Regular Course for Bonus.

If congress passes a soldier bonus bill, it will be only after the measure has proceeded by the regular channels. No special favor is to be granted, no short cut of legislative maneuvering, no limitation of debate, other than is applied to any bill, when the house ways and means committee presents its compromise measure.

Depriving the measure of "unanimous consent" privileges, which automatically would limit debate, places it squarely on its merits. At whatever time it comes up for discussion, it will be subject to any fire its opponents may seek to direct against it.

None of these steps has any direct effect on the chances of the bonus being passed. Unless unexpected defection occurs among the republicans, the measure will go through the house and up to the senate. It will likely go in something very near its present form, although some amendment may be made in the process of consideration.

Annie Morgan's Mission.

Addressing herself to Omaha audiences, Miss Annie Morgan brings a message from a brave people who are splendidly working to bring themselves from the depths to which they were thrust by a terribly destructive war.

Brass Tacks on Taxation.

Led by the Greer articles in The Bee, taxpayers are taking a soberer view of the situation, and are giving more careful consideration to all factors of the problem. First, they are practically agreed that the dance having been ordered, the fiddler must be paid.

Taxation is the one great evil as generally looked upon by the taxpayer when he is confronted with the same. And this is about the only time he really considers the same seriously. A few days after he has visited the court house and contributed his part to the maintenance of the city, county and state, he relieves his mind by bawling the idea until he is again confronted with the tax collector.

This does not fully answer the problem, nor does Mr. Strunk's further suggestion that strict enforcement of the law and a fuller valuation of all property for taxes will provide the solution.

Nebraska has surmounted difficulties as serious as this one, and is sure to overcome its present perplexity.

Parents and Their Duties.

Rev. Arthur Atack justified his right to wear the robes of a minister of the gospel when he spoke out plainly to his congregation Sunday night on the duty of parents. It is not a question of theology, of denominational dogma or tenets, but one of sound, sensible morality in the home.

The one sure and certain way of having young men and young women grow up to their estate clean in mind and body is to surround them with clean influences while they are boys and girls. This does not mean to rear them as sissies; it was long ago established that a man may be a gentleman and a Christian, and still be an athlete and even a good sport.

But they should be taught the sanctity of life, the manifestation of the Creator as exhibited in the powers and functions of the body and the mind, and early learn to know good from evil.

Pleading for Protection for Potash.

Forty-four producers of potash are making a last stand at Washington, trying to get a provision in the tariff bill that will enable the American article to go on the market in competition with that which is imported from Germany.

The Hub is printing today the first of a series of articles regarding taxation in Nebraska, written by Paul Greer of the editorial staff of The Omaha Daily Bee.

Industry and the Canal What New England May Expect From the St. Lawrence Project.

Appointed to consider the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway project, a special committee of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts has made a report in which it goes on record as finding that the project is both feasible and desirable, assuming that a satisfactory treaty can be negotiated to provide for co-operation of the United States and Canada in the undertaking.

One important particular in which the committee of the Associated Industries has done much to clarify the issue is found in its consideration of the probable use of the waterway if it is constructed. The committee finds that "if the St. Lawrence project is carried through, it will be entirely feasible for the present lake vessels, some of which carry as much as 14,000 tons, to proceed to tidewater at Montreal, Quebec or Halifax, where transfer of freight can be made to ocean vessels."

Hon. Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, called "the father of the lakes-to-ocean undertaking," in an address before the Great Lakes-Tidewater congress in 1920, asked: "Has not the hour now struck when these waters shall be decorated with the peaceful flags of all nations floating at the peaks of ocean ships engaged not alone in provincial lake traffic but in the commerce of the world?"

Taxes--What and Why?

The Hub is printing today the first of a series of articles regarding taxation in Nebraska, written by Paul Greer of the editorial staff of The Omaha Daily Bee. These articles are being reprinted because the first of the series evidences a serious purpose to present the actual facts regarding the assessment and levying of taxes for public purposes, instead of making excuses or softening the effects of public discussion.

The writer observes very nearly at the outset that the tendency among candidates for public office, notably those whose province has to do with creating tax budgets, is to speak in general terms regarding "economy" in public administration and retrenchment in the disbursement of monies derived from tax levies.

Churches as Job Finders

The reported union of all the Protestant churches in the city to find jobs for men and women in need of work is both Christian and practical. A very large number of employers church attendants, and if, as reported, every church is to become an employing agency for those who apply to its pastor, a considerable number of applicants could be put in direct touch with men who have work to give.

The real dirt farmers will soon be busy with their spring plowing. Nebraska's pioneers did a good work in a way their successors might profitably emulate. Henry Ford's fight with Wall Street will be interesting to the world at large.

FIRST AID FOR DIABETICS.

I give these recipes with apologies to my confreres whose opinion on recipes is far better than mine. I have tried none of them. In fact, I lifted them bodily from an article by Miss Stewart of Ann Arbor, which was published in the Modern Hospital magazine.

Forty per cent cream, 2 1/2 ounces; walnuts, 1-3 ounce; saccharin, 1/4 grain; vanilla extract, 4 drops. Whip the cream; add the finely chopped nuts and, finally, add the vanilla, in which the saccharin has been dissolved.

Orange Jelly. Gelatin, 1-6 ounce; cold water, 1 tablespoon; boiling water, 5 minims; orange juice, 1-3 ounce; saccharin, 1/4 grain; 40 per cent cream, 1 ounce.

Chocolate Pudding. Cream, 3-1/2 ounces; cocoa, 1/2 teaspoonful; agar-agar, 1 teaspoonful; vanilla extract, 1/4 of a teaspoonful; saccharin, 1/4 grain. Mix cocoa with agar, add cream and steam in pan of hot water for 20 minutes. Add saccharin, dissolved in vanilla.

Cream Dressing. Cream, 12 ounces; 8 egg yolks; salt, 1/2 teaspoonful; pepper, 1/2 teaspoonful; mustard, 2 teaspoons; vinegar, 4 ounces; butter, 2-3 ounces. Beat the yolks, add scalded cream, cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly till mixture forms a smooth coating for the butter. Add butter. Season the condiments in the vinegar.

Mayonnaise. Six egg yolks, 7 drops of vinegar, 1 nutmeg, 1/2 tablespoonful of mustard, salt, 2 tablespoonfuls; paprika, 1/2 a tablespoonful. Mix the mustard, salt and paprika. Add egg yolks and beat slightly. Add one-half the vinegar and mix well. Add oil slowly, beating constantly. Thin with vinegar if necessary.

Tomato Jelly. Tomatoes, 3-1/2 ounces; gelatin, 1-6 ounce; cold water, salt, 1/4 teaspoonful; pepper, paprika and celery salt, 1/4 ounce each. Soak the gelatin in cold water two minutes. Dissolve with boiling tomatoes. Add seasoning. Chill. Serve in one serving with mayonnaise or cream dressing.

Vegetable Soup. Celery, 1-6 ounce; carrots, 2-3 ounce; onions and cabbage, each 1-6 ounce; butter, 1/2 ounce. Chop the vegetables finely. Brown in butter. Add broth. Simmer until tender. Season with salt and pepper.

Diabetic Diet No. 1. BREAKFAST. Bacon, 1/2 ounce, with 1 egg. Coffee broth. DINNER. Baked ham, 6-8 ounce. Cabbage with vinegar, salt and pepper, 1-2 3/4 ounces. Asparagus, 3 ounces; with butter, 1/2 ounce, 3 ounces. Tea broth. SUPPER. Bacon, 1/2 ounce; with spinach, 3 ounces. String beans with French dressing, 3 ounces; egg, 1 ounce; vinegar, 1/2 ounce. Salt, pepper, paprika. Tea broth.

Diabetic Diet No. 4. BREAKFAST. Grapefruit, 1-2 3/4 ounces. Two eggs and bacon, 5-6 ounce. Coffee, with 1 ounce cream broth. The reason for getting into an unknown and untried field was this: The men who tried diabetes are disposed to feed a reasonable amount of fat, since this furnishes heat and energy, and they have found that they can do so provided it is combined with some starch. But fats disturb the stomach. That puts up to the dietitians the job of concocting the groceries and making them appetizing and palatable as well as digestible. These recipes are Miss Stewart's answer: With cream, egg yolks, butter, oil, nuts, hama and bacon she gets in fats.

Germs in the Washing. R. L. F. writes: "Recently I have received quite a few circulars from a laundry which claims to wash every family bundle individually in separate washing machines; also stating that the present wet wash laundry that has been laundering my clothes for the last six months washes the clothes of six to 10 families in one washing machine in the same water and soap."

The New York City health department did considerable investigation on this point. They found that the methods employed in ordinary laundries did not sterilize the clothing and that, therefore, there is at least theoretic danger of the spread of contagion through laundries. At the same time I know of no proof that any epidemics have ever been spread that way.

Get Rid of the Sinus. H. C. writes: "I have a small growth in my nose called a polypus. I have been going to a very reliable doctor for over a year. A year ago last November he operated and removed eight of them on the left side of my nose. Since then he has been giving me what are called antrum irrigations, but my nose is stopped up and has been all summer. It seems that as fast as he takes them out they grow back in."

Polypus in the nose means that the membranes are continuously swollen and runny. In your case, doubtless, a constant flow of pus from a sinus causes the growth of polypus. They will continue coming back until the sinus trouble is cured.

Must Rest Your Eyes. M. A. H. writes: "What causes a twitching of the nerve in an upper eyelid? Is there any relief for it?"

It is a muscle that is twitching. This is a sign of fatigue. As a rule, it means eye fatigue. Rest your eyes. Maybe you need a general rest. Maybe you need properly fitting glasses.

The Bee's Letter Box

The Bee offers its columns freely to its readers who care to discuss any public question. It reserves the right to use any material, but not over 500 words. It will not publish the name of the writer unless accompanied by letter, nor necessarily for publication, but that the editor may know with whom he is dealing. The Bee does not proceed to endorse or accept views or opinions expressed by correspondents in the Letter Box.

What is a "Doldrum"? Omaha, March 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: The editor of the World-Herald evidently was suffering with the gout when he wrote the editorial on the Third Party Doldrum. His pain was so intense that part of the time he advocated doing nothing and he did not know what he was saying. He has been bed fellow and his words have raked this state over with a fine-toothed comb from the sand hills to the brush on the Missouri river to find a candidate for governor, and as yet have not found a person but what has too much respect for himself to be caught associating with that bunch.

Of course the doldrums are not in love with the republicans, or the third party would not have been organized. Neither do they hate themselves enough yet to trot in the same class with the democrats. Now these doldrums are not practical politicians, like the old party generals, but they know enough to not fan the air too much until the democrats fill up their ticket like the republicans have before they begin active work.

This long brag of the democratic donkey is not given because of any interest in the voters of this state, only so far as it will elect the master of the mule to the United States senate. Everybody knows that. But when the doldrums once wake up, business and set Bigelow and Beebe on the trail of the senator, then the World-Herald will fully understand why the progressive party was organized. And then he will know why his hindsight is so much better than his foresight. JOHN HENRY.

A movement to reform the modern dance has been launched in Paris. It's hard to tell where the movement will wind up, but it has started in the right place.—Charlestown News and Courier.

If the "Tale of Two Brothers," said to have been written 4,000 years ago, is the world's oldest fairy story, at least some of the yarns related by late-homelcoming husbands had their origin not long after that.—Butte Miner.

Alleged Holdup-Slayer Chokes Self to Death

Chicago, March 20.—Rather than face a charge of slaying, Fred Nadler ended his life in his cell in jail yesterday by strangling himself with a coat belt. After twisting the belt around his throat he deliberately tightened it until death came. He was accused of shooting a motorist during an attempted holdup.

FOR THE BEST RHYMES $525 IN PRIZES

A new contest is just being started which will interest every woman and girl who reads this paper. Any woman or girl can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All it is necessary to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear either on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) or on the printed slip which is found in each Dr. Price can.

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 55 prizes of $5 each for the next 55 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand at it.

Here is a 4-line rhyme as an example: Two teaspoons of this powder make Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake, The Price's Co. guarantee No alum in the case to be.
