

Norris Willing to Let Farmers Organize Trust

Nebraska Accuses Opponents of Co-Operative Bill of "Hair Splitting"—Raps Supreme Court.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Declaring that the federal anti-trust laws had failed to accomplish the purposes for which they were drawn, Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, told the senate today that he was willing to give the farmer "authority to form any kind of an association for the buying or selling—and let them get into the game too." He added that opponents of the co-operative marketing bill which the senate is considering were devoting their time to "hair-splitting."

"I do not see why we should discriminate against the farmer," said the Nebraska senator. "We have had trusts and they have been dissolved and are still doing business at the same old stand. Let the farmer get into it for they cannot do anything worse than already has been done and is being done by the others."

Mr. Norris asserted that the Standard Oil interests had been held to be a trust by the supreme court of the United States, but that dissection has not broken their control. He declared the United States steel corporation, although given "a clean bill of health" by the supreme court of the United States, "controls prices and everybody knows it controls prices."

"I say 'everybody' knows it controls prices," he continued. "I should have exempted the supreme court of the United States. Its members have not yet found it out."

It required half an hour for the senate to get a quorum when it met today, an hour earlier than usual. Mr. Norris, commenting on this, observed that it was "not surprising that senators did not show up, since they knew I was going to speak."

Continuing, Mr. Norris said he was glad to see that some senators were remaining in the chamber and added that he did not know whether it was due to their interest in the measure, "or whether they have seen the light of the approaching election."

Reduced Train Service Opposed

Mass Meeting at Albion Shows Citizens Unanimous Against Plan of U. P.

Albion, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—Vigorous protest was voiced at a mass meeting here against the curtailment of trains on the Albion and Spaulding branches of the Union Pacific as proposed by the company. The meeting asserted that it was relegating them back to the service of 30 or 40 years ago.

The protest is general over Boone, Nance and Greeley counties. Large delegations will attend the hearing on the state railway commission at Columbus February 9 to file protests. Every town on the branch will be represented, as will the Farmers unions and shippers' associations.

At the mass meeting it was pointed out that under the proposed changes it will require 24 hours to get from Omaha to Albion and return. It is charged that business correspondence will be delayed 24 hours.

The plan of the railroad is to substitute a motor car for the present passenger train. The motor will carry mail or baggage. One freight train will also serve the branch.

The feeling of indignation against the proposed change is the most widespread and unanimous ever voiced against any project. The people insist it is an insult to offer the proposed service in view of the revenue received from the territory.

Gooch Mercantile Company Incorporated at Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—Articles of incorporation of the Gooch Mercantile company were filed in the office of D. M. Amsherry, secretary of state. The purpose of the corporation will be to buy, sell and manufacture food products. The company's stock is $1,000,000, one-half of which is preferred stock. The other half is common stock. The officers are: H. E. Gooch, president; F. E. Roth, vice president; C. E. Masterman, secretary; E. B. Foster, treasurer. Headquarters of the corporation are in Lincoln.

Schools at David City Install Electric Clock

David City, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—An electric clock, made to sound gongs and buzzers throughout the high school building, has been installed. It is a five-program clock and is run on the city current. It is set to sound the gongs and buzzers from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m. Three programs are being used at present, one for the high school, one in the grades and the other for the gongs outside.

Indian Chief to Be Laid to Final Rest in White Man's Coffin

Cass Lake, Minn., Feb. 8.—Plans were made to close all business here tomorrow during the funeral of G. B. Nah-Gawn-Wonce. Chipewas Indian chief, who died yesterday in his 138th year. He will be buried from a white man's church and in a white man's casket and the whites here will pay tribute to the Indian whose wigwag stood on the shores of Cass lake long before the white man came to this region.

Postmistresses at School

Three fair postmistresses lent special interest to the second school for postal officials, which opened yesterday in Postmaster Charles E. Black's office.

Miss Mary M. Gleason, Platte Center; Miss Lillian M. Casad, Bartley; and Mrs. Nellie L. Müller, Rulo, are the interesting trio.

Being a woman is no disadvantage to holding the postal job, they say. "Except that we can't sit around and chew tobacco and smoke and spit and talk like most men who hang around expect the postmaster to do," Miss Casad stipulated.

Bryan Followers Say Osterman Is Being Made 'Goat'

Dawson County Farmers Prove Value of Bureau

Seven Dollars Returned for Each Dollar Spent for Farm Agent—Taxpayers Approve Move.

Lexington, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—Five hundred people attended a meeting in Lexington at the request of the Taxpayers league. The Taxpayers league was organized two weeks ago for the purpose of reducing taxes. In advertising the meeting the Taxpayers league asked the members of the Dawson County Farm bureau to show reasons why the county agent and club leader should be retained.

E. E. Young, president of the farm bureau, reported on the accomplishments of the farm bureau for the past four years. He showed that for each dollar spent for farm bureau work that seven dollars were returned to the people as a savings or a profit. Mr. Young said: "I am in sympathy with the reduction of taxes and I am a taxpayer of this county, but I stand for constructive reduction and not destructive reduction. Since approximately 75 per cent of the taxes of this county are paid by farmers and since agriculture is the most important industry in the county, I believe we should spend some money in the improvement of this industry in Dawson county. Over eight hundred and forty-one thousand dollars are raised as taxes which comes directly or indirectly from agriculture, while $5,000 is being used to improve and build up agriculture."

"Action by the president and congress recently has given us assurance that the project is going ahead soon."

League May Break New Party Slate

Sorenson Making Determined Effort to Gain Endorsement of Howell.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—The likelihood of breaking the political slate of official leaders of the new third party by the Nonpartisan league at its annual meeting here February 22 was under discussion today in political circles.

That C. A. Sorenson, Nonpartisan league attorney and staunch supporter of R. B. Howell, may attempt to get the league to endorse the Howell candidate, despite the official approval of Howell by J. H. Edmiston, state chairman of the third party, was looked upon as a possibility.

From the first Sorenson disapproved of the third party movement and insisted that the league pursue its old tactics of endorsing candidates in the two old parties.

Arthur G. Wray with Edgar Howard and others overrode Sorenson's objections and Sorenson finally joined, half-heartedly, in the third party movement.

Then at Grand Island came the capture of official positions in the third party by oldtime populists with Edmiston at the head and former Nonpartisan league leaders playing minor chords.

As affairs stand at present, the old-time populists have the appearance of controlling the machinery, but the real machinery, the third party paper and the Nonpartisan mailing list, is in the possession of Sorenson.

Sorenson made one unsuccessful attempt last week to get Howell on the third party ticket. As to whether he will lead a fight to get the league leaders to endorse Howell's candidacy, go into the primaries and demand republican ballots to insure Howell's nomination is the question which the league meeting will answer.

Marsh Holds Up Expense Claim of Gus Miller

Auditor Seeks Verification of Auto Hire Bills—Reformatory Head Denies Dances Held.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special).—Claims amounting to $195.84 for automobile hire, presented to the state for payment by Gus Miller, superintendent of the men's reformatory, are being held up by State Auditor George Marsh. Marsh also is holding up a $135 allowance for sustenance for the Miller family and an allowance for $100 for sustenance of the family of Bert Anderson, assistant superintendent.

Miller stated today that the officials in using their own cars for official purposes charged the state 8 cents a mile.

"All other officials using privately owned cars charge the same amount to the state," Miller said. "We have been forced to make many trips in the last month because we are just completing the preparation of the reformatory to house several hundred men. We will not need to use our cars so much this month."

Miller has a wife and four children and Anderson a wife and one child. The state in employing them agreed to provide a home and sustenance for them the same as heads of other state institutions.

Miller denied reports that he had given a series of dances for inmates of the institution and Lincoln girls attended.

"One night we did have a party for the negro boys," he said, "and there were five negro women who danced with them. Two of the women were married and their husbands were with them and the others were chaperoned."

"However, there will be no more of these dances. I have decided they are not the proper thing for the boys."

Marsh declared he would withhold payment of vouchers until he was convinced so much travel by officials was necessary.
