

Butler Petition for Governor Is Filed at Lincoln

Democrats Oppose Straddle of Norton With Third Party—Taylor Invited to Join Republicans.

Lincoln, April 13.—(Special)—A petition filed by numerous Lincoln democrats today asking Dan Butler of Omaha to run as a democratic candidate for governor was looked upon here as a registration of the same desire as certain democrats toward J. N. Norton's political bigamy as was registered yesterday by W. J. Taylor, a member of the third party, who refused to countenance the fence straddling candidacy of Norton.

Some of the same democrats who filed the Butler petition affixed their signatures to petitions calling for Norton's candidacy early in the campaign when it was presumed he would be an out-and-out democrat and not half third party man and half democrat.

The Taylor letter branding the fusion effort of third party leaders as political treachery and his demand that J. H. Edmisten, third party chairman, resign caused only a temporary flurry in political circles here, principally because Edmisten refused to take Taylor seriously. W. L. Gaston, assistant secretary of state, issued an open letter to Taylor today asking him to join the republican ranks, where Gaston assured him his wounded feelings would be cured.

"I have known you for a dozen years and was your next door neighbor up in Custer county for three years," Gaston wrote, "and am certain you are frank, honest, open, above board, square and straight as a string."

"You should want to be with people of your own kind so come with us. You have been a 'pop,' every kind of a democrat, one-half dozen kinds of a progressive and haven't got along with any of them. Now put a blossom in your life by voting the republican ticket."

Alleged Thief Fined $25
Despite Word to Reform

Loring T. Mitchell, clerk, 3827 North Eighteenth street, "who always means to do better," was fined $25 by Judge Foster in Central police court yesterday morning.

Mitchell recently was brought back from Canada on complaint of his wife, who charged nonsupport. Her pleas won his freedom.

Detectives discovered Wednesday that Mitchell stole a camera, a revolver and a special lens from A. F. Kellstrom, same address, and was trying to trade them in to get his clothes out of pawn.

"I'll do better if you give me another chance," Mitchell pleaded, but the court did not believe him.

Dick Kitchen Freed on Bond After Fight

RICHARD KITCHEN

Richard Kitchen, owner of the Paxton hotel, jailed Wednesday night under the name of "John Williams, hotel clerk, Sioux City, Ia.," was released yesterday morning under a $50 bond.

A fight with his brother-in-law, Harry Cronin, Union Pacific electrician, the night of the arrest, is said to have been the cause of several cuts about his face and discolored eyes.

Detectives Danbaum and Palmtag, summoned to the hotel, succeeded in separating the two men and persuading Kitchen to leave. A few minutes later the detectives were called to the Central garage, where they again found Kitchen. This time they took him to jail.

Dance in Bathing Costumes at Miami, Omahan Asserts

Hotel Man Tells Triangle Club Rules There Are Less Strict Than at Palm Beach.

Rules of conduct are more strict at Palm Beach than at Miami, Fla., according to E. C. Eppley, proprietor of Hotel Fontenelle, who delivered an interesting travelogue to members of the Triangle club yesterday.

Harry S. Byrne, president of this new luncheon club, presided and introduced the speaker, who related recent experiences of an outing from Chicago to Havana and the Bahamas.

"At Palm Beach we observed that bathers must observe certain rules as to apparel, while at Miami, they even dance in bathing suits," Mr. Eppley said.

"While at Miami," said Mr. Eppley, "we were attracted by a sign which read 'City of Miami, fare to Havana, $20 and all you can eat.' We went on the City of Miami and it was not long until we understood why the sign was so liberal in its reference to the 'eat.' The boat tossed us so that we didn't want anything to eat."

The Greatest Strike In History

As spring comes slowly up the way, over half a million men, accustomed to spend their days mining coal far underground, are out in the sunshine in their little gardens with their children digging up the soil and planting vegetables, while seedsmen in coal towns report a record business. Coal operators, as their mines are not working, have gone to join their families and play golf at Pinehurst or Hot Springs. Government officials blandly tell us that there is nothing in the coal strike situation to call for Federal intervention, the Secretary of the Treasury perceiving no harm to business in the first weeks.

But, perhaps, the great consuming public must be alarmed, anxious, frantic, in the face of the greatest strike in history, with all the anthracite and most of the soft coal mines shut down, with 600,000 striking miners added to the ranks of the unemployed. Quite the contrary, for, to judge from editorial comment, the public views the coal strike calmly. As one writer puts it, "the public sits as a bored spectator until its bins are empty or its pockets."

It is to be remembered that the strike which began on April 1st is a double-header. Anthracite and soft coal miners are striking together for strategic reasons, but with different ends in view and under different circumstances. The hard coal miners call for a 20 per cent wage increase and their representatives are now in conference with the anthracite operators. The soft coal miners call for the retention of their present wages in the face of the operators' demand for reduction; but the bituminous operators have been unwilling to meet the representatives of the workers in a joint conference to decide on a basic wage-scale. When the strike was called on April 1st some 560,000 union workers, more than 400,000 in the soft coal fields, and an undetermined number of non-union men responded.

For all the particulars—the underlying causes, the situation as it now stands, and the prospects for settlement of this great industrial upheaval—you should read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, April 15th. It presents the strike from all angles. Other leading news-articles in this number of THE DIGEST are:
