

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE—ROTOGRAVURE SECTION

H. M. S. HOOD.
A remarkably fine picture of Britain's magnificent super-dreadnought plowing through heavy seas at the top speed of 31 knots. The great 41,200-ton floating fortress which was completed last year at a cost of over $8,000,000 sterling is not included among those which will be scrapped under the Hughes naval disarmament proposal. Underwood.

At left—Portrait of Admiral Peary, painted by John C. Johansen, N. A., and unveiled by Kane Lodge, No. 454, F. and A. M., in the Kane-Peary trophy room, Masonic Temple, New York. Peter A. Juley.

SOMETHING YOU NEVER SAW BEFORE—the crew of a dirigible calmly smoking in perfect safety beside their craft—the new U. S. Navy blimp C-7, the first in the world to use the non-inflammable helium gas—snapped in Washington after its recent successful trial flight from Norfolk. Lieut. Commander E. F. Wood, is in the foreground smoking a cigarette, while Lieut. Sewell enjoys his pipe. E. J. E. from P. P.
