

Nebraskan Gets Fellowship in Academy at Rome

Howard Hanson, Native of Wahoo, to Develop Musical Ability in School Abroad.

Howard Harold Hanson, native of Wahoo, Neb., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hanson, reside, left Omaha last night enroute for San Jose, Calif., to Rome, Italy, where he will enter the American academy for a period of three years. He has been granted a leave of absence for three years by the College of the Pacific, San Jose, where he is dean of fine arts in the conservatory of music.

This honor conferred upon Mr. Hanson is notable in the annals of western music, because the personnel of the academy is limited to a few who win these coveted places through competitive examinations. In the case of this Nebraska son a musical jury, of which Walter Damrosch of New York is the head, obtained scores from musicians who have taken as competitors.

The scholarship awarded is known as the Prix de Rome. Expenses and salary of Mr. Hanson are paid during the three years he is abroad. He will spend six months of each year in the studio at the academy teaching musical composition and developing his musical creative genius. During the other months of the year he will be privileged to travel and meet the composers of Europe.

Artists and sculptors also are sent to the American academy. The object is to encourage the arts and enable ambitious and talented Americans to do creative work without incurring financial responsibilities and with the advantage of the best possible equipment and environment.

Mr. Hanson, who is 25, has given evidence of his ability as a composer. Some of his works are being played by the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra and the St. Louis Symphony orchestra. He wrote the music for the "Forest Play of 1920," presented in the State Redwood park, California. The music on that occasion was played by the San Francisco Symphony orchestra. Among his symphony orchestra compositions are "The Symphony," "Rhapsody," "Legend," "Before the Dawn" and "Exaltation."

Though Prof. Hanson is chiefly interested in orchestral composition, he has composed some piano compositions which are being played this season by Percy Grainger and Madame Sturkow-Ryder.

Mr. Hanson began his musical education at Luther college, Wahoo. After attending the University School of Music, Lincoln, he entered the Institute of Musical Art, New York. He graduated from Northwestern university, Chicago, in 1916, receiving bachelor's and master's degrees. From Chicago he went to San Jose to take the chair of theory and composition in the College of the Pacific, which position he held for three years, after which he was promoted to dean of fine arts. While in Omaha he is visiting his uncle and aunt, Fred and Emma Eckstrom, 2201 Lothrop street. Another uncle is Carl Eckstrom, formerly of Omaha, and now in the theatrical profession in New York.

Bayard Gets Injunction Against Irrigation Tax
Bayard, Neb., Jan. 13.—(Special).—The city of Bayard, through the efforts of City Attorney E. R. Carter, has secured a temporary injunction against the Nine Mile Ditch company, enjoining the company from collecting any irrigation assessment until the case has been heard in court. The Nine Mile Ditch company's irrigation ditch runs through the city of Bayard, and Bayard citizens pay nearly $12,000 taxes to the irrigation district, while very few people use the water. The city wishes to be set outside the irrigation district.
