

Auto Show Leads In Sales of Cars, Dealers Declare

Persons Buying at Astonishing Rate, Is Report; Explanation Is Easy, Says Distributor.

One fact stands out happily in the minds of the exhibitors at the automobile show in the Auditorium.

"I think the explanation is easy," said one dealer. "The people have been waiting in hope of lower prices."

"Many have been accumulating funds for the purpose of buying automobiles when the price touched the figure they thought right."

"Add to this the fact that the cars are better, classier and with more refinements than the earlier cars and you have the explanation. Of course, people are buying."

Building Thronged. Crowds have thronged the great, beautifully-decorated building during every hour of the show. Dealers in great numbers from the surrounding country are here, as are also out-of-town people who are not dealers, taking advantage of the fare and a half for the round trip railroad rates.

Husband of Eleven Wed to Nebraskan

(Continued From Page One.) have taken place in Minneapolis today, according to local authorities who arrested the man yesterday on a charge of bigamy and embezzlement.

The embezzlement charge was preferred by his last wife, Harriet Evans, a Hoosier school teacher and his 11th bride. He is said to have embezzled $500 from her after they had been married less than a week.

His List. Flora Dolf of Wyoming, Pa., married 12 years ago. One child. Amelia Werner of Detroit, Mich., married at Windsor, Canada, under the name of Harry Moore.

Sue Harris of Hattiesburg, La., whom he married under the name of Harry Melvin. Bessie (he could not remember her last name), of Wilson, N. C., whom he married under the name of George Shields.

A Silly Song

By A CUCKOO BIRD. Last Wednesday I hauled off the last of my shoats and called on my banker to settle my notes.

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

The Dancing Master

By RUBY M. AYRES (Copyright, 1922)

(Continued From Yesterday.) "I knew what it would be if I came back."

"Go into the house at once," Mrs. Mason said again, furiously. "I think you had better go," Royston said. "I am afraid this is all my fault, Goodby."

Elizabeth turned away without answering; she felt ashamed to the depths of her soul. What could he be thinking? What could he be thinking? she asked herself distractedly.

Mrs. Mason followed her into the house, scolding her all the way. She was the type of woman who never minded who overheard what she said.

"You have behaved like a charity girl, and, after all, I suppose that is all you are. That man is married, and what is worse, he is living apart from his wife."

"I should not be here now; I should not have come back at all, but for Mr. Royston," she said, passionately. "I hate being here; oh, I hate being here—"

Her heart was bursting with shame and bitterness; nobody had ever spoken to her in such a manner before. Robert Conyers had shown her no great affection, but at least he had never insulted her.

She felt that she could never forgive her aunt; and the taunt about Dolly had hurt her more than anything.

Dolly a lady to her finger tips when she had deliberately stolen half of all Elizabeth had in the world.

"I will not stay; I will not," she told herself, frantically. "I will not stay; I will not."

She was so upset to cry. She paced up and down her room for hours, unable to think coherently.

Finally she fell asleep, dressed as she was, lying huddled up on the bed.

She awoke with a splitting headache and a sense of dreary depression, to find that she had overslept and that it was 9:30.

In a panic she tidied her hair, changed her frock and hurried downstairs. Breakfast was cleared away, "by Mrs. Mason's orders," so the maid

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

"I told you I was not wanted," she said. "Ah, I forgot. You were always a champion of the weaker sex. Elizabeth, go into the house at once."

Uehling Citizens Denied Injunction on Meter Deposit

Judge Rules City Fee of $9 Is Both Legal and Reasonable—Will Appeal the Case.

Fremont, Neb., March 14.—(Special Telegram.)—In an opinion handed down in district court today Judge F. W. Button denied the petition for an injunction against the village of Uehling demanded by Harmon P. McKnight, former chairman of the board of trustees, who objected to the charge of a deposit fee for meters owned by the city light and water plants.

On behalf of the patrons of the city light and water systems, McKnight claimed that the deposit charge for the meters is illegal and unauthorized by law. When he and other patrons refused to pay the sum of $9 as deposits for each of the meters installed in their respective homes, the city shut off the current and water.

Judge Button allowed a temporary injunction that restrained the city from enforcing the ordinance that required the deposit fee.

In his opinion today he states that the deposit charge is both legal and reasonable and that the city is entitled to that amount as a guarantee of the safe return of their property.

The question has caused a small revolution among the citizens of Uehling who are patrons of the city light and water plants.

McKnight resigned as chairman of the board of trustees when that body passed the measures which insisted upon the deposit fee.

Attorneys for the plaintiff announced today that the case will be appealed to the supreme court.

Rules Christian Scientists Can Refuse Antitoxin

Lincoln, March 14.—(Special Telegram.)—L. H. Dillon, chief of the state health bureau, has written to Dr. A. M. Sonnelland of Norfolk that it is unlawful to force Christian Scientists to take medical treatment.

Dr. Dillon stated that Dr. Sonnelland had written saying that after a death of an 11-year-old girl from diphtheria, the girl's father, W. E. Danforth, and an older daughter, refused to take antitoxin.

Injunction Against Spur Track to Capitol Filed

Lincoln, March 14.—Certain Lincoln property owners today threw the state to the expense of defending itself in an injunction filed which would keep the state and city from building a spur leading to the state house grounds to carry material for the new $3,000,000 state house.

Property owners say that the spur track would be a nuisance to them. They live near the state house and it is estimated that the new building will enhance the value of their property many thousands of dollars.

See Want Ads Produce Results.

Beatrice Has Shortage of Candidates at Election

Beatrice, Neb., March 14.—(Special Telegram.)—For the first time in the history of Beatrice, there was a shortage of candidates for city commissioner at the primary election today. There was no contest, the four candidates, Mayor Farlow, J. R. Ellis and J. B. High, members of the present board, and Charles Segelke, being the nominees. A light vote was polled.

Auto Strikes Dog, Man's Neck Broken

York, Neb., March 14.—(Special Telegram.)—Roy Underwood died this evening at the Lutheran hospital from a broken neck. He was en route to Fairmont and was going at good speed when his car struck a dog, causing the car to turn over.

Directors Are Ordered to Complete Norfolk Hotel

Norfolk, Neb., March 14.—(Special Telegram.)—At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Norfolk Hotel company all directors were re-elected and the board was instructed to take immediate steps toward completing the new five-story building which is now under roof and entirely enclosed. It is estimated that it will require about $150,000 to complete the building. The directors are now working on a plan of finance. Stockholders were assured that the building would be completed and occupied by January 1, 1923.

Pardon for Lukens Friends' Next Move

(Continued From Page One.) enough to arouse the admiration of a wealthy young man on the outside. Lukens drove into Sunol, Neb., one day in July and stopped at a saloon. Another man went into the bank, held up the cashier and fled. Lukens joined the posse in his car. He aided men in arming themselves, and then drove his car to the edge of a cornfield where the bandit was hiding and where two members of the posse had been killed.

Lukens had no more than stepped from his car than the bandit appeared. Lukens said the bandit held a gun and ordered him to drive away. Lukens drove back into town with the bandit. As they approached a crossroad Lukens leaped from the car. The bandit leveled his gun at the crowd, turned the car around and drove away. Lukens ran into the crowd shouting, "There's your man." The bandit turned into a blind road and was captured in a swamp.

It developed later that he and Lukens had driven over the country together and had separated only the day before. The country was aroused. The other man, Frank Connell, still serving life, employed two Denver attorneys. Lukens refused to ask friends for aid, and an attorney was appointed to defend him.

"At the worst, Lukens could not have been guilty of murder," Radcliffe told the board.

Lukens will get out in about six months under the commutation, but his friends insist he should get out immediately.

Depression Will Not Return, Says War Loan Head

Eugene Meyer, Jr., and Governor McKelvie Address Ad-Sell League Here.

Eugene Meyer, Jr., congratulated Nebraska and the surrounding states on their flourishing condition and return toward normalcy, in an address before the Bankers' club of Omaha in the Athletic club Monday night.

The managing director of the War Finance corporation spoke at the end of a very busy day in Omaha. He told the bankers of the work of the corporation in making 6,200 loans totaling $300,000,000 to farmers in the critical days of last fall.

"There is no possibility of a return to the demoralized conditions of last summer," he said.

John L. Kennedy was elected president of the club; F. J. Coal, vice president, and E. L. Droste, secretary. A. L. Schantz, R. D. M. Turner, Frank Boyd and J. D. Owen were elected directors.

Mr. Meyer and Governor McKelvie were speakers at the Advertising-Selling league meeting in Fontenelle hotel earlier in the evening.

Governor McKelvie pointed out that taxes are high today because in a period of boom, the people demanded great improvements which must be paid for. He said taxes probably will go even higher than they are now. A means must be found to put the burden on those most able to pay, he asserted.

Corns?

—just say Blue-jay to your druggist Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

A Statement by C. W. Nash, President of The Nash Motors Company, Concerning the new

Nash Models and the new Low Prices

Value to the car owner has always been the first consideration in every car I have ever built.

I can say without qualification that the new model 691 Nash Six at $1390 is by far the finest car that I have ever built in all my years of automobile manufacturing.

I can say with equal assurance that the new Nash Four at $985 represents a value in its field that is unsurpassed.

1922 is unquestionably the long talked of year of the "survival of the fittest" in the automobile industry.

With Nash Cars at the highest level of value we have ever attained—with Nash prices now at the lowest possible level—we are prepared, and look forward to the issue with confidence.

C. W. Nash President, The Nash Motors Company, Lincoln, Wisconsin

You are cordially invited to visit the Nash Exhibit at the show.

Nash Sales Company Hayward-Nash Company G. W. ANDREWS, Manager Wholesale Distributors 10th and Howard Streets, Omaha Phone AT lantic 2916 R. W. HAYWARD, President Omaha Distributors Farnam at 28th, Omaha Phone HA rney 0345

Help Yourself As a builder of strength or protection against weakness Scott's Emulsion has stood the exacting test of time. Help yourself to renewed strength, take Scott's Emulsion!

MATZENAUER, who appears at the Omaha Auditorium Friday, March 24th, like all the greatest Artists, uses the Steinway—the Instrument of the Immortals. A complete line of these matchless instruments can always be seen at our new warehouses. Instruments of other makes accepted as part payments. Visitors as well as intending purchasers cordially invited.

THE New Series of the good Maxwell produces a kind of performance that is a pure delight to the experienced owner and the novice alike.

The light, specially-made pistons, the perfectly balanced crankshaft, not only increase motor smoothness, power and flexibility, but reduce vibration to the vanishing point, lengthen the motor's life and hold down repairs.

Such satisfactory results are the direct outcome of the skilled engineering and the sound manufacturing which builds the good Maxwell.

Touring Car, $995 Roadster, $995 Sedan, $1485 Coupe, $1385 F. O. B. factory, over tax to be added.

Exhibited at the Automobile Show Mid-City Motor & Supply Co. Distributors 2216-18 Farnam St. Omaha Phone At. 2462

The Good MAXWELL

Say Ben-Gay For Quick Relief when in Pain

'TIZ' FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET

Good-bye, sore feet, burning feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelly feet, tired feet. Good-bye, corns, callouses, bunions and raw spots. No more shoe tightness, no more limping with pain or drawing up your face in agony. 'TIZ' is magical, it acts right off. 'TIZ' draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. Use 'TIZ' and forget your foot misery. Ah! how comfortable your feet feel. A few cents buys a box of 'TIZ' now at any drugstore or department store. Don't suffer. Have good feet, glad feet, feet that never swell, never hurt, never get tired. A year's foot comfort guaranteed or money refunded.