Legion to Launch Campaign to Help Jobless War Vets

National Business and Civic Organizations Asked to Aid in Finding Work for Idle Men.

Chicago, March 5 .- A campaign by the American Legion to obtain employment for 700,000 veterans of the world war, now idle and in need. has been undertaken by the Legion, Col. Hanford MacNider, national commander, announced at a din-ner given in his honor by the Illinois department of the legion.

National business, civic, fraternal and welfare organizations have been asked to co-operate, and a survey of conditions in each locality will be completed before March 20, which will be known as American Legion employment day, Colonel MacNider

"Properly supported, this concerted, localized national effort will result in the relief of 500,000 men in 30 days," Colonel MacNider asserted President Harding has been request-ed to set aside the day by proclamation to obtain relief for unemployed veterans, and governors, mayors of cities, and local leagers have been asked to co-operate.

The Dancing Master

By RUBY M. AYRES. (Copyright, 1922.)

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Conyers, a country girl, is visiting her city cousins. They take her to a bail. She feels keenly the contrast between her dowly, home made frock and the smart clothes the other women wear. The only person in the gathering who takes pity upon her is Pat Royston, who tries, with some success, to teach her to dance. Elizabeth's relatives tell her that he is a dancing teacher; that he is married, and that she is not to meet him again. Elizabeth's uncle; with whom she mude her home, dies. On her way home she meets Royston, but he does not recognize her. Walter Sneath proposes, but she rejects him. Her uncle leaves her only 100 pounds. She determines to find some way to earn a living, but at the insistence of her uncle's attorney, she returns to her cousin's home at London. The cousin tells Elizabeth she is in desperate trouble and asks for a loan. Now go on with the story:
