Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Give Up the Man. Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a man I have known for quite a while. During our association we grew fond of one another.

A DISTRACED GIRL. Don't go on with this, as you value your happiness and peace of mind. You have to respect yourself in order to have any contentment and that you can't do when you're being unfair to another woman.

Blue Eyes—Some people are more inclined to suspicion than others. Animal fat encourages the growth of it; vegetable oil does not. I don't know about the soap you mention.

Sacrifice Against Love. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am 18 and my friend is 20. He used to work as a clerk, but he decided to give it up and learn a trade.

"TIZ" FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET. Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled; aching, burning, chorn-perked, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase of "REVELATIONS OF A WIFE" (Copyright 1922)

Has Katherine a Hidden Trump Card? That Lillian was stirred by my story I could see when after I had reached the house with Dicky in his car trailing protestingly after me, and my supposed "breakdown" had been exclaimed over and condoned with, I had managed to get her alone, without, as I hoped, attracting Dicky's attention...

"Katherine must hear of this." These were the first words Lillian uttered, and she rose to her feet to summon our little friend, when I interposed anxiously.

"Don't you think you'd better wait until Dicky is out of the house? I—I ought to tell you that he is seriously objecting to my helping in this work, and I don't want to direct any attention of his toward the incidents of our drive. You know he's rather quick, and he should decide to do any investigating on his own hook, he might discover that Smith was here, and you know—"

"Lillian's Plan." Her quick perceptions leaped instantly to the fear I was trying to express. "Of course," she said. "He'd not only spill the beans, for I want to let this girl, Smith, have the longest rope a man ever played with, but he'd be very likely to find a knife in his short ribs. Smith's a very bad actor. Inside of 24 hours I'll have a couple of operatives down here who will engage to see that the gifted Mr. Smith doesn't make another unwatched move from now till he lands in a dungeon cell, whether that desired goal be two days or two years away. But until then we'd better fix up some scheme to chase the Dicky-bird to the city for a couple of days. If Smith can find time off from the errand that brought him down here, he'll try to get Dicky, as he no doubt recognized the car and you can find out easily where you are."

A Silly Song

By A CUCKOO BIRD. The farmer lives by honest toil and wrings his living from the soil, and feeds his pigs and chickens from sun to sun; most every day at plowing corn or making hay, he works to beat the dickens. I know some high falutin' gents, who say he looks like thirty cents, and point at him and snicker. He pays his debts and taxes though, and when the nation needs some dough there's no one digs up quicker. He does not try to imitate like some guys do, a fashion plate. In overalls he labors, and deems them good enough to wear whenever he goes anywhere to mingle with his neighbors. He toils to raise his wheat and corn and all the fools who look with scorn upon his occupation, would find, if he should cease to plow, and feed his pig and jersey cow, they soon would face starvation.

Common Sense. By J. J. MUNDTY. Are You Watching What Your Child Reads? You are worried over the class of books your children read. You have no way of finding out how they come to get hold of such literature, unless you ask outright, and you have preferred not to ask. You know that your children think you are unaware of the fact that they are devouring immoral and trashy novels.

Parents' Problems. How can children best be taught to "play fair" in games? Education in good sport consists in putting only the proper emphasis on the wish to win—in life or in play. We must encourage not pity the child in defeat and applaud him only when he wins fairly. The very best thing we can teach him is to enjoy not what he gets out of work or play, but what he gets in them. No one likes to lose, yet it is as important to be a cheerful loser as a humble victor. Victory isn't the only fun in the game.

We must encourage not pity the child in defeat and applaud him only when he wins fairly. The very best thing we can teach him is to enjoy not what he gets out of work or play, but what he gets in them. No one likes to lose, yet it is as important to be a cheerful loser as a humble victor. Victory isn't the only fun in the game.

Common Sense. By J. J. MUNDTY. Are You Watching What Your Child Reads? You are worried over the class of books your children read. You have no way of finding out how they come to get hold of such literature, unless you ask outright, and you have preferred not to ask. You know that your children think you are unaware of the fact that they are devouring immoral and trashy novels.

Parents' Problems. How can children best be taught to "play fair" in games? Education in good sport consists in putting only the proper emphasis on the wish to win—in life or in play.
