Joe Loomis is a member of the Chicago Athletic association, while Murchison and Ray are competing under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club. Scholz, a former University of Missouri sprinter, is competing for the Detroit A. C.

Tennis Body to Change Methods

New York, Dec. 18.—Suggestions for radical changes in the manner of conducting championship tennis tournaments were contained in reports of subcommittees of the United States tennis association, submitted to that body's executive committee today. The most notable contemplates "seeding the draw" at national tournaments—eliminating the blind draw through a process of limited selection—and forbidding tournament contenders to report the games in signed daily newspaper articles. Tentative dates and places for all the principal titular tournaments for 1922 also were submitted. The reports will be considered at the association's annual meeting in February.

Troendley Will Assist Husker Wrestling Coach

Former Nebraska Wrestler And Mat Captain Secured to Help Dr. Clapp Develop Grappling Squad.

Lincoln, Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Husker wrestler and for two years captain of the Nebraska mat men, has been secured to assist Dr. R. G. Clapp as instructor in wrestling. Troendley recently returned from Chicago where he has been keeping in form. While in the Windy City the former Husker won four tournaments and was proclaimed champion of the Central A. A. U. in his weight. Troendley wrestled in the 125-pound class in 1918, but went into the 135 in 1919 and 1920. During his three years at the university Troendley never lost a fall in a decision. This loss was due to his desire to do more than anyone else. At the Ames meet in 1919, Troendley attempted to wrestle in both the 135 and 145 pound classes. He failed to put his 145-pound man to the mat and lost the decision. Which recalls stories told of the Husker captain's audacity in the mat sport. He was afraid of nothing. In one meet with the Omaha "V," Troendley decided to wrestle in the 125 and 135 pound classes. He often wrestled in two weights when at the required weight. In the meet he nailed his man to the mat in some fraction of a minute and then had a bite to eat before tackling the next one. He won both matches. That is the type of wrestler that Nebraska has acquired to instruct the mat men. Troendley was western intercollegiate champion in 1920 in the 135-pound weight and later went to Birmingham, Ala., where he tried out for the American Olympic team. The man who won the try-outs as well as in the Olympics, won over Troendley by a decision, but was unable to flatten the supple Nebraska to the mat. Forty Out for Team. The Cornhusker wrestling squad consists of some forty men and these will be weeded out by Captain Reed, Coach Clapp and Assistant Coach Troendley. The material is excellent for a fine team this year. Malcolm Smith, western intercollegiate champion in 1920 in the 158-pound class is back and will be out for the mat team.

Harry Wills Real Obstacle in Champion Jack Dempsey's Path; Fans Anxious to See Pair Matched

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. New York, Dec. 18.—Jack Dempsey must fight Harry Wills. There is no use in bally-hooing about who should be the next opponent for Dempsey, he is right here. Step up, Harry, so that the folks can get a good look at you. While that big black bird is hovering about and questioning Dempsey's right to the championship there is a flaw in the white man's claim to the title. Wills is the obstacle in Dempsey's path and until he is removed the fight fans of the country will never be satisfied that Dempsey is the real champion he claims to be. Must Fight Soon. Dempsey and Wills must fight before the question of supremacy is determined. That is the demand of the fight fans who pay the freight so that those boxing fellows can exist. There must be no set ups or sure thing opponents ribbed up for Dempsey. Boxing fans will not stand for any more frail little Frenchmen like Georges Carpentier. Neither will they have any more slow plodding Jess Willard's stepping in there to be slaughtered and they have been trying to build such a return match. Wonder if the fans would fall for such a bunk? There must be no more faint-hearted Fultons to take a snack on the whiskers and leave the going after one round, nor will the fans tolerate any more of Bill Brennan who was kicked over twice in a row. The Gibbons and Grebs are too small for Dempsey and if he has run out of opponents as they say he has why doesn't he take on Harry Wills? Wills Too Tough. Is Wills too tough? There is a strong suspicion all over the country that Harry deals them out a little too hard for the white boys to take a hand in the game with him. Wills stands out right now as the only man in the world who would have a chance with Dempsey. With his six feet of height and more than 200 pounds of bone and muscle, he sure comes nearer being a match for the white champion than the handsome kid who made the trip from France last July with his little trail frame to do combat against the rugged Dempsey in Jersey City. There never was a time when that match was a fair one, yet it drew a gate of more than $1,000,000. Now what would a match between Dempsey and Wills draw? With two such men being about equal in height and strength, it would probably attract a larger crowd than any fight in the history of the game. Then why haven't these two birds been match before this? We are told that timid promoters who refuse to gamble with the proposition and the ireful boxing officials who fear that the bout might kill the game all over the country, is the only reason that no effort has been made to get the two scrappers into the ring. Has Right to Challenge. Why? We ask should this discrimination prevail? If a colored man fights his way to the top of his division among his own race and then questions the right of a white man to claim the boxing championship it would seem in all fairness that the colored man's challenge should receive some respect. Right in New York they allow foreigners of all kinds to get in there and knock the dickens out of our American boys whenever they are man enough, Mexicans by the score and even Chinamen are being tossed in constantly to slam at our Yankee boxers. Yet this American negro will not be permitted to test his skill against the white champion. Don't seem right. London's underground railroads are experimenting with cars having five doors to permit rapid loading and unloading.

Veteran Cagers On Drake Team

Coach "Ossie" Solem Putting Bulldogs Through Hard Practice for Game.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 18.—Coach "Ossie" Solem is putting his basketball proteges at Drake university through stiff practice every afternoon to prepare them for an 18-game schedule season. Four "letter men" are available from last year's team as a nucleus for the varsity representation this year. They are Captain Tom Smith of Council Bluffs, center; Ted Payseur of Des Moines, forward and last year's captain; Harley Wilhelm of Eilston, and Cleatie Devine of Des Moines. The other regular varsity selection is Bill Boelter of Gooding, Idaho. Boelter is a 180-pound man that is fast on his feet. He is to be used as running guard. Payseur, who finished last year's season as one of the three best forwards in the Missouri Valley conference, has been making a good showing in the practice games. He is expected to add more laurels to his records in the coming games. William Lucas of Des Moines, Leslie Shaw of Nevada and Cecil Sarff of Salem, Ore., have also earned berths as varsity substitutes. A subscription to The Bee would make an ideal gift.
