THE season's first match of the oldest known sport, curling, will be played Saturday at Miller park. It will be an individual match for the Ingalls' cup, curling, like golf, originated in Scotland over three centuries ago. It is becoming to the business man in winter what golf is in the summer. The game, when properly played, consists of teams of four men. Each player has two stones, which he plays alternately with his opponent. The field of battle is an ice rink. To curl, is to slide the stones over the ice into certain areas, which determine the score just as in a game of horseshoe. The players use brooms for sweeping off the ice in advance of the slowly moving stones. There are about 30 pairs of stones in Omaha now, according to C. W. McMaster.

Among those who will participate in the match Saturday are: C. C. Belden, F. W. Wead, Mark Levings, John Hussie, E. S. Dodds, John Muir, Robert Gaul, C. W. McMaster, Harry Peters, Frank Yore, Duncan Reed, O. Tank, Andrew, W. J. and William Hislop, C. Fernandez, Robert Malcolm, Frank McCarthy, Phil Kendall, A. M. Featherstone, P. H. Nielsen, George A. Dunn, Alex Melvin, Edwin M. Tracy, Murray Scott, Robert Watson, W. W. P. Horne, Howard Horne, Don Bissett, W. G. Watson, Peter Lowden, John McTaggart, Cliff Saddler, A. Sinclair, John Finlayson, J. K. Finlayson, Hobart Williams and Charles Granden.

Wadleigh-Winegard.
The wedding of Miss Gertie Winegard and Harold E. Wadleigh took place Monday at the home of the bride. The Rev. A. S. Buell performed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Park were the attendants. The bride wore a gown from the collection in real lace and carried a shower bouquet. Mrs. F. O. Johnson, sister of the bride, played the wedding march.

From School and College.
Miss Virginia Barker arrived this morning from St. Timothy's, Miss Mary Findley came from Bradford academy, Miss Catherine Porter from Manhattanville school and Miss Mary Moshman and Miss Joseph Schurman from Bryn Mawr, and Frances G. Robinson from the Kent Place school. Miss Frances Burt arrived from Lincoln yesterday and her brother, Horace Burt, came from Boston Tech today. The students from the University of Nebraska also arrive today.

O. E. S. Christmas Party.
Ak Sar Ben chapter enjoyed a Christmas dinner at the Masonic temple Wednesday evening entertaining the children of the families, after which a program of readings and music was rendered and gifts distributed.

The Christmas tree is being sent to the Masonic boy's home at Twenty-seventh and Davenport streets.

Dundee School Provides Dinners.
The children of the Dundee school are not only providing bounteous dinners for several families, but to some families they also are giving groceries for a week, and to others, coal and clothing are being taken. At least 10 families have been made happy this Christmas by the good will of these school children.

Fine Arts Exhibit

In one of the galleries of the public library the Omaha Society of Fine Arts is showing five canvases by the portrait painter, J. L. McClymont, of Colorado Springs. These paintings will be on exhibition until January 3. In this group there are four portraits, the fifth canvas is an interior called, "The Crofters Cottage" (a Scotch subject).

It is the purpose of the Society of Fine Arts to show as much as possible of the art produced in the west. This group is in striking contrast in its handling with other works shown within the last year.

Just now with the Hawthorne portraits in the galleries on the third floor the public is given opportunity to compare two artists of vastly different idea and purpose.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Straightforward Letter.
Dear Miss Fairfax: Since coming to your city some time ago I chanced to read your column quite often, and the folks with whom I am rooming keep The Bee. I like your advice and thought probably you could help me also.

I am a girl of 22 years going to a girls' business school. I like my work immensely and am making good advancement. I work very hard every day and evening in the week except, of course, on Saturdays and Sundays. I wish to devote these days to social affairs and enjoyment. Miss Fairfax, I am very fond of dancing, movies, etc. but being a stranger it is hard to get acquainted. There don't seem to be any girls going to my school who reside anywhere close in my neighborhood.

I would like to meet some young man or girl of my age who has the same desires, devoted to their work, but still for a good clean enjoyment. I may suggest that you call Douglas 9551, Miss Grace Rowland, or Harney 4516. Mrs. H. E. Toedt, both members of the Big Sister's organization, will be glad to know you and will have ways of acquainting you with other young people. The Unitarian church has a Get-

A BUSINESS GIRL.
A girl who can write a straightforward letter like yours will also make friends. It takes a little time to do that anywhere, whatever your rank or station. Finding a truly enjoyable companion, girl or boy, is not just a matter of meeting folks. You must meet young people, however, if you are to have any social life. May I suggest that you call Douglas 9551, Miss Grace Rowland, or Harney 4516. Mrs. H. E. Toedt, both members of the Big Sister's organization, will be glad to know you and will have ways of acquainting you with other young people. The Unitarian church has a Get-

Just Nobody: I do not undertake to be a correspondence bureau. I would not work out well when I do not know anyone concerned. If you are all you say you are, neat, cheerful and anxious for friends, I think you will succeed in making them. You are rather tall for a girl and that might put you to disadvantage at times—at a dance, for instance; but the probabilities are it will not interfere with your success in business or your happiness in a home. One of the finest friends I have is a girl more than six feet tall. She is an artist and was making good with a career when she married. Now she has a beautiful home in which she is perfectly contented. Why not you?

Your intentions in wishing to make peace between your friends are worthy, but I cannot divulge names and addresses of people who write to me in confidence.

The Jolly Seniors will entertain at a dancing party in Crouse hall Saturday evening.

Army Posts Keep Gay Christmas

The Fort Crook Service club will be the scene of a Christmas party Saturday night, which is in charge of the women of the post. It is especially a children's party, with a tree and a Santa Claus, and the children will sing carols. Thursday night Major and Mrs. W. G. Jones and Captain and Mrs. W. H. Beers entertained 80 guests at a dinner-dance at the Service club, which was decorated for Christmas. On Christmas day Colonel and Mrs. W. T. Johnston will have as their dinner guests General and Mrs. Omar Bundy and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Hugh Meyers, and their son, Hugh. Russell Johnston will also be there. With Lieut. and Mrs. Harrison Johnson will be Col. and Mrs. Carl Harvey and Miss Betty Harvey and Col. and Mrs. Carl Muller, and John Muller. Major and Mrs. Tom Hayes and their children will be members of a large party who will spend the day with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hollister on their hill farm north of Irvington. Other guests for the day will be Mrs. Theodore Ringwalt and Miss Dorothy Ringwalt, George Holdrege and his daughter, Miss Lita Holdrege.

Fort Crook will officially celebrate New Year's on December 29, when the officers and their wives from Fort Omaha and many Omaha people have been asked to Fort Crook for a masquerade dance. Col. Carl Harvey is in charge of the arrangements.

Captain A. S. Levinson is in charge of the Christmas eve party at Fort Omaha, which is to be held in the assembly hall, and will include a Christmas tree, a radio concert and a later a dance for the enlisted men.

According to army custom, General and Mrs. Omar Bundy, at Fort Crook, and Major and Mrs. J. D. Reardon, at Fort Omaha, will receive their friends in honor of New Years on the afternoon of January 2.

Bride of the Week

Mrs. E.P. Miller

Mrs. Myrl Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rodgers of Gibson, Neb., became the bride of Dr. Erwin P. Miller last Monday. Dr. Miller is a graduate of the University School of Medicine and was an intern at the Clarkson hospital here. He is a member of the Phi Rho fraternity. Mrs. Miller is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is an Alpha Phi.

general and Mrs. Omar Bundy, at Fort Crook, and Major and Mrs. J. D. Reardon, at Fort Omaha, will receive their friends in honor of New Years on the afternoon of January 2.
