Leading Racing Jockeys

From left to right you observe Jockeys Lang, Morris and Thomas, who may have caused you a lot of grief. They're the leading jockeys of the present racing season. Get acquainted with any of them, and perhaps you'll get some real "inside" tips on whether "Jo-Jo" or "Bozo" will win the fifth race tomorrow.

Baseball Head Won't Relent If Swat King's Absence Wrecks League

By FRANK G. MENKE. Copyright, 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Perhaps the most assuring thing attempted in recent years is chargeable to baseball enthusiasts in New York.

They've concocted a petition to Kenesaw M. Landis asking him to reinstate Babe Ruth. They might just as well stand upon the brink of Niagara Falls and yell to the water to run backward.

Landis suspended Ruth until May 20th—and he stays suspended until May 20th. The very action in getting together such a petition is an insult to Landis.

What a fine sort of codfish Landis would turn out to be if he relented in the Ruth case—if he commuted sentence even by a day.

He ruled that Ruth couldn't play the American league circuit until May 20th—and Ruth won't. It's true that the absence of Ruth from the Yankee lineup will be not merely a financial loss to that club, but to the American league as a whole.

Golf Facts Worth Knowing

Q. Is a player allowed to ground a club on a green if it is covered with grass? A. Yes, unless the green is marked by the club. It is the duty of the green committee to mark the green.

SAYS "BUGS" BAER

Dear Cool—Is it true that Gink Fowler is a laundry man and his right name is Fow Gink? Did he ever umpire in the All-Iowa league? Does he umpire right or left handed? Does he lean forward or backward when umpiring behind the plate? Does he know when deciding close plays? Why did he wear his shin guards on his ears?

Yours not so truly, BILLY FOX, Omaha.

When the Glutt heard that Gink had landed a soft berth in a train wreck, he immediately started pulling all the wires in the place.

His first guess was wrong sometimes. So was his second. He startled the world when he parlayed a cat and a mouse and burned up his jack.

Gink was 50 decisions behind in his umpiring, so he started judging by citing plays in the Smithsonian institute.
