"Just Keeping Date With Friend to Go Riding in His Uncle's Car," Explains Maid.

Lincoln, April 15.—While State Sheriff Gus Hyers and Mrs. Hyers were attending the commencement exercises of the University School of Agriculture last night, the motor car in which the veteran sleuth has pursued and captured many cars destined for parts unknown, was stolen and for two hours unaccounted for.

Two youths and a girl are being held, one of the former alleged to be a student of the school of agriculture, and the latter, according to her story, a domestic in a Lincoln home and a resident of College View, a suburb.

According to the police, the girl, abandoned when the sheriff's car was forced into a curbing by a citizen who recognized the car and gave chase, said she did not know the car was stolen, "but was merely keeping a date to go riding with a friend who said he would have his uncle's car until 9:30 a. m."

Upon her information one of the youths was arrested at his home early today, while the other gave himself up shortly after.

Both admitted having the car, according to the police.

Dubuque Millionaire Family Accused of Biggest Swindle on Record—Withheld $237,996. Charge.

The biggest income tax fraud on record is alleged to have been uncovered by the local office of the internal revenue department, on the heels of the arrest Friday of Austin A. William F. and Kathryn Cooper, millionaires of Dubuque, Ia., on charges of falsifying returns to the government, withholding $237,996.03. J. J. Drakeford, revenue agent in charge of Iowa and Nebraska, with headquarters here; J. H. Sherlock, C. F. Riley and A. J. Nelson are the quartet credited with the discovery.

"We worked a whole year collecting our evidence," said Sherlock. Nine indictments were returned against the wealthy trio by the federal grand jury of northern Iowa on April 5, but it was kept a secret until Friday.

"Willfully evading the income tax law," "making inadequate returns for three years," and "perjury" are the counts. The three face penalties of 15 years in prison and $100,000 fines, besides payment of a 50 per cent penalty of the amount due, $118,998.01.

Trial Date Set.

Two Fined for Beating Given 1-Day Husband

Brother and Friend of Musician Bride, 16, Accused of Pummeling Mate Sued for Annulment.

It cost a brother and his friend $5 each in Central police court yesterday for the beating they administered the one-day bridegroom of Dorothy Chenoweth, 16, harpist and accomplished musician.

The brother was Arthur G. Chenoweth, 2245 North Nineteenth street, and his friend, Robert E. Raymon, a cabinet maker; their victim, Willard F. Lowden, 2012 North Eighteenth street.

Lowden and the Chenoweth girl were married in Council Bluffs March 6. Her parents objected and she repented the next day. Her father is suing for annulment.

Waylay Bridegroom.
The brother and his friend waylaid the bridegroom at Thirtieth and Madison streets Friday afternoon and beat him up, Judge Foster ruled after hearing the testimony.

Lowden appeared in court, battered and bruised.

Thrice he was rebuked by City Prosecutor Dineen: Once for picking his teeth in court, once for making a plaything of his hat as he nervously twisted it in his hands, and once for turning his back to the judge.

But he was dismissed when he denied annoying his girl bride.

"Still Loves Me."
"Why she still loves me," he told the court. "She'd come back to me if her father, whom she fears, did not exert such an influence over her."

"She's going to talk to my attorney about that annulment suit. I have until Monday to file an answer."

Chenoweth told of a crowd of 75 spectators cheering him and his side as they pounded the bridegroom.

Head of Farm Council Attacks New Tariff Bill

Washington, April 15.—Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the Farmers' National Council, declared that the tariff bill represented by the senate finance committee was "the worst of the many gold bricks handed farmers by the present administration."

"The whole scheme of the tariff bill as reported to the senate," he added, "is evidently to permit highly protected manufacturers to continue the same profiteering which they carried on during the war. Whatever the text of the tariff bill, it is clear that the duties levied on manufactured products are on the American basis cost of production, while those levied on agricultural products are on the basis of foreign cost of production."

It is planned to release all of the Arbuckle films that were completed at the time he met with his difficulties here, it was learned. Arbuckle has no immediate plans.
