

Old College Mates of Crete Fight in Court Over Auto

Omaha Attorney and Automobile Woman, Students Together 20 Years Ago, in Legal Battle.

Memories of college days spent together at Crete, Neb., nearly 20 years ago, flashed through the minds of W. M. Burton and Mrs. Iola W. Muff when they appeared in municipal court yesterday afternoon as plaintiff and defendant, respectively, in a damage action over an automobile.

Attorney Seeks $300.

Attorney Burton sought to recover $300 and Mrs. Muff filed a counter-claim of $565.81. Plaintiff alleged that during May last year he drove his Ford sedan to Crete and traded that machine for a larger car, paying defendant $325 in cash. Burton testified that the car he received was not as represented and the Crete woman testified that the car she received was encumbered with a mortgage which was not made known by Burton.

The mortgage and various ownerships of the Ford car furnished an interesting sidelight to the case. Mr. Burton did not know until recently that the car had been mortgaged. He bought the car from Robert Marmet, who said he acquired it from Earl O'Brien. A previous owner was referred to as W. W. Sanborn, who gave a mortgage of $375 to E. L. Pflug of Springfield, Neb. Mr. Pflug was in court. The counter-claim of Mrs. Muff included the amount of the mortgage.

Burton Gives Testimony.

Mr. Burton testified that he went to Crete and entered into the transaction with a feeling of confidence in the integrity of his former college mate, to which statement counsel for Mrs. Muff replied that the old rule of law, "Caveat emptor," meaning "Let the buyer beware," was applicable when Burton accepted the other car from Mrs. Muff.

Leonard During, shopman for Mrs. Muff, testified: "Mr. Burton and his mechanic tried her out in every way, shape and manner. He had her in low, intermediate and high. Then Mr. Burton wanted a guarantee on the car, but Mrs. Muff told him that she would not guarantee second-hand cars."

The questioning of Mrs. Muff by Burton included this: "Where were you after 8 p. m. on May 28, 1921?"

The Crete automobile woman glared and then smilingly replied that she was in her garage, adding that she is always in her place of business on Saturday nights.

Judge Baldwin has reserved his decision until next Thursday.

Dr. Goodell Talks on Man's Service

Declares We Are Bound by Bonds of Necessity at Services.

"It is necessary to have many different kinds of business in order to satisfy the needs of mankind," said Dr. Charles L. Goodell, speaking at the noon hour services at the Brandeis theater yesterday.

"We are bound together in the common bonds of necessity. We live by our service to others and by others' service to us, and we could not live if there were not men who are willing to do the things that we do not like to do."

"A man's vocation is said to be his calling, and every honest man who is engaged in doing the work for which he is fitted and for which he had an appetite, can lift up his head and say that God called him, whether he is making fishhooks or violins."

Special singing by the Y. M. C. A. quartet at yesterday's meeting was led by George W. Campbell. Rev. Howard C. Whitcomb, chairman of the committee, is in charge of the pre-Easter services.

Dr. Goodell spoke last night at North Side Presbyterian church.

Officer Who Captured Slayer to Retire From Police Force

Otto Lickert, police sergeant, promoted following his capture of Otto Cole, slayer of Harry Hahn, will retire April 20, 1923, on half pay to become a truck gardner.

"Gardner, not sleuthing, is in our blood," Lickert said. "You bet I will retire."

William Lickert, 80, now retired. Sergeant Lickert's father, wrested a competency from two acres of land at Fort and Cedar streets.

William Lickert, jr., the sergeant's brother, is clearing $1,000 a year above all expenses from the same tract.

Sergeant Lickert plans to own a 10-acre farm npt yet selected and to farm on a scale not quite so intensive as his relatives pursued.

Liquor Charges Filed Against Five Greely County Farmers

Liquor complaints against five Greely county farmers were filed yesterday by Prohibition Enforcement Officer Rohrer in federal court. They are Timothy G. Sullivan, charged with possession of 300 gallons of mash and two stills; James Murphy, charged with possession and sale of six quarts of whisky; Worthy Colby, charged with manufacture and possession of 300 gallons of mash and 15 gallons of whisky, besides two stills; Roy Turnbaugh and Thomas O'Connor, charged with manufacture and possession of liquor.

Open Saturday Evening

Bond's Clothes

Open Saturday Evening

Omaha, We Thank You

The response to our opening yesterday was really remarkable. Every man and young man who entered Bond's store left satisfied—we heard nothing but the highest praise. Our first day's business far exceeded our expectations, and proved to us that Omaha appreciates the exceptional values Bond's offer—Again we thank you.

To demonstrate more fully Bond's policy of value-giving, we call particular attention to Bond's Special Feature

2-Pants Suits

Bond's, ever on the alert to give clothing buyers the most for their money, has brought to the Two-Pants Suit purchaser all the merchandising power of Bond's great organization of three factories and 14 busy outlet stores.

This idea in men's suits just about cuts your clothing bill in half—giving you really two suits for the price of one—making it possible for you to be better dressed for less money.

Bond's offer you, not a limited showing of Two-pants Suits, but all the new models in all the popular fabrics. Assortments practically unlimited in sizes to fit every man—tall, short, lean or fat.

New Models Shown First at Bond's

Bond's selection includes every new model of the season—every wanted pattern and fabric. Daily shipments from our own factories keeps Bond's stock new—you see them first at Bond's.

At Bond's—the customer must be satisfied before we are. A satisfied customer means more to us than the ultimate value of a sale.

The Most Remarkable Values Omaha Has Ever Seen

Bond's Clothes are fashioned and tailored in our own factories and sold direct to you—minus all middleman's profit. Selling for cash we eliminate all credit losses—our vast volume of sales in 14 busy stores all mean a distinct saving to you.

Special Gaberdines Quarter Silk Lined $21⁵⁰

Alterations FREE

BOND'S

1514 FARNAM ST.

- New York
- Cleveland
- Detroit
- Akron
- Toledo
- Pittsburg
- Youngstown
- Louisville
- Cincinnati
- Columbus
- St. Louis
- Kansas City
- Lorain
- Omaha

