alking Club Sees Pictures of the Rockies.

About 75 members of the Omaha Walking club met last Friday evenng to see some lantern slides of Rocky Mountain National park, where a dozen of the club went on walking trip last summer, Frank Byerly showed the pictures. He personally conducted the outing last summer, and many of his slides were taken at the time and included embers of the club. R. B. Gray, a club member, who moved to Chicago two months ago, is making a flying trip to Omaha today to be with the club down at their shack.

Why Garments Fade

The garment manufacturer is more interested in the relative degree of fastness of colors than anything else. At all times there are on the market dyes that differ in their prop-erties of resisting light, washing, perspiration, etc.

Therefore, the dyer must make his selection so that the resulting color will retain its general tone until the garment will no longer be wearable.

produce a desired shade and one of them, which is neces-sary to that shade, cannot be produced as a fast color dye by anyone, this one dye will soon begin to fade and the original tone of the garment will vanish.

Popular demand determines the exact shades to be worn each season, and the dyer must obey the mandate of fashion.

> Come to Our Recital Rooms and Hear the Wonderful Synchrona Reproducing Pianos

Are You Studying Voice?

For those who are studying to become singers and who are training their voices, the Synchrona Reproducing Piano is proving of great aid. Many singers find it essential that the accompaniment be under their control -and it is here that the Synchrona and its perfection are of great use.

Each Synchrona is equipped with the "Accompano," a small attachment which can be held in the hand and used to regulate the tone and metre of the piece being played.

The Synchrona is in both Grand and Upright form and may be had with the Schomacker, Emerson or Lindeman & Sons Pianes. Your present piano accepted as part payment; convenient terms arranged on the balance if

Come to our attractive recital rooms and hear the Synchrona reproduce your favorite music and note how easy it is to regulate its tone and tempo with the "Accompano." We are exclusive representatives for the Synchrona Reproducing Pianos.
