

Governor Makes Plea for Thrift to State Solons

Message to Special Session of Legislature Calls for Speedy Action by Law Makers.

(Continued From Page One.) Appropriations and ended the fiscal year, 1921, with unexpended balances on hand, which with cuts in their 1922 appropriations, made the proposed 40 per cent reduction on real property tax possible.

In justifying calling of a special session, the governor asserted that while he would like to see savings made in 1922 without a special session, actual relief in taxation in 1922 is imperative.

Special Session Cuts Taxes. "No immediate benefit would accrue by waiting for 1923, and it can only be effected by a special session reducing appropriations, as the state board of equalization is required to fix the state levy upon the full amount of appropriations that were made by the legislature and that would mean a 30 per cent reduction for the special session," the governor said.

There is the still further fact that it is to take this action now "to encourage" to other parts of government to follow course, and this should reduce retrenchments of millions of dollars among the various departments.

Bringing about these reductions should be recognized they should be made only on account of general business conditions, and not reflect needs of "expanding" in normal times.

Speaking of the demand from quarters that road building be discontinued, the governor said: "Road Building to Go On. This will be done in part whether the gasoline tax goes into effect or not, but for this suggestion to come from communities that have been fortunate enough to have their part of the road program completed appears to be very unreasonable."

The gasoline tax would enable the carrying on of a modest road building program and the state could continue to receive at least a portion of its share of federal aid.

Continuing in arguments for the gasoline tax, the governor declared the state has the machinery necessary for its collection without adding a single employe to the payroll. A dual argument for a continuation of good road building and imposition of the gasoline tax advanced by the governor follows:

Taxes for Tourists. "It is estimated that the cost of running the average automobile is $100 per 1,000 miles. Therefore, the amount of the gasoline tax is saved many times over to the automobile user in reduced cost of operating his car on good roads."

The thousands of dollars possible to collect from tourists was mentioned in the message in support of the gasoline tax. The governor estimates $100,000 will be collected annually from tourists. He also pointed out that 16 states, including democratic and former Nonpartisan league domains, have such a tax, and recommend it.

Governor McKelvie pointed to action taken by representative bankers at the Omaha meeting in declining to recommend a change in the bank guaranty law.

No Change in Bank Laws. "On account, and inasmuch as it is the state bankers who are obliged to pay the draft up on the guaranty fund, I am not disposed to recommend the consideration of any amendments," he said.

The governor said relative to providing a means of refunding Nebraska's revenue laws at the next regular session: "The constitutional convention opened the way for making extensive amendments in revenue laws. The last legislature undertook a portion of this work and provided for an intangible property tax. Much remains to be done, and it appears to me it would be wise foresight to make some provision now through the tax commissioner's department for a careful study of this question during the present year, so operations of the present laws may be carefully understood and intelligent recommendations made at the next regular session."

The governor merely mentioned the six other minor subjects to be considered and ended by recommending that the legislature conclude its work in five days.

Upper Branch Takes Stand for Economy

Lincoln, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—The state senate convened today long enough to present the reintroduction of bills, smoothing out the links of organization and get ready to rush through the business to be transacted as outlined in Governor McKelvie's call.

The upper branch at the start indicated its intention of adhering strictly to the economy program. Chairman Perry Reed, of the committee of employes, submitted his report, cutting off a large number of those regularly employed. Senator Beebe sought to have it amended to include a page and an extra stenographer. Senator Cooper made a fight to have a janitor for the upper branch tacked on. Both amendments were defeated decisively.

Cooper introduced the joint resolution calling for an investigation of highway activities and under the rules it went over for a day. Senator Noyes presented a petition from residents of Beaver Crossing in opposition to the gasoline tax.

At the afternoon session the senate approved of arrangements for printing the journal and then adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10.

Resolution on Waterway Plan Before Solons

Speedy Passage of St. Lawrence Project Is Urged in Measure Presented Special Session.

Lincoln, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—A resolution endorsing the St. Lawrence waterway project and urging upon congress the speedy passage of legislation which will "bring the Atlantic seaboard 1,500 miles inland," was introduced in the lower house of the legislature by Foster of Omaha today.

The resolution is as follows: Whereas, Nebraska and neighboring states, producing immense quantities of surplus foodstuffs, labor under a disadvantage suffered by other producing areas of similar extent, in that they are 1,500 miles from the sea and deprived thereby of the advantages of cheap water transportation, and whereas, there is now pending in congress a bill authorizing the deepening of the St. Lawrence river and the construction of dams, canals and locks which will make this stream navigable for ocean-going vessels, and

Whereas, this improvement will bring the Atlantic seaboard 1,500 miles inland and cut from 5 to 12 cents a bushel from the cost of transporting wheat to Europe, with corresponding saving of transportation costs on other commodities, this being to the great advantage of the middle west generally and the nation generally.

Therefore, be it resolved by the house of representatives of the state of Nebraska that we urge the immediate passage of legislation authorizing the construction of this waterway, in a form that will provide for the payment of its cost from the proceeds of the sale of hydro-electric power, and, furthermore, be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the senate and house of representatives at Washington, D. C., and to each United States senator and representative from Nebraska, requesting their affirmative and aggressive support for this legislation.

A similar resolution was introduced in the senate by Cooper of Omaha and was referred to the committee on roads.

McKelvie Bill Will Exempt Gas for Use on Farm

Governor Denies Intention of Seeking to Avoid Referendum—Eleven Measures Introduced.

Lincoln, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Eleven bills and covering all subjects included in the call, except the gasoline tax, were introduced either into the house or senate and referred to committees on the opening day of the special session.

The gasoline bill, which probably will be introduced tomorrow, exempts gasoline used in farm tractors or for farm use from the 1-cent a gallon tax.

It provides that the tax shall be collected through the wholesaler, who will be checked up by the present state oil inspection department, and it shall be collected by the state tax commissioner.

"Not one additional employe should be needed to collect it," the governor said.

The governor denied that he had any intention of avoiding the threatened Nonpartisan league referendum by introducing the bill as an appropriation measure because appropriation laws are exempt from referendum.

Other house bills introduced calling for reduction in appropriations submitted by the governor are: Two bills covering expense of special session; reappropriating state capital fund; amending Omaha charter in matter of assessments for special improvements; validating publications of legal notices in newspapers which neglected to comply with statutes requiring filing of affidavit as to their status in October.

The following bills were introduced in the senate: S. P. No. 1, by Warner—Corrects defect in statute covering publication of legal notices.

S. P. No. 2, by Robbins—Amendment to Omaha charter extending time of payment on assessments for improvements in Omaha.

S. P. No. 3, by Anderson—Joint resolution providing for investigation and recommendations by state tax commissioner of taxation laws of the state.

S. P. No. 4, by Committee on State Institutions—Provides for commitment of women to the new women's state reformatory.

S. P. No. 5, by Committee on State Institutions—Provides for transfer of male prisoners at state reformatory to the penitentiary as a disciplinary measure.

Whereas, Nebraska and neighboring states, producing immense quantities of surplus foodstuffs, labor under a disadvantage suffered by other producing areas of similar extent, in that they are 1,500 miles from the sea and deprived thereby of the advantages of cheap water transportation, and whereas, there is now pending in congress a bill authorizing the deepening of the St. Lawrence river and the construction of dams, canals and locks which will make this stream navigable for ocean-going vessels, and

"Flier" in Movie Costs Rich Widow $20,000

Lincoln, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Annie L. McDonald, widow of the late John W. McDonald, prominent Nebraska capitalist, testified Tuesday in district court that her little "flier" as a movie producer had cost her $20,000.

Mrs. McDonald is suing to have the three trustees of her husband's estate dismissed and compelled to give an accounting. She claims the trustees, Paul H. Holm, S. L. Gaisthardt and W. M. Leonard, prominent Lincoln business men, charged her $40,000 for their services and for office rent for the period from February 1, 1914, to August 1, 1921, when their fee should not have been in excess of $13,813, based on 5 per cent of the total income.

Mrs. McDonald denied that she had requested the trustee to give her $35,000 to permit her son to establish himself in business. She denied she had ever asked them for any additional money outside of her share of the estate.

ADVERTISMENT. GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS. If your back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract.

Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.
