

Easter Revolts in Erin Feared by Great Britain

Danger of Rebellion Against Provisional Government Considered in England and Ireland.

Dublin, April 10.—(By A. P.)—Armed British foot soldiers appeared in the streets yesterday for the first time since the truce, and caused a sensation.

London, April 10.—(By A. P.)—Will the extremists republicans in Ireland observe the anniversary of the Easter week uprising against Great Britain in 1916 by again attempting this Easter week to oust the provisional government and establish a republic in its place? This is a question that is being discussed seriously in well informed circles in England and Ireland.

Extremists in Ill Favor. The London Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent declares this phase of Ireland's perplexities has been debated rather freely in Dublin and that opinions there differ widely.

He recalls, however, that the people in Ireland generally were at first against the rebellion element in 1916, but later rapidly veered to the point of view of the revolutionists.

Deny De Valera Ousted. Dublin, April 10.—(By A. P.)—A statement issued by the Irish republican publicity department today contradicted the rumors, given form in an article in the London Daily Mail, that Eamon de Valera had been ousted as leader of the republicans at the secret meeting of the Irish republican army in Dublin yesterday.

In a speech delivered here yesterday Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, declared that the press there was endeavoring to change in the tone and tactics of certain of the people "it looks as if civil war can only be averted by a miracle."

Prohibition Law Should Pay Way, Haynes Declares

Revenues From National 'Dry' Act Should More Than Cover Costs, Commissioners Assert.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Revenues from the national prohibition act should pay many times over for the $10,000,000 appropriated for the enforcement of the dry laws during the coming year, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared, in an address before a law enforcement meeting.

It would be interesting to the people to know, he said, "that if we were to collect the fines, penalties and special tax imposed upon violators of the law in the first six months of this administration, they would pay two and one-half times the estimated cost of enforcing the prohibition law for the next year."

Mr. Haynes declared that after 10 months of renewed effort to restrict good liquor into legitimate channels, the result "is perhaps as nearly achievement as possible."

Three Arrested as Suspects in Pisgah Robbery

Bluffs Police Believe They Have Cleared Up Mystery of Crime Staged Three Months Ago at Bank.

The automobile of S. P. Wilson, 220 Fuller avenue, stolen from him in a holdup at the door of his garage the night before the robbery, was the machine used by the men who held up the bank. Four of them participated in the robbery. All wore masks. A fifth gangster sat in the machine.

A squad of Bluffs policemen encountered the bandit car near Crescent, Ia., a few moments after the robbery. Shots were exchanged and police believe one of the robbers received a wound in the arm. Their high-powered machine outran the police flier, however, making their escape possible.

Police will not state what evidence they are holding to connect the three suspects with the bank robbery, but it is known that nearly all of the $15,000 worth of non-negotiable bonds stolen in the holdup have been recovered by H. V. Yackey, state agent. Only $500 in currency was obtained by the bandits.

Al Flori, one of the suspects, has been sought for three days by the sheriff on the charge of manufacturing liquor. Sumner J. Knox, federal agent, raided his farm home on Canning street and seized a still, but could not locate the owner.
