Omaha Bee Leased Wire. New York, Feb. 28 .- In those markets which on Monday displayed speciacular strength and activity, today marked a halt. It could scarce-ly be called reaction, however, Sterling exchange, after falling back to $4,41}/2, recovered so considerably before the close as to cross Monday's highest rate of $4.431/6, reaching a high record for the season of Wheat, after declinging a fraction, ended slightly above the previous day's final price, and while most investment bonds lost ground slightly, a few others advanced to new ground. The natural inference from these movements was of underlying stability in all these markets, notwithstanding the rapid and unexpected advances which have already occurred in them.

Even is the stock market the decline of Monday, clearly the result of realizing sales by the larger speculators, did not continue today; on the contrary, many recoveries of I to 5 points took place and the general position was one of unquestionable firmness. It seemed at least to give evidence that the real holders of stocks, even if they may not be inclined to buy more at rising prices, are not disnosed to seil around present values. This is a natural enough result of the movement of prices in other markets and of the feeling, provalent in observant financial circles, that a number of influences are shaping themselves for a better general situation. Easy money, increased demand for railway transportation, higher bond market and foreign exchange market values, and an increase of 40 per cent from the sepaon's lowest in the Chicago market's present bid for what remains unsold of the wheat and corn crops, cauld hardly fall, when occurring simultaneously, to influence sentiment among both investors and business men.

It is probable that both foreign ex-
