Charity Ball Is Social and Financial Success

In a season largely devoid of formal dances the ball Thursday evening for the Salvation Army Rescue home came as "the gentle rain from heaven." The Fontenelle ball room was comfortably crowded, as were the card rooms, which proved unusually popular. Evening gowns in the brilliant shades popular this season, jade, tangerine and half a dozen fuschia, made a striking and colorful scene. Among those who wore fuschia were Mrs. C. T. Kountze, Mrs. George Prinz, Mrs. Harkness Kountze, Miss Josephine Congdon and Miss Mildred Weston. Wallace Sheperd's versatile jaze orchestra provided the music. Sheperd's versatile jazz orchestra provided the music, William Riggie and Bobbie Tremaine the dancers who are appearing at the Orpheum this week put on two of their clever dances, Riggie, who is among the foremost of Russian folk dancers, appearing in a solo, and a few minutes later with Miss Tremaine in an impressionistic tango. Doughnuts and coffee were served during the evening from a long table at the end of the ball room, and one man who saw service overseas, as he helped himself to a "sinker," presented Mrs. W. A. Fraser and Mrs. Blanche Paterson, who were in charge, with a greenback, "to pay for the doughnuts the Salvation Army fed him in France."

Two hundred and fifty people were at the dinner dance at the Fontenelle preceding the dance, and flowers, candles, kewpies and other valentine decorations made the main dining room gay. The committee estimates that 500 tickets were sold, although all the proceeds will not be in for a tew days. Mrs. Henry Wyman was chairman of the affair and the funds will go to furnish nursery equipment for the rescue home on Eighteenth and Grace streets, which is badly in need of such supplies.

Avoid Imitations & Substitutes

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been reading your column for some time, and think your advice is spiendid. I have written to you just once before, about a year ago, followed your advice on a question which was girl. Sincerely, MARILYNN.

troubling me at that time, and have been glad of it ever since.

So may I have a little space in your column to express my opinion about these very fittingly named and in the things the boys them-

"petting parties" which so many of the girls complain about?

I am 19 years old, an Omaha girl, a high school graduate, and work in an office. I am not beautiful, but have a cheerful disposition, and though I use a little rouge and powder I can depend upon my good health for pink cheeks and clear skin.

I was always interested in ath-letics, and most of my boy friends are athletes and are regular pals to me. With them I have dined and dnaced at Omaha's best hotels and are true, you need more good advice than I can give you in these columns. I would consider the young man who took you home very bad company. You certainly should return the ring belonging to the boy you used to go with. Thousands clubs. One of these boys took me for my first aeroplane ride (it was for my first acropians to the wonderful); another taught me how to handle a canoe or rowboat in the roughest water; they have taught me how to ride horseback, to swim, to drive a car and to do most anyto drive a car and to do most anything that they take an interest in. I am never without a compilmentary ticket to Omaha's big football, baseball or basket ball games, and I understand all of them. I have never asked these boys to do anything for me or to take me any place—it has all been done of their own accord, and I have never kissed any of them.

own accord, and I have never kissed any of them.

One of these boys, the first time I went out with him, asked me to kiss him goodnight. I simply told him no; that I didn't kiss my boy friends, or permit them to kiss me, and, instead of being angry, this is what he said, "Gee, I'm glad. It's great to find a girl who is different. You're the first one who ever refused me."

But, really, I'm not different. I'm just like the thousands of other girls who enjoy a real good time without the kisses.

I hope my letter will not sound seifish, for I only want these girls to see that this good old world is
