'Dearest Honey' Letters Filed in Stillman Case

Love Messages Alleged to Have Been Written by Fred Beauvais to Mrs. Stillman.

By Universal Service.

New York, Jan. 7.—More "dearest honey" letters, alleged to have been written by Fred Beauvais to Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, and a brief note Mrs. Stillman is said to have sent to the Indian guide, were injected into James A. Stillman's suit for divorce yesterday.

The letters were filed in conjunction with an appeal the banker is preparing from the recent decision requiring him to contribute $7,500 more towards the expenses of his estranged wife's fight for vindication.

One of the letters has a number of crosses at the end which Stillman's counsel were meant as symbols of hugs and kisses. Both letters open with the salutation, "My dearest honey."

"Nice Letter."

The first letter alleged to have been written by Beauvais, May 20, 1919, reads:

"My dearest honey:

"Thank you very much for your nice letter and telegram. You don't know how it cheered me. I was sick yesterday, very sick with a heavy headache. I seem to have gotten these headaches in Montreal and elsewhere. I could not sleep at night until I would come to your room.

"Yes, dear, I am lonely for you and miss you very much. It is just as though there were no more lights in the world for me. In your letters you say I could come to see you, dear. Yes, I know I am bad and mean to you. I always want to make love to you afterwards.

"Oh, it seems ages and ages since I have seen you and it will be just as long before I will be able to take hold and take you in my arms and give you a nice big hug and kiss.

"If anyone tries to make love to you down there I will find it out. If they do I will kill them sure, because you are all mine and Guy's or rather, I am all your's and Guy's to the end. "Lots of love and kisses to the Great Beyond.

"Fred."

Second Letter.

The second letter, dated May 21, 1919 reads:

"I just received 10 pigs, four months old, that I bought on the way up. We have some chickens left. The carpenters worked yesterday and today it is raining hard. There are two rooms that we did not come to any conclusion about—I mean as to color. These rooms are Bud's and Alex's.

"Let me know if you find it very lonely out in the country. Let me know how you are fixed and if Mr. S. comes out often.

"Have you spoken to Mr. S. about your dream that you had up here? And, most of all, about youself and dear Guy?

"You think I am fooling you when I say that some day I am going to kidnap Guy and bring him up here. First of all I'll get you up here and then I'll kidnap Guy.

"Oh, then what a little family it will be—all sunshine and love. Just what I have always been dreaming and hoping for and what we hope to do. I hope we will soon be together, honey dear, love.

"Let me know how soon before we will see one another again.

"The farm work is coming along fine. By next week all the planting will be done.

"With all my love for you and Guy. (Six crosses were inerpolated here as follows: x x x x x x). These are kisses for you and Guy. Goodby dear, for a little while. Your's ever and ever. "FRED."

First Bill Under Budget System Passed by House

Sum of $9,250,000 Out of $169,000,000 in Treasury Appropriation for "Dry" Enforcement.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The house passed late yesterday the first annual supply measure drafted under the budget system—the treasury appropriation bill, carrying approximattely $169,000,000, of which $9,250,000 is for enforcement of prohibition during the fiscal year beginning next July first.

The measure was sent to the senate without a record vote, practically no opposition developing to its various provisions. Only one amendment was adopted while several sections were eliminated on points of order.

Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, made an unsuccessful attempt to cut the amount provided for prohibition enforcement to $250,000, but his amendment was quickly snowed under.

At the outset the Maryland member proposed that the amount for enforcement of the 18th amendment be slashed to $250,000 with the added provision that if any additional funds were needed states, which he said had acted concurrently with federal government in bringing on prohibition, should contribute as they saw fit. This proposal, however, was knocked out on a point of order and Mr. Hill then called for a vote on the straight question of reducing the appropriation.

In a point of order by Representative Walsh, republican, Massachusetts, provision for a $10,000 salary for an under secretary of the treasury was eliminated.

The effect of the budget system, members said, was evident in the few changes proposed. A year ago, the various appropriation bills were the target of dozens of amendments and points of order.

Liquor Valued at $100,000 Seized in New York Raid

New York, Jan. 7.—Prohibition agents yesterday raided Jack's restaurant at Sixth avenue and Forty-third street and hauled away nearly $100,000 worth of liquor in motor trucks. A large crowd of shoppers witnessed the raid.

The liquor was found in a second story apartment adjoining the restaurant itself. A heavy steel shutter covering the window of the apartment was ripped open with crowbars.

Scores of cases of Scotch and rye whisky, champagne and other rare wines, gin and cordials were seized.

Two Children Lose Lives When Chicago Home Burns

Returning 15 minutes later, the mother found the house in flames. Fighting her way in, she rescued Florian but neighbors prevented her going after the others, as the roof was falling.

Wife Surprises Girl in Embrace of Her Husband

And, Too Late, Victim of Circumstances Learns Her Hate for Man Is Really Love.

And that man was the one she loved, lost to her forever, she thought, because he was engaged to another.

Nothing But Sorrow.

All her life she had met nothing but bitter disappointments.

While still in her 'teens the girl had lost her guardian and protector by death. Then, when accepted as a member of a happy home, the husband had made love to her and the wife caught him with the girl struggling in his arms.

Loves—Too Late.

Taken to a new home, that of a friend of her dead father, the girl discovered her love for Peter Nothard, the man she thought she hated. But it was too late—he had been caught in the wiles of a butterfly vampire.

Then she found that Peter was paying her father's friend for her "keep" and she slipped away to the old rooming house.

How it all ended is told in "The Story of Ninette," a gripping love serial by Ruby M. Ayres, author of "The Fortune Hunter," "The Remembered Kiss" and "A Man's Way," starting in The Evening Bee Monday.
