THE OMAHA BEE

DAILY (MORNING)-EVENING-SUNDAY THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY NELSON B. UPDIKE, Publisher

B. BREWER, General Manager MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated Press, of which The Res is a member, is ex-sively splitted to the use for republication of all news dispatched died to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches are also reserved.

The Omaha Ree is a reamber of the Audit Bureau of Class lations, the recognized authority on circulation audits.

The circulation of The Omaka Bee SUNDAY, FEB. 5, 1922 78,646 THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 7th day of February, 1922. (Seal) W. H. QUIVEY, Notary Public

BEE TELEPHONES Private Branch Exchange, Ask for the Department or Ferson Wanted. For Night Calls After 10 P. M.: Editorial Department, AT lantic 1021 or 1942. AT lastic OFFICES

Main Office-17th and Farnam Co. Biuffs-15 Scott St. South Side-4926 S. 24th St. New York-284 Fifth Ave. Washington-1211 G St. Chicago-1216 Wrigley Bldg. Paris, France-420 Rue St. Honore

The Bee's Platform

1. New Union Passenger Station. 2. Continued improvement of the Ne-braska Highways, including the pave-ment with a Brick Surface of Main Thoroughfares leading into Omaha.

3. A short, low-rate Waterway from the Corn Belt to the Atlantic Ocean.

4. Home Rule Charter for Omaha, with City Manager form of Government.

St. Lawrence Canal Gains Support.

The headway gained by the project for the lakes-to-ocean waterway via the St. Lawrence river is carrying opposition before like a tidal wave sweeping over driftwood. This does not mean that the battle is over yet, for the interests of New York and other Atlantic coast ports that are affected by the move are too deeply rooted to be easily overcome. What is true, though, is that as often as the project is fairly presented to a representative gathering of men of the region that will gain most from the construction of the canal, it gets endorsement.

General Goethals, now out of the army and practicing his profession in New York, has recorded his opinion to the effect that the St. Lawrence canal is unnecessary. Against this projectors of the canal offset the fact that General Goethals is concerned in improvements of the New York harbor, and therefore is not the most competent witness as to what is needed elsewhere to improve ocean-borne traffic conditions. What is omitted in such discussions usually is the fact that the New York gateway is inadequate to the needs of the whole country, and even if it were capable of handling all the traffic, it would be unwise to create a monopoly there. Improvements in New York harbor facilities are sorely needed, as it is far from being up-to-date in its arrangements for handling freight, either incoming or outgoing. Moreover, with the best of equipment available, there yet remains business enough to tax the New York harbor, even with its prospective extension fully completed.

It was not intended that the lakes-to-ocean waterway should have a sectional aspect, because it is believed that it will be good, not only for the region where it is getting such general support, but for the whole country, and indirectly for the world. The same considerations that reconciled the middle west to the Panama canal project are applicable to the St. Lawrence plan. It will lessen the cost of transportation, shorten the distance from one part of the world to another, and permit a greater portion of the result of productive effort to be devoted to the proper use of wealth, that of providing for the comfort of the producers.

The atmosphere at Washington is very favorable for the canal just now, and the leaders of the movement are confident that preliminaries will not be permitted to unnecessarily delay the active work of building the dams and locks needed to permit ocean-going vessels to steam inland a thousand miles further from tidewater than they now reach.

Saving Some of the Navy.

Secretary Denby and heads of the naval bureaus are hoping to enlist the president in interest of the department, which is threatened with all but extinction by some enthusiasts in congress. Limitation of naval armament has been agreed upon, but that is not taken to mean the entire and utter abandonment of the navy. If we are to preserve the force that was alloted to the United States by the Washington conference, it will be necessary to retain some officers and men to look after the vessels, whether in commission or not. The secretary makes the showing that the personnel is already far below that allowed by law, and is less than Great Britain's and proportionately less than that of Japan. He asks to be permitted, not to expand unduly the number of men engaged in the service, but to retain those already in to the end that vessels that must be kept can be properly looked after, and the ordinary routine duties of the navy in time of peace be carried on. This does not appear to be an unreasonable request. Congress may be looked to with confidence that it will curb any tendency toward extravagance in the navy, but it ought not to be asked by the people to incur possible waste by limiting too closely the number of men employed in working the ships. It is not a raid on the treasury that is threatened but a raid on the safety of the nation.

Relentless War on the Rat.

One immigrant from Europe who lost little or no time in becoming Americanized is the common gray rat. That is, he is common because there are so many of him. He is not migratory by nature, his preference being for the vicinity of his birth, and his distribution is accidental and not by reason of any inclination of his own to wander. He came to this country on board ship, where he had been caught up with the cargo on which he preyed. He has been transported in like manner from one part of the land to another, until no section is free from him. Destructive and dangerous, because he gnaws containers to get at his food, because he carries disease, and expensive, because it costs hundreds a millions each year to maintain him in the style he is accustomed to, the rat is about the least desirable of all the country's inhabitants. Health Commissioner Pinto advises Omaha folks to wage war on the vermin by any method that will destroy him. One of the discouraging phases of the problem is just how to get at the rat. He is wary, and to defeat him requires both vigilance and strategy. Yet the pursuit is laudable, for each rat killed means the subtraction from the whole not only his individual life, but those of his progeny.

The crusade has been preached for several ears. In certain American seaports energetic efforts have well nigh exterminated the rat, but the authorities have not let up any because of that fact. It will be well in Omaha to have the campaign organized, and carried on systematically and persistently, for the rat easily outlives sporadic attacks. Unremitting and relentless war is the only way to get rid of him.

Time for a Show Down.

Another Omaha policeman has been shot and killed by unknown miscreants.

Another Omaha boy is dead because of careless handling of firearms. Nights in Omaha are getting to resemble nights on Broadway, or the scenes in a wild west movie thriller. There should be a way to repress the disorder that is now prevalent. Mild measures appear to have no deterrent effect on the disorderly and unruly. The Bee does not delude itself by thinking Omaha a "Sunday school town," but it does believe that Omaha can be made peaceable and reasonably safe for home-loving

This will call for extra efforts on part of the police. Also for full cooperation between all peace officers, courts included. Whatever the cause for the existing situation, it should be removed. Thugs must be taught that Omaha is not a healthy place for them. That is the business before the authorities. Passing the buck and playing politics is not good for the com-

The arrest, prosecution and conviction of few of the gunmen and black-jack wielders will go a long way to restoring a confidence that is shaken every day by the record of murder, assault and robbery citizens are now confronted with. A few long prison terms will do more than many promises.

The time has come for a show down.

Pepper and the Democrats.

One inclined to be facetious might extract quite a little amusement out of the spectacle of the democrats reacting in a mass to the speech of Senator Pepper. However, this may be left to others, while we look at the situation from another angle. Senator "Pat" Harrison from time to time rises in his place, and proceeds to lambast the republican party from president down, scoring its root and branch, past, present and future, and wins the approving plaudits of his party. Senator "Jimmy" Reed puts on a fireworks display every now and then, and democratic admiration for his performance is unbounded, his colleagues forgetting that he is the same "Jimmy" Reed who was thrown out of the convention at San Francisco, although he had twice been elected as a delegate by his constituents at Kansas City. Then Heflin, and Tom Watson and others of the ilk take frequent opportunity to abuse everybody connected with the republican party, couching their remarks in the chaste and elegant diction for which they have become noted, and it is all right. Democrats perk up all over the land, and do not say, "'Ear, 'ear!"

How different it all becomes when a republican pauses for a moment to call attention to the shortcomings of a democrat! Then it is that an outraged sense of senatorial dignity rears up and demands that the remarks be expunged from the record. Senator Pepper has not served long in his present capacity, but he will be handled with care hereafter by the honorable gentlemen on the other side.

Justice, a Jury, and a Woman.

Once more the unexpected has happened, and woman has been found guilty of murder, a jury in Council Bluffs having voted to convict Mrs. Eva King. This was her second trial on the charge, so it may be assumed that she had the benefit of every possible defense, and that her able attorneys left nothing undone that would influence the jury in her favor. This warrants the further assumption that the facts developed by the prosecution left no room for doubt as to the guilt of the accused. All this being true, it may be asked why any especial attention is paid to the outcome. The reason is that it is so seldom a jury will bring in a verdict of guilty when a woman is defendant. Call it chivalry, "sex appeal," or whatever you wish, the fact remains that men are very reluctant to visit punishment on a woman, no matter how heinous her offense or how certain the proof of her guilt. Justice does not distinguish between sexes, however, and there is no warrant for releasing a woman merely because she is a woman. Many times sad experience has shown that a woman can be even more difficult to deal with than a man, once she has directed her gifts to a criminal career. No possible pleasure can be derived from seeing anyone sent to prison, but some grim satisfaction may be extracted from contemplating a jury that has its sense of justice sufficiently developed to convict a woman when the facts are against her.

The wonder girl is not so much different from other girls, after all. She received $1,000 for her engagement at a local theater, and spent most of it for dresses.

If the Omaha city commission should go on record in favor of light wines and beer, that would settle the question-for the commission.

Just now certain Omaha experts are in search of a perfect back. We know some folks that are exhibiting an awful front.

Chicago is to have a law enforcement commissioner, but it would be better, perhaps, to have a little law enforcement.

It is significant of something to note that the air is being overcrowded with radio messages.

At least the movie actors can not complain that they never had a chance. A perfect back is a good asset, however de-

Democratic senators are very touchy at times,

Slogan for the day: "Get the gunmen!"

THE HUSKING BEE -It's Your Day ---Start It With a Laugh

O woman, your day of performance has come, Be careful to use it aright,

The whole world is watching each move that you make, And if you should fail-well, good night!

For centuries you have been poking sty fun At mere man's exertions and blunders, Look well to your laurels, don't speed up too

If you would produce any wonders.

Of course we admit that you once were enslaved, Your intellect treated with scorn, But why should you care, now your title is clear To any place you would adorn?

Yet if you are really bent on success, Go carefully, carefully, madam! The laws have not changed in the universe, dear, Since Eve gave the apple to Adam.

-May C. Wright.

PHILO-SOPHY. Hope is the best nerve tonic for ambition.

Our favorite magazine has reduced its rates, notifying us that it has but recently received a cargo of newsprint paper from Sweden. The English language seems to show up as well as could be expected on this Swedish paper.

Unusual accident happened on a Dundee car the other evening-fellow had his eye on a seat and a lady came in and sat down on it.

"Perhaps the reason some women keep their age so well," mused the corner philosopher, gaz-ing around the theater, "is because they never

EVENING DRESS. "There is a masquerade tonight, What will you wear, my dear?"
"Oh," quoth the maiden, "I'm all right, I'll wear my lavalliere."

When a man stoops to pick up a banana peel he is bent on doing good.

YES, YES, BUT WHAT DOES IT MEAN? Ancient Custom of "TT" On Cuming Street at Booze "Joinreating" Resumed—Headline over 'Investigator's story in last Sunday's Daily

Movie actors and actorettes are getting an opportunity to see 'emselves as others see 'em,

"Peggy Joice Will Write Story of Her Life" -Bee Line. Is there anything left that the newspapers haven't told?

> PRACTICE. Man had small chance to shovel snow This year-no paths were dug, But spring will come when he may go And beat the parlor rug; And beating rugs is exercise At which no fun we poke— We recommend it to the guys Who would improve their stroke.

SEEIN' THINGS AT RED OAK.

Gleenwood, Iowa. Dear Philo: In regard to the item regarding abbits with long, stiff horns being found in large numbers at Red Oak, Ia., and the remark that Red Oak must serve some real "red eye." look back a few days and see that quite a bunch of fellows over there were suspicioned of peddling hootch and one guy was thought to be bringing it in with an airship.

Only last summer a man from here was traveling south of that town one night and says he saw a dead man in the road ahead of him. He stopped the car so suddenly that it stood straight up on the front wheels until he reached back and pushed it down. When he took an officer and went back next day, nothing could be found except a track that looked like a wounded alligator had crossed the road where he saw the corpse. The fringe on the rear auto seat turned pure white during the night .- P. H. D.

EXCITEMENT AT GOTH.

Gothenburg, Neb. Dear Philo: Whether or not it is permissible to voice appreciation of "Philo's" wit and wisdom, I am' in doubt, but as it's a stimulant on which humor thrives, here's how his AFTER-THOUGHT, following "Home Brew" last Sunday was appreciated at our ranch.

First the tea table shook till weak in the legs, which started a "tempest in the teapot"the fire grew faint, the tea kettle bubbled over, the water became thin, the tea rose in spirit, the cups sounded cracked, the toast made the butter the buns turned to currant events, and the cake "fell" for Philo-Dad blew out, the "kid" howled-and the queen gave thanks for the kick n home brew, that turned the last trick in favor of you. Yours truly, -Jay See Bee.

Appreciation is the Fairy Godmother of in-

S. O. S.

Dear Philo: Can any of the brethren tell me what to do about this? Received a handpainted, blue celluloid necktie box for Christmas. The thing had bum hinges and a capacity of about two small ties which it would ruin if left in it over night. I gave it to another friend last week for a birthday present. Friend No. 2 has invited the other two of us, among others, to his room Friday night to a poker encounter. He keeps the necktie box I gave him on his chif-fonier. Wire collect.—X. P. O.

Last week was fathers' and sons' week. The other 51, we take it, belong to mother and the

ISN'T IT THE STUFF? Weather prophets have a saw To fit most every clime and season-

AFTER-THOUGHT: The difference beween is and was is intense.

Some lawyer has a foolish reason.

Ten Fat Years

For the next ten years there is to be no war between any of the great powers. The mere statement carries with it a feeling of incredibil-Had the old Germany been included that eeling would have been well founded. But without her, none of the great powers has any desire for aggressive warfare, and without aggression there need be no defensive warfare. The powers all want peace. They want to be assured of it. and to obtain that assurance they have striven to remove the causes of war. China and Japan might have gone to war over Shantung, only to reach an agreement in the end. That agreement has been reached in the beginning, and there is no need for war on that question. All the Pacific slands were potential causes of war in a race for the mastery of the Pacific. That mastery has been achieved, but instead of one master there are four, and these four have agreed not to fight, but to settle disputes at a conference table .-

New York Commercial. Ups and Downs of Automobiling.

expert says that by 1925 gasoline will be up to 50 cents a gallon, but if the prices of cars keep on their present course, the net cost of riding ought not to change much.—Detroit Free Press,

How to Keep Well

Questions concerning hygiene, sanita-tion and prevention of disease, sub-mitted to Dr. Evens by readers of The Bee, will be answered personally subject to proper limitation, where a stamped, addressed envelope is en-closed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Address letters in care of The Bee.

Copyright, 1921, by Dr. W. A. Evans THE INHERITANCE OF LEGS.

In this day, when the bolsheviki ase raising cain in Russia, the Indians and Egyptians are erupting daily, and the lid seems determined to blow all over the world, there are two groups of people who are so we groups of people who are so busy with their own fleas that they have no time to worry about the fleas that bite the world. The two groups are the bowlegged women and the youths of both sexes who are rebellious about I can understand the case of the bowlegged women. Only I wish they would not write to me about About all I can tell them to do to have patience. The day is oming when the dressmakers will se more cloth.

But when the group of stature ebels write, I am at my wits' end.
I hope some of them will read this, since it is intended for then The impulse to grow is inherited. Likewise, we inherit a growth pat-tern. We "take after" one, and sometimes both parent, or maybe is a grandparent.

Occasionally an individual will have his growth schedule handed him long before his birth by some great grandparent, and he will come into the world destined to disre-gard the examples of his parents and grandparents, and stop growing as a chunky built man, because some great-grandparent handed out that pattern.
But that information is about as unsatisfying to the growth rebels as it is to the scientists. Admitted that that is the result, they still ask: "What is the machinery?"

A great many experiments have been made in efforts to find the sn-Here are a few of the discoveries today: The organ most concerned with growth is the pituitary body. It, and especially the front half of it. has much to do with the growth of the bones and muscles, and those dent remains unmoved by the storms of reproach to which he is being etermine stature.

his policies.

What's the Matter With the Farmer?

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 8.—To the Editor of The Bee: "What's the matter with the farmer?" Those who in a personal way. The result is that the farmer has been pretty well confirmed in the idea that he is "down trodden." always "getting the dirty end of the stick," and "that the whole world is a combination to be the best him."

tion to best him." I have been a country doctor for 29 years and voiced their woes. Among the farm-

The farmer is bucking a stiff game; he fights the weather, and he has to take a market price over cause of this he has degenerated into the premier "kicker" of the universe. When I got back from France in 1919, and during that wonderful year (as far as ready money was concerned) with wheat at $2.25 and corn at $1.80, there was an enormous amount of kicking among the farmers because of the know these people intimately, too, have been silent when t half enough to eat.

which he has had little co

The rapid changes at puberty time of reproach to which he is being are due to a reaction between the subjected and also feel that he will are due to a reaction between the gonads and the pituitary. The pineal gland has a good deal to do with growth in childhood. So does the thymus.

The thyroid gland serves to restrain growth or to hold it in cheek.

strain growth or to hold it in check.
I refer to bony growth.
Feeding thyroid, in addition to its effect on stature, causes the liver, kidneys, spleen, lymph glands and adrenals to grow large. It causes adrenals to grow large. It causes the thyroid gland to decrease in live among them and who are de-pendent upon their good will are afraid to tell them. Those who

The thyroid has a good deal to do afraid to tell them. Those who with growth of hair, skin and nails live in the cities rarely meet them The parathyroid glands have nothing to do with growth. Feeding parathyroid in no way affects the size of rats, nor the size of any of their organs.

of their organs.

The rate of growth can be considerably modified by very radical modifications of the diet. The best known of these modifications is leaving out the fat soluble. A vitamine from the diet for a consider-able period of time. ing class there are people of great intelligence, broad vision, big hearts If none of it is given, the subjects develop sore eyes. If some is given, but not eqough, they become underand cultured minds. But the farmer as a class is not so. As a class he is intensely self-centered, egosized and illy nourished.

However, experiments made in the Philippines indicate that it is tistical and ignorant of the world outside his sphere. It is not un-common to hear him remark that pretty hard permanently to runt animals by even the grossest underthe people in town have "not paid for their clothes" and "do not have feeding.

As Mitchell, Mendel and Osh say, the desire of a young animal for food is something more than for satisfaction of calorie needs. The demand made by the growth impulse must be met by proper chemi-cal constitution. This means that this growth pattern, inherited from an ancestor, and this growth impulse which all young animals have, drive one to get the proper food later, if not sooner.
Eating and diet and all such are of minor importance in establishing adult size, and so is exercise. Of quack methods are #### course, the straight fakes. Glasses for Child.

Mrs. V. A. A. writes: "My little girl, age 2, was scalded with hot water a little over a month ago. Now she is completely cured, but about two weeks ago we found out that her eyes are a little crooked. I have taken her to an eye hespital. have taken her to an eye hospital, and she seems to be the same. She has always been a healthy baby. I would like to know if she will re-main this way, or is there any way Doctors say it was of curing her. Doctors say it was caused from fright and nervous-

REPLY. It is possible that a nervous spell was a factor in causing your child's eyes to cross.

Inability to merge the images in the two retinas and improperly bal-As soon as it is feasible have the child wear glasses. A few years of wearing properly fitted glasses will cure most cases of crossed eyes if the treatment is carried out before the child is 8 years old.

Oysters for Goiter. V. R. writes: "1. What foods or regetables contain fodine or its equivalent that might be eaten to reduce the goiter tendency of an 8year-old girl instead of the free, unorganized sodium iodide in chemi-

2. What foods have alkali reaction suitable for a 70-year-old man affected with superacidity, but otherwise strong and healthy?"

REPLY. 1. Oysters and other foods from salt water.
2. Vegetables and fruits.

CENTER SHOTS.

"That schoolgiril complexion" is artificial, too.-Pittsburgh Gazette-Two pints once made a quart; low two yeast cakes make a quart.

-Flint Journal. Collins and Craig must be ball players. Neither one of them has any use for an umpire.—Saginaw

The farmer needs more dollars Evening World.

News-Courier.

China is finding the lessee powers more disposed to re-lease than to release.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Through steel drawing-room sleeping cars, steel coaches and dining-ear service.

The great Shackleton died, it said, with his arctics on .-Philadelphia Record. Rumor is defined as a "flying report," but that "f" in flying seems superfluous.—Greenville (S. C.)

"Her hair is always exquisitely dressed and her shoes in perfect shape. No more in the way of dress is required of any woman."—London Daily Mirror, Britain's balmy climate.-Syracuse Herald.

The Bee's Letter Box

to criticize and oppose the repub-lican party. This fact, no doubt, inspired the late Col. R. G. Ingersoll to refer to hell as the final home democrats who were far too good for their party, but he never knew one who was worse. For the last two months we have been a daily

Harding and His Critics.

Wahoo, Neb., Feb. 7 .- To the prices, Wahoe, Neb., Feb. 7.—To the Editor of The Bee; How natural and easy it seems to be for a demo-cratic newspaper, no doubt receiving its inspiration from democratic congressmen, to criticize the administration. This administration will not go into history as unique in this respect. All along the more than three score years of the writer's experience the sole purpose of the typical democratic organ has been to criticize and oppose the repub-The trouble with the farmer is and no general help to the farmer as a class. His co-operative stores have been able to sell little if any cheaper than the ordinary mer-chant. There has been no profit to him unless he held stock. In most has sought to eliminate competition especially in the matter of grain exto his knitting and leave the mid-dleman alone. The middleman has dleman alone. just as much a right to a legitimate reader of your contemporary, the World-Herald, especially of its edi-torial column, and we can cheerfully existence as the farmer. When the farmers get together testify that in that time the editor has devoted more space to criticism they elect some farmer to lead them. He is as a rule some retired of the president and congress than to all other subjects combined.

In view of the present political situation in which the paper's owner and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate served a term or two in the state and publisher is a candidate. served a term or two in the state legislature. He is in no sense of the for re-election to the United States legislature. senate, would it not be wise to call his henchman off and permit a few word the kind of man they need to lead them—a big business man. When you go into any of these of his republican friends to vote for him, inasmuch as it will be very prosperous eastern Nebraska towns, necessary if the senator is to retain what do you find? A very good perhis seat for another term. Republican states like Nebraska do some-lican states like Nebraska do some-times, because of local friction, elect lican states like Nebraska do sometimes, because of local friction, elect democrats to office. The writer has had a kindly feeling for Senator Hitchcock and has spoken a good many kind words and made some excuses for him, and if the state is to have a democratic senator we prefer the senator to any other. We have never so far analogized for the
have never so far analogized for the
have never so far analogized for the large residences are occupied by relited of fremers." Are these old men? They are not. Many of them are "young" inen in the prime of life, 40 to 50 years old, who have got tired of getting the dirty end of the stick" and have moved to town, built a beautiful home and will live off the interest on their investments for 20 have never so far analogized for the have never so far apologized for the to 40 years before they die, policy, political or otherwise, of the The farmer will never get policy, political or otherwise, of the paper, nor will we as long as its the woods until he changes his eneditor persists in transferring bodily editorials always in criticism of the administration from the New tism, his chronic grouch, his inabit-York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, both Pullras news tisms to combine for the common good ity to combine for the common good Dispatch, both Pulitzer papers and both claiming distinction as mouthpleces of the late lamented demo-cratic administration and both to show him the way out of cratic administration and both vituperative toward Mr. Harding and wilderness and he should not be afraid to look outside his own calling for such a leader. "A COUNTRY DOCTOR." However, those of us who believe in fairness in politics as in other things feel somewhat compensated by reason of the fact that our presi-

MOMENTS OF MIRTH. .

Beggar-Please give a poer old blinan a dime. Beggee-Why, you can see out of one Beggar-Well, then, give me a nickel.— Sun Dodger.

Alice—Have you written to that won-derful man you became engaged to at the seaside? Virginis—I've intended to all along, but I can't think of his name.—The American Legion Weekly.

"Are you not in favor of peace?"
"I refuse to be quoted," replied Senator Sorghum. "It has gotten so that a man can't mention 'peace' without getting into some kind of an argument."—Washington Mother—ito Betty who has been sent heme owing to indisposition of school-mistress)—But I hone you were sorry poor Miss Pringle was il."

Betty—Oh, I was, mother, but I couldn't help clapping my hands under my breath."—Punch (London).

N. Y. State Anti-Trust Law

Held Unconstitutional Buffalo, New York, Feb. 10 .- The Donnelly state anti-trust act was declared unconstitutional in a decision

MAKES SHORT WORK of Pain. Sloans for rheumatism lumbago sciatica neuralgia sprains, strains weak backs stiff joints

At all druggists, 35c, 70c, $1.40 Sloans Liniment (Pain

> Makes Sick Skins Well one of Dr. Hobson's Pamily Remedies. For a clear, besithy complexion use freely Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment

GULBRANSEN PLAYER PIANO

A.Hospe Co.

The Art and Music Store 1513-15 Douglas Street

Legal Holiday

Monday, February 13th, 1922, the following offices will observe Lincoln's Birthday:

The Bankers Savings and Loan Association The Commercial Savings and Loan Association The Conservative Savings and Loan Association

The Nebraska Savings and Loan Association The Omaha Loan and Building Association The Prudential Savings and Loan Association

The State Savings & Loan Association

high price of what they had to buy. although they personally were prof-Swing Frames for Photos

$4.00 and $5.00 Values for $2.50

Three Manufacturers' Lines Are Included in This Sale. Gold, Gray and Bronze Tones in All the Standard Sizes.

A Hospe Window Sale

Includes Art Glass, Setting

and Delivery.

A Swing Frame Affords the One Best Setting for a Photo and Gives It the Atmosphere of Portraiture. If a Photo Is Worth Saving-FRAME IT!

A. Hospe Co

A New Through Train to

Ar. Buffalo (via Wabash) ..... 2:50 a.m.

Additional through steel coach service. Lv. Cla cago 11:25 p. m. daily; Ar. Detroit 7:25 a. m.; Ar. Buffalo 5:10 p. m.; Ar. New York 7:15 a. m. Lowest fares apply via Wabash-Lackawanna Route.

coaches and dining-car service. No excess fares on any train. To Detroit: Two splendid trains from Chicago, 10:30 a. m. and 11:25 p. m. For particulars write H. C. Shields, Division Pass, Agent, 1909 Harney St., Omaha, Neb.

WABASH

and Lackawanna Railroad

