

Highway Probe Asked by State to Learn Costs

Governor and Engineer Want to Determine Whether State or County Roads Are Most Economical.

Lincoln, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Governor McKelvie today threw down the bars to every man, woman and child in Nebraska who believes the state is spending more money on the construction of roads than the counties.

In an open letter to the Sherman county board of supervisors, the governor declared he would welcome a wholesale investigation of any or all work done by the state with federal aid in building roads to ascertain if charges emanating from a number of counties that extravagance, waste and poor judgment were the principal ingredients entering into building of state roads.

Up to Counties. In the same letter the governor asked the board to throw down their bars and permit a similar examination of road building done in Nebraska by that county and others in the state in order to satisfy the people whether the state was getting the most for its money in terms of building or whether the efficiency and economy prize should go to the county builders.

The governor's willingness for a showdown as to the truth of the charges was seconded by George Johnson, state engineer, in a letter written to the same board of supervisors.

"This department," Johnson said, "is willing to furnish half of the help and half of the cost of such an investigation, and we will be ready at any time to begin on 10 day's notice. I hope you will succeed in having a statewide investigation."

Benefit to People. "I do not believe that anything could be done at the present time that would be of more benefit to the people of the state than giving them the results of such an investigation, which would show that 95 per cent of all of the cheaper work constructed was done with equipment furnished by this department and under our supervision.

"I know the methods of accounting used by county officials, and while we are in a position to show where every dollar of the $7,000,000 state and federal aid money has been expended it would be difficult for the counties to show what they have done with the $17,500,000 they have spent as individuals for road and bridge work."

Fugitive Has Short Respite From Prison

Lincoln, Jan. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Held for two days in the Lincoln city jail on a vagrancy charge while South Dakota and Minnesota officials anxiously waited for extradition papers for him, Earl Sorenson, private detective, walked into the open air a free man this afternoon when the district court granted him a writ of habeas corpus.

As he emerged from the courtroom, N. J. Folsom, deputy state sheriff from Sioux Falls, S. D., arrested him on a fugitive-from-justice warrant on which he will be held pending the arrival of the extradition papers. Folsom announced tonight that a telegram had been received from St. Paul saying extradition papers would arrive here early in the morning.

The South Dakota charge against Sorenson is child abandonment. Folsom says more serious charges have been filed against Sorenson in Minnesota and South Dakota. Authorities will relinquish their claims.

Governor Says Gas Tax Not to Make New Jobs

Norfolk, Neb., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Gov. S. R. McKelvie in an address here guaranteed that not one payroll would be added to the state if the proposed gasoline tax goes into effect. He declared it would tend to help the general road program. The governor explained the reasons why he was calling a special session of the legislature, stating that if the legislature does what he believes it will do 25 per cent will be cut from the general state levy and that more than a million dollars will be checked off the state appropriations and will go into the general fund.

The governor declared that an answer is found for every objection to the proposed gasoline tax, stating it will not create a hardship on car owners. He declared the general state road program will be continued.

Struck by Train, Man Will Recover

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Dragged for 30 feet under the pilot of a Northwest engine, Frank Carsters, 32, escaped death. Although he is still unconscious, doctors can find only slight scalp wounds.

The accident occurred on the Main street crossing, when Carsters fell directly in the path of the freight train engine, just as it was pulling out from the station. It is believed that the man's clothing caught on the engine pilot, thus suspending him safely off the ground.

Fred Suchland, engineer, failed to realize what had happened until pedestrians yelled to him from the street. The train had proceeded for a distance of 30 feet before it was brought to a stop. It was necessary to back up the train to extricate the body.

It is believed that Carsters tripped and fell as he was crossing the railroad track.

Seward County Farmers Reduce Acreage of Corn

J. B. Kinnett of Beaver Crossing was a visitor at the stockyards, bringing in a shipment of hogs and cattle. He said there was quite a cut in the acreage of corn put in by farmers of Seward county and that most of them had planted a large acreage of wheat.

Mr. Kinnett said there was considerable livestock feeding under way in Seward county and that many of the cattle went into the feed lots and would not be shipped out until spring.

Editors Discuss Office Problems

E. P. Templin of Shelton Is Elected President of Loup Valley Association.

Grand Island, Neb., Jan. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—At a meeting of the Loup Valley Editorial Association here, E. P. Templin of the Shelton Clipper was elected president; W. J. Rood of the North Loup Loyalist, vice president, and E. P. Curran of the Greeley Citizen, secretary.

State Secretary Buck attended and reported on the proposition of the submission of a law making publication of the personal tax list mandatory to the voters at the next election through the agency of the initiative. The original proposal was made by this district some months ago. Because of considerable opposition reported by the secretary it was passed on to the state association.

The district also recommended that the state association adopt some general rule with reference to political advertising, favoring strict conformity to commercial rates, but in order to make this possible, cash with the advertising order. Losses of accounts have caused some publishers to make an extra charge for political advertising. It appeared to be the general opinion that any extra charge was unjustified provided a cash basis were adopted. The association will have its next meeting here in April.
