The Muley Cowfacted very told me the news only his morning. I asked him to describe the poke. But all he could say was that I'd be surprised when I saw it."

They never know anything about the styles-except that queer Mr Frog the tailor.

Both ladies giggled at the mere mention of Ferdinand Frog. And while they were busy tittering, Mrs. Woodchuck's son Billy helped himself to a piece of carrot from Aunt Polly's store of roots and herbs." "I must have a look at the Muley Cow this very morning," Aunt Polly told her caller. "Won't you come

Mrs. Woodchuck said that nothing would please her more. So she or dered Billy to scamper home.

"You'll have to wait till I put on my best poke," Aunt Polly said. "If the Muley Cow has a new one I don't want to call on her in my second

So Mrs. Woodchuck waited. And at last they set off together to find the Muley Cow. They hadn't gone far before old Mr. Crow flopped down on a hammock near them. "If you're looking for the Muley ow," he squawked, "You'll find her down near the lane. And she's wearing her new poke, too."

They thanked him. And as soon as they had passed on Mrs. Wood-chuck remarked what a busybody he was.

"Always poking his bill into other people's affairs!" Aunt Polly sniffled. Still, his advice saved them a good many steps. For they found the Muley Cow just where Mr. Crow had said they would.

But she wasn't wearing a poke bonnet at all. They noticed that as soon as they caught sight of her.

"Perhaps it has fallen off her head and she doesn't know it," Aunt Pol-

"I'll ask her." said Mrs. Wood-chuck. And she hurried up to the Muley Cow.

"Where's your poke?" she cried.
"You haven't lost it—have you?"
As she spoke she noticed a peculiar something about the Muley Cow's neck. It was a sort of huge wooden collar, with a long stake that stuck out in front of her. The Muley Cow acted very snapped. "Excuse us, please!" Aunt Polly Woodchuck said to the Muley Cow. We heard you were wearing a poke; and we wanted to see it. You know. always wear a poke in summer In fact, I put on my best one before leaving home."

The Muley Cow stared at her in a puzzled fashion. And at last the truth dawned upon her.
"You've made a mistake," she said.

"You've misunderstood. It's not a poke bonnet that I have. It's a poke -this thing around my neck."
Well, Aunt Polly and Mrs. Woodchuck didn't know what to say. And they felt so uncomfortable that they turned away and started off. "Wait a moment!" the Mulcy Cow called to them. "How did you hear about this poke?"

"Old Mr. Crow told me," Mrs.

Woodchuck replied.
"I thought so." said the Muley
Cow. "And I'd like to have a talk with him."

HELPING 19,000,000 PEOPLE

About 19,000,000 people are insured in the Metropolitan-over 16,000,000 under weekly premium policies. The weekly calls of Agents at the policyholders' homes provide a wonderful opportunity for health and welfare

The Company has accepted the opportunity and to-day is at the forefront of public health work in America.

14,000,000 VISITS BY TRAINED

Free nursing service is given to Industrial policy-holders in 2,800 cities and towns. Trained nurses not only heal the sick but teach right living. About 14,000,000 visits have been made-2,116,875 in 1921 alone. Numerous letters tell of lives saved.

DISCOVERING DISEASE IN TIME

Free medical examinations often disclosing incipient disease in time to cure it, are granted to Ordinary (annual premium) policy-holders, subject to reasonable conditions.

HELPING THE EMPLOYER TO HELP

Employers insuring their employees under Group policies are advised regarding health conditions and accident prevention, while the employees receive the benefits of nursing service and welfare literature.

> 238,000,000 PIECES OF LITERATURE

Attractive booklets and pamphlets in great variety, dealing with the important phases of health and disease, and prepared by leading experts, are distributed broadcast. So far, 238,-000,000 copies have been distributed-25,000,000 in 1921.

In addition, 18,000,000 copies of The Metropolitan, a health magazine, are issued annually. 1/

A CITY THAT IS WATCHED

In Framingham, Mass., the Metropolitan is leading the way in a great experiment, watched by health authorities throughout the country, to demonstrate what proper municipal health regulation can do. Deaths from tuberculosis have dropped from 121 per 100,000 to 40 per annum.

HOW WAS IT DONE?

Records kept by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its Industrial, or weekly premium, policy-holders. Comparing 1921 with 1911, for example, there were 55,000 less deaths in 1921 than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

What brought about the great saving of life?
