

Matters Angry at Questioning by Prosecutor

Loses Temper When W. C. Dorsey Goes Into Conviction Under National Banking Act.

W. C. Dorsey, prosecuting attorney for the state, drew heated retorts from Thomas H. Matters, charged with aiding and abetting embezzlement, during his cross-examination of Matters, started late yesterday.

"Mr. Matters, you stated in your direct examination that you had been convicted and sentenced to the federal penitentiary for an offense against the federal laws. What was the specific offense?" was Mr. Dorsey's first question.

Halleck Rose, counsel for Matters, objected to the question. His objection was overruled by District Judge Goss.

Matters replied: "Violation of the national banking act."

Mentions Sutton Affair.

"Was it not in fact the charge of aiding and abetting one Leuben, president of the First National bank of Sutton, Neb., in misapplication of funds of that bank?"

"No."

"What was it then? What specific offense against the national banking act was it?"

"The question was whether or not I send a man my check—"

"What I want is what charge was signed against you?"

"I don't care anything about the charge; you asked me about my conviction and I'm going to tell you I was framed once, but you can't frame me again. Keep that in your mind."

"We'll settle this matter right now; that is for you to answer my questions. And I shall insist upon the right of prosecution to obtain from you as I would from any other witness an answer to specific questions. What specific offense against the banking act is it?"

Ordered to Answer.

Matters remained silent. Judge Goss: "Answer the question, Mr. Matters."

"The question was whether or not I order a certificate of deposit," began Matters when Dorsey interrupted.

"What were you charged with?" asked Dorsey.

"A violation of the national banking act."

And that is all you want to state in reference to what you were charged with, is it?"

"Why, I'm telling you the truth."

Appeals to Judge.

Further cross-examination caused Matters to appeal to the judge.

"Your honor, I want fair treatment," he said.

"You're getting it," replied Judge Goss.

"You can't put false words in my mouth," exclaimed Matters in response to another of Dorsey's questions.

Hexco Called to Stand.

John E. Hexco, former vice president of the defunct Pioneer State bank, called to the stand by the defense, testified he had had no correspondence with T. H. Matters regarding the purchase of Colonial Timber & Coal corporation bonds. The state waived its right to cross-examine Hexco.

Under direct examination of his attorney, Mr. Matters yesterday morning testified that he had no connection with Willard V. Mathews concerning the embezzlement of money from the Pioneer State bank and had no knowledge of appropriations for the Colonial Timber & Coal corporation bonds.

Rat Killing Contest on: Starter Delivers 30 Tails

The girl clerks gave little screams of fright but a brave man clerk took charge of the tails and duly entered Mr. Badami's name in the contest now going on for six prizes for the largest numbers of rats killed in Omaha.

National Arbor Day Plan Favored in East

Washington, March 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Making April 22 a national Arbor day, in view of the fact that Nebraska will celebrate the golden anniversary of its statehood tree planting on that date, seems to be taking a firm hold on the east, where reforestation is becoming a serious problem.

Congressman Joffers, who commiserated the idea of having President Harding issue a proclamation making April 22 a national Arbor day out of respect and esteem to a former secretary of agriculture, J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, has written Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture asking his active support on the proposition.
