

Lux Mentioned for Nonpartisan League Manager

Former Lexington Man Favored by Early Delegates for Post to Be Vacated by Johnson.

Lincoln, Feb. 21.—The name of Harry N. Lux, formerly of Lexington, was being prominently mentioned in Nonpartisan League circles today as the most likely successor to Jesse R. Johnson, whose resignation as state manager is effective tomorrow at the opening of the state convention. Several delegates had arrived today and Lux was agreed upon by most of those expressing themselves. Mr. Lux was an organizer and speaker for the league in Nebraska and more recently of Wyoming. Sentiment as expressed in favor of Lux was based on his endorsing any old party candidates before the primaries.

Attacks Country Plumbers at Meet

Move Made to Have Permanent Traveling Instructor to Explain Modern Ways.

Country plumbers and their methods of conducting their plumbing establishments came in for criticism at yesterday morning's session of the retail plumbers' convention at the Rome hotel.

Bert Millard, Long Pine, branded the average small town plumber as incompetent and his work unsatisfactory.

Recommends Instructor.

In recommendation made in his annual address and report to the organization, President O. R. Newberg, Lincoln, asked the plumbers to support a move to maintain a man in the field to do nothing but visit small town plumbers and instruct them in up-to-date methods.

Advocates Education.

J. M. Simmons, Wichita, Kan., national director, brought greetings from the national organization and invited the Nebraska plumbers to the national convention at Detroit. Mr. Simmons advocated more education in the plumbing business, as well as a more modern system for apprentices.

Reports of J. B. Coningham, secretary, and other officers were read. Motion pictures showing the manufacture of range boilers and Duriron soil pipe were shown and lectured upon by T. M. Parker, Detroit, and E. H. Platz, Chicago.

Banned "Cigaret" College Grads Don't Smoke Vile Weed, They Say

A big majority of Nebraska educators emerged from Columbia, Chicago and Northwestern universities uncontaminated by cigarettes. They never puff the vile weed.

This evidence is offered by J. H. Beveridge, superintendent of Omaha schools and a Columbia man, and J. G. Masters, principal of Central High, a University of Chicago man, to oppose the stand of the state normal board to teachers to attend these schools because of alleged prevalence of cigarette smoking among instructors there.

Neither Beveridge nor Masters are "smoking men." They offer a formidable array of names of other state educators—normal men, too—who do not smoke, even though passed through the banned halls of learning.

Cites Examples.

Beveridge, defending Columbia, named E. L. Rouse, former president of Peru State Normal, now superintendent at Scottsbluff; George Martin, president of Kearney Normal; Charles Fordyce, dean of the state university, and Dean H. H. Hahn of Wayne Normal.

"Miss Jessie Towns, dean of girls in Central High; Miss Mary Austin, principal at Bancroft; Miss Bullard of the home economics department at Commerce High—in fact, about half the teaching profession in Omaha has taken work there."

"I never saw any of them smoke and I have no intention of following the normal board's action," Beveridge laughed.

Defends School.

Principal Masters denied the nonsmoking contingent from his alma mater just as vigorously.

"There is Fred M. Gregg of Wesleyan, former president of the State Teachers' association; Principal Dwight Porter of Commerce High; Mrs. E. E. McMillan, wife of the dean of boys in Central High; Misses Jennie Hultman, McCague, Verda Williams, Jane Fulton, Irma Gross, Susan Paxson, Madeline Cohn, Janouch and Shalchel, all of whom have taken work at Chicago."

"I never saw any of them—women or men—smoke."

R. M. Marrs, principal of South High school, took a summer course at Columbia only last year.

"The action of the state normal board will meet the hearty approval of all good W. C. T. U. members," said Mrs. George W. Covell, active in this organization. "We have been fighting this evil for years and maintain an anti-narcotic department, aimed at the cigarette and other deadly drugs. In spite of this, the cigarette has been increasing alarmingly. I don't know why."

No Women Smokers.

"But I never saw one woman smoking there—neither student nor faculty member."

He said he had seen men, both instructors and students, smoking, "but not more than they do here in the middle west. I saw nothing objectionable on campus, in classrooms or at school functions."

"I think the attitude toward smoking, in the east, is more liberal than it is here, yet at the same time, I think there is more smoking in middle west schools than the distinguished state normal board realizes," he said.

Will Refuse Leaves.

Lincoln, Feb. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—The state normal board at a meeting here yesterday passed resolutions refusing to give teachers of Nebraska normal schools leaves of absence to attend Columbia, Chicago and Northwestern universities because of alleged prevalence of cigarette smoking among instructors there.

Similar Schools Barred.

Any other educational institution, the resolution states, that permits such practice is barred to teachers in Nebraska normal colleges.

The employment of graduates in the normal schools from these colleges is not prohibited, nor does the resolution specify that the teachers shall not use tobacco. The resolution was introduced by H. E. Reische of Chadron. Two of the board members were absent.

"We want to discourage the tobacco habit, as it is so great an evil that it should be utterly discouraged by every institution that trains teachers," said Mr. Reische to the board. "We want the world to know that Nebraska is not in for this sort of thing.

"The summer courses at these institutions attract many teachers from the Nebraska normal schools each year, but this year the resolution will compel them to make other plans."

Columbia Protests Action.

New York, Feb. 21.—Columbia university officials last night characterized as "regrettable" the action of the board of education of the Nebraska state normal schools in banning the famous New York college as a summer training school for their teachers, because of reports that graduate students smoke cigarettes.

Charles T. MacFarland, controller of teachers' college, issued a formal statement, taking issue with the announcement by Miss Margaret Kilpatrick, president of the Whittier hall student body, last week to the effect that smoking in the girls' rooms was prohibited, but merely because smoke made the rooms too stuffy.

Says Smoking Barred.

"Smoking by women in Whittier hall is forbidden for moral, not architectural reasons," Dr. MacFarland said.

"It is regrettable that a state board of education should act upon stories not officially verified. Contrary to statements accredited to Miss Margaret Kilpatrick, who is president of the student body in Whittier hall, the majority of girls do not smoke."

"Since the publication of a statement which denies saying that the girls all smoke, Miss Kilpatrick has received scores of anonymous letters from all over the country, deploring the moral standard of women today. It has long been a rule at Whittier that smoking is forbidden, but it is impossible to follow every girl about.

"Besides, if a girl wishes to take tea at a downtown hotel and smokes there, as hundreds of other women do, we cannot prevent her, although we do not approve of it. Miss Kilpatrick herself denies the statement that smoking has been stopped in Whittier hall because it makes the rooms too smoky."

"Small Minority Smoke."

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Reports that teachers of the State normal colleges of Nebraska hereafter would be refused leaves to attend several eastern universities, including the University of Chicago and Northwestern university, because of cigarette smoking among women in these institutions, aroused much interest among the faculty members of the two schools tonight.

"Before taking any such action as that," said Mary R. Potter, dean of women at Northwestern university, "a board of education should investigate to see that their fears are grounded. I feel the public at large is prone to take the worst for granted about the present day college girl, and to believe the worst rather than the best that it hears about her."

"The question of girls smoking here has not been prevalent enough to give me any concern at all. It is merely a fad among a small minority; I do not believe it will grow."
