Wife Takes Stand for Man Accused in Divorce Suit

Mrs. Howard Hutton Defends Cashier Husband Charged With Being Mrs. Armstrong's Ice Man.

Howard Hutton, cashier of a Benson bank, whose name was mentioned in the Armstrong divorce case, was never "familiar" with Mrs. Arm-strong, nor was he "Mrs. Armstrong's but was loyal to his wife (centan was the testimony of Mrs. Alice Hutton, who for two hours yesterday afternoon took the witness stand and defended her husband.

"This ice delivering was a mutual agreement," testified Mrs. Hutton on direct examination. My busband did not work on Saturday afternoons and only through accommodation did he deliver ice to the Armstrongs. Armstrong was to bring us ice on Sun day if we ran short, was part of the agreement.

Families Were Friends.

Mrs. Hutton stated that the Arm strongs were considered among their best friends. Armstrong, she said, was treated as a brother. He would irequently walk into their home, she says, and would dine just as though he were a member of the family.

Mrs. Hutton denied that her hus-band delivered ice for three weeks to the Armstrong home before Arm strong was aware of it.

Mrs. Hutton also related dancing parties to which the Armstrongs were invited. Her dates and time were specific and she hesitated very little in answering questions of her attorneys.

"When I went to California I kept a diary," said Mrs. Hutton, so my husband would know just what I done and where I went."

Mrs. Hutton denied that her hus-band was devoted to Mrs. Armstrong and danced exclusively with her at

"My husband wanted to dance with all the girls," said Mrs. Hutton, but, of course, could not get around to all of them."

she and her husband frequently visited the Armstrong home. She stated that she knew Armstrong for 17 years and his wife for 18 months.

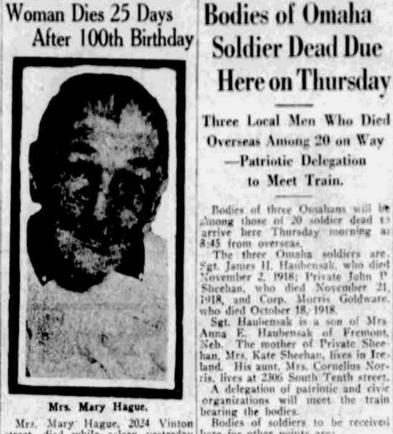

Mrs. Hutton was private secretary to Clark G. Powell for eight years, she said. She has been married for 12 years and lives at 2718 North Sixtieth street.

E. W. Dean, another "Bensonite," was the "hit" of the afternoon and brought laughter from spectators. Dean stated that he came into court to "get even with Armstrong because Armstrong's brother is alleged to have spread rumors that he (Dean) had been "stepping out" with Mrs, Armstrong.

Wants to "Get Even." Dean admitted that Armstrong denied the rumors, although a woman called Mrs. Armstrong and informed her that her husband was "familiar" with Armstrong. Dean denied the charges.

Mrs. Mary Hague, 2024 Vinton street, died while asleep yesterday morning. She had lived 25 days past her 100th birth anniversary. She had been making her home with her grandson, Louis C. Hague. GEORGE L. HOSSFELD, CHAMPION TYPEWRITER OF THE WORLD.

Here is, for the time being, the world's champion typewriter and a really useful athlete.

He beat all comers, writing steadily for one hour, 136 WORDS A MINUTE, which means twelve strokes a second.

Look at the second hand as it moves on your watch, or count 1,and realize that what it means for the human brain to order and carry out twelve different motions of the fingers in one second. There is intensified mental athletics that makes the hundred-yard dash, the pole vault or the Marathon seem slow, to say nothing of being useless.

As this young man wrote in the contest, he read and copied a story which he had not seen before, called "In God's Country." And do you realize the various operations included in that marvelous performance of twelve strokes per second.

The eye read the word. The nerves of the eye told the brain what word was to be written. The brain told the fingers what the letters were, where they were located on the machine, and the flying fingers, taking the knowledge that first came to the eye or the afferent nerves, and the order they came down the neck, the arms to the ninger tips through the effervent nerves, made the twelve strokes successfully.

He kept his mind entirely on that for one hour." That wonderful dynamo, that stored energy, the eye seeing, the brain imme diately transforming the printed word in the letters, the nerveand the muscles in the fingers carrying out the brain's orders It is difficult to conceive anything more remarkable. Young Mr. Hossfeld may well include in his daily prayer: "I will praise the Lord, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made." It takes intelligence to do good typewriting; it takes extraordinary adaptability. co-ordination of nerves and muscles, steadiness and will power to do what this young man did.

He deserves praise, as does every man who does A USEFUL THING AS WELL AS IT CAN POSSIBLY BE DONE.

QUAL, almost, to the "Wonderful Human Body" is the Underwood Typewriter, used by Mr. Hossfeld, and ALL previous world's champion typists for 16 consecutive years. It is so scientifically designed, so skillfully manufactured, that it responds with unerring accuracy even at the marvelous speed of 12 strokes per second.
